Weighted down by B. A.'s and M. D.'s,
Collapsed from the strain,
Said her doctor, "Tis plain
You are killing yourself by degrees!"

THE CHORE-STER.

There flashes
O'er him thought of furnace fires

AMHERST TURNS OUT E MASSE FOR MEETING

AMHERST, N. S., Sept. 11.—It is not an exaggeration to state that the political meeting held in the Winter Fair building this evening was the largest of its kind ever held in Amherst. The speakers advertised to take part were Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Wm. Patterson, Charles Macle, M. P., and J. Layton. The Liberal candidate, Long before the time for opening, every vacant seat was taken and the evening train brought hundreds of voters from all parts of the country to hear these chieftains of the Liberal party give an account of their stewardship. The place was beautifully decorated with bunting, flags and portraits of well known Liberal leaders, conspicuous among them being those of Joseph Howe and Hon. W. S. Fielding, who were regarded as Nova Scotia's best loved tribunes.

Logan Takes Chair

The chair was taken by H. J. Logan, M. P., promptly at 8 o'clock. Mr. Logan, in a brief address, expressed regret that circumstances had compelled him to retire from active politics, but that in Mr. Ralston the Liberal party had a candidate who could give them more faithful service than himself. He asked for the voters of Cumberland to rally to the support of Mr. Ralston and elect him their representative of Cumberland to the House of Commons.

Mr. Ralston was received with a tremendous outburst of applause, and it was some time before he could be heard. Owing to the number of speakers to follow he curtailed his remarks, but his fifteen minutes' address was full of fire and enthusiasm, and again he called forth the cheers of his audience. He alluded to the fact that he was only at the last election that he had cast his first vote, and when they had called him to be a candidate of the great Liberal party in Cumberland he had as a lawyer looked carefully into the records of both parties and he was prepared to say that the record of the Liberal party was unbeatable and should appeal to every young voter in Cumberland.

Fielding Next Speaker

Hon. Mr. Fielding was the next speaker. He was suffering from hoarseness and did not speak so long as at the other meetings held in other towns. He paid a eulogy to the great work done by Mr. Logan in parliament and regretted his enforced retirement. In Mr. Ralston the Liberals of Cumberland had found a worthy successor. He was a young man of brilliant promise and his name would soon be a familiar one throughout Canada. He did not claim that the Liberal government had given anything to the people, but he said that the Conservative government during those twelve years no charge had been made against any of its members of crown by any political opponent. Canada was spending one hundred million dollars yearly, and thousands of men were employed in the service of the country. It was at strange that an official in one place might pay fifty cents more for a barrel of flour than some other official at some other point. This was about what the great charges amounted to. Mr. Fielding devoted some time to trace the growth and development of the Canadian west during the past twelve years, and closed with a strong appeal for the citizens of Cumberland to rally to the support of Ralston.

MARCEL WELL LIKED.

Chas. Marcel, M. P., completely captured the hearts of his audience as he in ringing tones traced the growth of Canada since confederation, comparing the records of the two governments. The province of Quebec was to stand by Laurier, they knew the man, they believed in his honesty and patriotism and it was a Conservative who got elected to that province it would be by acclamation. Mr. Marcel paid a fine tribute to Mr. Fielding, discussing him as Sir Wilfrid Laurier's right hand man. Conservatives had preached loyalty for many years, but Mr. Fielding by one legislative act had done more to cement the ties of Great Britain and Canada than all the Tories had done and would do in one hundred years. The government was going back to power, and he urged the voters to support Mr. Ralston, as it would be in their interest and to the advantage of Canada. He relied on the intelligence of people of Nova Scotia not to give their support to the comedians that now formed Conservative opposition. Hon. Mr. Patterson was the last speaker. He dealt closely with trade matters. He showed the falsity of the Protectionist cry that the extra revenue was being drawn from the pockets of the people. The average duty was three dollars less on the one hundred than under Conservative rule. In 1896 the revenue of the post office was three million dollars; two years later it was six millions. The increase was brought about by a reduction in the postal rates, not an increase. People wrote more letters, did more business. The government did not compel them to write the letters. The same truth applied to the tariff. The government was spending more money than the Conservatives. He was not going to apologize for it. They

POLICE NOW ON LOOKOUT FOR STEWART

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of D. M. Stewart, former general manager of the defunct Sovereign Bank. The charge against Stewart was laid by an official of the finance department, Ottawa, for rendering false statements of the bank's affairs to the government. The statement is made that this was done through the connection of the Sovereign with the Dredger Bank of Germany. Stewart, when making his returns, was drawing for a considerable sum each month on the Dredger Bank and including the draft in the assets of the institution. Then the draft was cancelled until it reappeared at the time of the next statement. Stewart is absent from the city and so far officers have been unable to locate him. It is supposed in some quarters that he is in New York. He was at Quebec at the time of the thirtieth anniversary of the regiment, the 11th Scottish Light Dragoons, the regiment over which the Dundonald incident occurred. He came back to Montreal in advance of the regiment and immediately left again. He closed up his business. It is expected the Dominion police will endeavor to locate him.

AMUSEMENTS.

LAST TIME FOR ROMEO AND JULIET TODAY.

It was the same old S. R. O. crowd at the Happy Half Hour again last night. Miss Holmes sang Toyland, from the musical comedy, Babes in Toyland, and Mr. Buchanan, by request, sang Killarney. Of course they both received encores. More were present last night who had already seen Romeo and Juliet, but wanted to see it again. The new pictures were as promised, de-

The Conservatives did not spend it before spending it because they had it. They did not have it to spend. The money was not obtained by borrowing in the money markets or increasing the taxation, but because the country had prospered and more goods had been bought. Mr. Patterson closed his address with an eloquent appeal for the people of Amherst to endorse the record of the government. God Save the King and cheers for the speakers brought the meeting to a close.

lightful. Venice and the Lagoon shows all of the beauty spots of this beautiful city. A New Way to Pay Rent is good for laughing purposes. Industrial Sicily shows the principal industries of the country, including fishing and coal and sulfur mines, which are the largest in the world. Prof. Titus sings Dream of Me and I'll Dream of You, making an hour's show. Positively the last chance to see Romeo and Juliet today. Let the children see it. Read the Happy Half Hour ad. in this paper. It's interesting.

AT THE PRINCESSES.

The extra large programmes of moving pictures shown at the Princess Theatre yesterday proved a decided hit with the hundreds of people who attended and the programme will be repeated today. This afternoon there will be a special matinee for the ladies and children. The picture entitled Human Vultures proved to be all that was said about it. The scenes of wreck and disaster, with loss of life as shown along the rocky coast of Brittany, was indeed thrilling. It plainly showed the manner in which the land sharks deceived ships to disaster for the mere chance of stealing their cargoes. Another beautiful dramatic picture that is full of dramatic scenes is that entitled Broken Hearts. It tells a pretty story of a country boy's infatuation with a city girl and their final separation, which results in his death from drowning. It is a very long film and the eight or ten different scenes are remarkably well enacted.

A Policeman on Duty is a picture that tells the story of a police officer's life on duty and it is a most interesting study. Selky, the great lady magician, is seen to great advantage in new acts of magic, and Harry Newcombe, the popular ballroom dancer, has a very pretty new illustrated song.

NICKEL'S BIG SHOW TODAY.

This is the children's gay day again—a Saturday afternoon at the storehouse of good pictures and pure wholesome fun, the Nickel. And truly the little ones will enjoy the bill that has been prepared for them. The talking picture play will be the very laughable sketch, "Ants in Love and War," that has been creating so much merriment of late and there are four excellent new pictures as well. Miss Felix will sing, also Mr. Weston, a whole hour of entertainment. On Monday the stirring labor melodrama, "A Hero in Overalls," will be the Human Comedy new act and its startling realism is sure to make a profound impression. Exhibition visitors will miss one of the best features of the week to omit visiting the Nickel.

Despite the many attractions last night the Bijou had a large and appreciative audience to witness, as all proclaimed, the best lot of pictures yet shown. In the picture called "The Tale the Autumn Leaves Told," drama out of the ordinary was a producer and in style of finish and acting is one without equal. The plot is laid among beautiful scenery and as each picture is shown on the curtain it is surrounded with a leaf border. Something entirely new and very striking. In "The Professor's Discovery" is shown the professor, who is a chemist, at work in his laboratory. He compounds a preparation which, much to his own surprise, upon smelling causes him to dance. He goes out on the street, giving everyone he meets a mad, until finally he has a whole army dancing. It's a great fun producer, as is likewise "Ants in Love and War," which, as the name implies, removes the hair, but in every case, with one exception in this picture, of people who don't want to lose their hair. "Till Dance the Cakes Walk" makes a fitting finale to a programme of much hilarity and one thoroughly enjoyable from start to finish. Miss Smith, the Bijou's soprano, is winning new friends each day, and in her song, "When You Know You're Not Forgotten," the same song she sings today, fairly took the house by storm.

MYSTERIOUS MR. DIXIE.

The mysterious Mr. Dixie will be present at the matinee at the Opera House this afternoon. The bill will be The Girl I Left Behind me. Many women and children have manifested much interest in today's performance. All are desirous of studying the mysterious gentleman at close range. The door will open at one-thirty and the rush for seats will no doubt be exciting. Many are in hopes of winning the prize that is offered.

MISS MAE POWER IN A NEW SONG "AT THE UNIQUE TODAY."

Those who visit the Unique Theatre today will hear one of the best songs we have yet been able to procure, "The Town Where I Was Born." This song will be rendered by Miss Power and this fact alone makes it well worth hearing. The pictures are equal to any ever shown in this city. The leader is called "Captain Molly," and is a true story of military life. This picture is especially interesting and holds the attention of the spectators throughout. "Parley Vous Francis." This is an excellent comedy, the experience of a stranger in a strange land. Dr. Cure's Fancies is another good comedy. A doctor's servant attempts to treat the patients in his master's absence. His experiences are very amusing. The other picture is called "Turning the Tables," an excellent trick film. This picture is really wonderful. Miss A. Bird is singing "The Saucy Little Bird On Nellie's Hat."

ST. JOHN PLACES OF AMUSEMENT.

Farewell Performances at Opera House.

The Selman Stock Company will tonight give the farewell performance. All the comforts of home will be the play. This was presented Labor Day matinee and was a success. All the favorites have congenial roles. Mr. Selman is very amusing in his role of "Bender." Miss French is a dainty bit. Robert Robson gives another of his famous creations. At the matinee a bill that always appeals to women and children—the military drama, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," will be played.

PASSION FLOWER FRUIT.

Few people probably are aware that there is a variety of the passion flower which bears a luscious fruit about the size and color of a purple plum. The botanical name of the variety is Passiflora edulis.

Two Polish Bridegrooms Get Licenses
After Long Journey.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—It was Cupid's busy day among the Polish residents of the city yesterday, and four pairs appeared at the Marriage License Bureau for the required documents that lead the way to wedding.

These pairs were Jan Rudnick and Miss Katarzyna Mulikowicz, of 2336 Callowhill street; Lawrence Kholm and Miss Anna Statkuniczak, of 233 North Bernarda street; John Guokas and Miss Bernadeta Stefanowicz, of 3221 Wood street; and Lucyan Maciazar and Miss Katarzyna Kuznick, of 2214 Hamilton street.

Both Rudnick and Guokas crossed the sea to claim their brides, and both will be married at the week-end. They had wooed the young women in their native countries, and the spark did not die even when the ocean intervened. Great festivities will follow the wedding ceremonies, for in each instance friends are planning receptions for the young pairs.

Nathan Megalensky came from Stockton, Cal., to marry Miss Sara Welsberg, of 505 Lombard street.

WOMAN ARRESTED AS
"BLACK HAND" WRITER

Miner's Wife Captured After Gun Fight With Five Officers.

BESSEMER, Mich., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Frank Gallor, who it is alleged, as a feminine "black hand," has for several weeks been terrorizing business men, was captured here today after a gun fight with officers. She is the wife of a miner. Five policemen were lying in wait near a box where money was to be collected. The woman cautiously crept along the road, grabbed the box and ran. Upon being pursued by the officers she whipped out a gun and began a fusillade. The fire was promptly returned until officers who were stationed at a turn in the road grabbed the woman.

The woman's husband, Frank Gallor, has also been jailed.

A CRIME THAT IS NOT PUNISHABLE.

Now many people reading this article have gone into a drug store and asked for some well known and highly trusted medicine and some unscrupulous druggist has said, "Yes I will have that. I have you ever tried this remedy, it is just as good and costs less." Any drug doing this has not the interest of your health at heart, but the interest of his pocket, as he can make more profit out of the cheap substitute.

Miss Lettie Reid, Virvan, Ont., writes: "Last year I suffered untold agony from cramps in the stomach and did not know what to do until a friend suggested I should try Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT. With STRAWBERRY and as I was glad to try anything I purchased a bottle. "When I had taken four doses I found relief and since then I never fail to keep a bottle in the house."
