Common Council Met in Committee

Decided Yesterday to Pave Germain Street With Asphalt from King to Union at Estimated Cost of $9,492.

At a meeting yesterday morning the Common Council decided to pave Germain street with asphalt from King to Union street at an estimated cost of $9,492.

A feature of the proceedings was an announcement by Mayor Hayes that in view of the vacillating methods of the commission form of government in regard to a policy for street paving, he had become converted to the idea of a return to the aldermanic system, under which a director of public works would probably get better results.

It was recommended to Council that let 462, Brooks ward, be sold to G. G. Hare for $450.

An offer of $500 was received from the St. John Real Estate Company for a lot at the southwest corner of Pitt and Princess streets, now held under a rental of $20 per year. On motion the offer was accepted.

On motion of Commissioner Jones, authority was granted for the sale to Clark Bros., Ltd., Bear River, of the brick and masonry at Mispic, with the exception of the turbines and pipe stock, for $1,800, the material to be removed within one year and payment to be made by deposit of $500 and the remainder within three months of date of signing of contract.

Commissioner Jones advised that the city had already taken out of the Mispic property, for use in building sewers, bricks valued at $400 and lumber valued at $1,690.

Speaking of local improvement, the Mayor said Halifax, a city as old as St. John, had adopted the principle of having the abutters pay half the cost of paving. In Toronto the abutters pay half the cost of street and sidewalk improvement. Toronto provides only for the street intersections by general assessment. St. John should not be so far behind the times as to stick to the old form of paving by general assessment. General assessments, he said, was unfair to workingmen and to poor people. Automobiles and merchants who will reap a direct benefit from paving by general assessment, are pressing for street improvement. He had been told by a resident of 100 years ago that although he would vote against local improvement in order to "protect his pocket," he believed the abutter should pay.

The Mayor said he would be glad to be a party to preparing for an expenditure of $1,000,000 for streets here. To pave important streets under general assessment and let the poorer sections go, is very much like class legislation.

In regard to Prince William street, Commissioner Fisher said it could not be done this year.

"If St. John took up an expenditure of $1,000,000 for paving, how much could be done this year?" the Mayor asked.

Commissioner Fisher replied that probably $200,000 worth of work could be done before the cold weather set in.

The Mayor asked if Council would consider drawing up a programme involving the expenditure over a period of four years of $1,000,000 for paving to be spent under local improvement.

Commissioner Fisher said he believed that the will of the people is against paving by general assessment.

Commissioner Bullock said he would support the proposal to pave Germain street by general assessment. He could not see why people living on St. Patrick or Erin streets should have to pay for paving Germain street; but Germain street and other abutters had and the work must go on. Speaking of the petitions about which they often sign petitions about which they sign very little. He had signed a petition recently to get man out of the penitentiary. He had been asked by the judge why he had done so. He was unable to say. He did not even know the prisoner's name.

Commissioner Thornton said he was glad to learn that Commissioner Bullock had changed his mind. If he had done so earlier more work might have been done this year.

Commissioner Thornton said it is the working people who are opposed to local improvement.

THE POLICE COURT.

Mrs. Rita Shaffner and Mrs. Nellie McNeill were before the court yesterday morning, charged with neglecting their children by leaving them unattended at 91 Hilyard street on Sunday evening. Sergeant Jett was told of going to the house and finding the children, one five months old and the other five years, alone.

The younger child was suffering from a skin disease. Both women were committed to jail and the case will be continued today. Thomas Wheeler and James Bradley, charged with acting in a suspicious manner, were remanded. Roscianno Edwards of Makta was charged with drunkenness. He accused Raymond Simons, an Australian, with selling him the liquor. Both cases were set over for further evidence.

The Public Health And The Problem of Diphtheria

The Changes That the Diphtheria Germ Produces on the Mucous Lining of the Nose, Throat and Larynx.

(Continuation of last week's article in these columns.)

The changes that the diphtheria germ produces on the mucous lining of the nose, throat and larynx consist of a rule of redness, swelling and in the majority of cases of the formation of a thick grayish white membrane which is quite adherent to the mucous lining. This membrane may form on one or both tonsils; on the soft palate and adjacent lining of the throat. It may spread upwards to the nose and the result is nasal diphtheria. It may spread downwards to the larynx and produce what is commonly known as diphtheritic croup. The formation of this thick membrane in the larynx produces an obstruction to the passage of air to and from the lungs. It is due to the difficulty of obtaining air that children with "croup" become blue and this also is the cause of the retraction or bending backward of the sternum and ribs in front. The presence of the membrane in the larynx produces the cough so characteristic of "croup." This condition in the larynx is generally the result of a pre-existing diphtheritic inflammation of the tonsils or mucous lining of nose and pharynx.

The inflammation in the larynx may extend further down into the trachea or windpipe and may later involve the lungs.

The above described changes in the mucous linings of the throat and air passages are what the physician generally finds in diphtheria and has learned to recognize at a glance as diphtheria.

However, diphtheria may produce such mild changes on these mucous linings that the most expert of physicians will be puzzled as to whether or not these changes are due to the action of the diphtheria germ.

Modern scientific laboratory methods however have come forward to aid the physician in determining whether or not the diphtheria germ is the cause of so-called tonsillitis or a mild sore throat. The diphtheria germ may only produce
