

United States and Canadian Coasting Laws.

private letter received from Mr. Bayard, in regard to the establishment of a reciprocal arrangement for rendering aid to vessels wrecked in the waters lying between the United States and Canada.

The minister of customs, to whom the despatch and inclosure were referred, reports that no refusal has ever been made on the part of the government of Canada to applications made by the United States vessels for permission to assist in the saving of lives of United States subjects when in danger in Canadian waters.

The minister also observes that authority has always been readily granted, on application to the minister of customs, when United States vessels and cargoes have been in imminent peril in Canadian waters, to use the services of United States tugs when no Canadian tugs were immediately available to render service.

The Dominion government is now ready, and has been at all previous times ready to enter into reciprocal arrangements with the government of the United States for the coasting trade in the respective waters of the United States and Canada which would also include the wrecking privileges and towing business of each of these countries.

The minister observes further that the recent action of the House of Commons of Canada in rejecting a bill brought before it during the present session, with a view of establishing reciprocity in wrecking and towing between Canada and the United States, supports the position hitherto maintained by the government in declining to entertain the proposition for a measure of reciprocity in coasting and wrecking but partial in its character.

The committee concurring in the above report, advise that Your Excellency be moved to forward a copy of this minute to Her Majesty's minister at Washington.

All which is respectfully submitted for Your Excellency's approval.

JOHN J. MCGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.
