moment was rescued by Thos. Cochran. Capt. Campbell saved Miss McGill and Harry O'Brien, who found three domestics in their night dresses suffocating as they clung to each other in a corner, helped them down the fire escape.

Thomas O'Brien carried out a little girl, while some of the saved ones got a ladder to the window, and Prof. MacDonald, wife and two children were taken out in their night robes. Wm. Hickey, porter, jumped from the roof. A night watchman was alarming the people, lost his way and escaped by the skin of his teeth. C. Bryan, agent for Mr. Davies' Manufacturing Co., Montreal, got out safely, losing his money, samples, tickets, etc. He had his room but he left his watch in the room, and he afterwards recovered and returned to him. J. H. Stackhouse, of Ottawa, saved a few garments, and as he rushed out a woman pounced on his back and he carried her half dead to the fresh air. He saved two other human beings from a terrible fate. The firemen, who worked well, prevented the conflagration from spreading, but they were assisted by providential shower of rain which poured down and drenched the roofs of the adjoining buildings. The fire was the worst here for years, but happily no lives were lost.

It is reported at Cairo, that after the steamer on which were Colonel Stewart and his men, stranded, three natives came on board and started to Stewart that they were only a short distance from Meramee, which he could easily reach on foot, and where he could obtain assistance to float the steamer. They offered to guide them there. Six and two companions started, and when out of sight of the steamer a number of men sprang from ambush and murdered the party. They afterward attacked those remaining on the steamer, killing all except four.

The Mutinies of Dongola has received confirmation of the report that a steamer from Khartoum was wrecked after leaving Abu Hamed. All on board landed to try to hire camels. They gave the natives presents, and the natives invited them to their dwellings where they massacred them. It is unknown whether any Europeans were among the victims.

Massowah advises state Gen. Gordon is at Sennar fighting the rebels and collecting taxes. Bands of outlaws are plundering country and people. King John of Abyssinia is driving troups and demands that Saubert be given up to him.

Sheikhs of tribes between Khartoum and Shendi have arrived at Ambukol and tendered their submission to the Egyptian Government.

Instructions have been forwarded Gen. Wolsley to have the Government intelligence bureau in Egypt to strictly supervise all telegraphic dispatches of correspondents of newspapers. The General has full powers of censorship.

British officers Wilson and Colville have sailed from Dongola with a detachment of the Sussex Regiment for Merawi to investigate the reported murder of Stewart by Arabs.

Gen. Wolsley complains to the British war office that his advance has been paralyzed through the failure of the commissioned and transport service. He says the railway to the first carstack is broken down, the stores at Wady Halfa are inadequate, the camel corps were without camels, and the equipments of corps in rotten condition.

IRELAND. George Errington, member for Longford, Ireland, who has hitherto held office from the Home Rulers, will join the Parnellites the coming session of Parliament.

United Ireland, in an editorial reviewing the administration of Earl Spencer, says that if Queen Victoria had committed Earl Spencer's crimes against liberty her crown would have fallen into a basket. It urges patriotic Irish Americans to come over and stump Ireland in the interest of the national party at the coming general elections for members of parliament.

The London Standard publishes the draft of the Government's proposed Redistribution Scheme. The representation of England in parliament is increased to 110, and Scotland to 10. The representation remains unchanged as to number, but Tralee, Clonmel, Dungarvan, Carlow, Athlone, Coleraine, Newry, Ennis, Kinsale, Brandon, Leithgal, Enniskillen, Mallow, Dungannon, Downpatrick and Port Arthur are disfranchised. The publication creates great sensation.

A number of labor delegates at Cork to-day inaugurated a South of Ireland Labor League, which will be devoted exclusively to interests of laborers. Henry Villiers Stuart, member of Parliament for Waterford, was elected president. The members were pledged to support only candidates favoring the Franchise Bill, which they believe will tend to remove the grievances of laborers, and to abstain from outrages.

FRANCE. A bomb was exploded under the windows of the police barracks at Lyons, France, at an early hour this morning. The building was badly damaged, but the inmates escaped without injury.

The Republic of France publishes an amicable article upon the English Government, expressing the hope that England will adopt such a policy as will tend to establish an entente cordiale between the two countries.

French cruisers have stopped and boarded English merchant steamers plying between Amoy and Formosa.

M. Ferry, in the course of a political conversation, said the coming session of the French Chambers would be a brisk one, and there would be much defensive legislation. He said the Ministry are opposed to severe party discipline. He denied France was prepared to make arrows of every sort of wood to fire at England unless she gave France satisfaction in Egypt. He declared he had no exact understanding with Bismarck, but if he could turn an enemy into an ally, even at the cost of the heavy sacrifice of amour propre, he would do so.

UNITED STATES. Doe Han, Pa., Catholic church was entered by unknown persons last night, who ruined the organ, destroyed a picture of the Virgin, carried off altar vessels, damaged pews, split heaters, damped floor and walls, and smashed memorial windows.

A girl employed in a cartridge factory at Lowell, Mass., on Thursday last threw a bullet at Mary Hiederman, aged 16, to wake her from sleep. The missile lodged in the girl's ear and could not be removed, and she died in great agony.

Samuel Fries, aged 58, of Steinsville, Lehigh county, Penn., twenty-four years ago vowed he would never shave until a Democratic President was inaugurated. His beard is over six feet long and sweeps the ground. He said he had his razor ready when Tilden was declared elected, but he was not inaugurated, and there was no shave. Fries is very strong and robust and carries his beard plaited and rolled up.

Advices from Chicago state that a storm on the 8th blew away a shanty into the lake, in which sixteen laborers employed in Hyde Park Tunnel were lodged. The men were left clinging to stringers or beams in a perilous position. One man came to the surface on the morning. It is feared the others were drowned. Life savers have gone to the rescue. Later—the Maantraena confessions, and for the manner in which the trial of the Dublin scandal cases was conducted.

EGYPT. The Canadian contingent has reached Assiout and will go to the front forthwith.

A life-saving crew has rescued four persons from a pier in the lake. Ten were drowned. The storm was one of great fury. It blew up suddenly, and the work of destroying the temporary structure was quick and complete. The men had no means of escape beyond one, a small boat, which probably went adrift. A number of the unfortunate men were carried into the lake with the wreckage, and were compelled to battle for their lives with floating timber in the blackness of the night.

CANADIAN. The Canadian Pacific Railway will, next spring, extend their system from Ingersoll to Windsor, via London.

Mr. Lambert, of Ottawa, who was appointed by Lord Lansdowne to secure eight captives of steamship companies of light draught to go to the Nile in connection with the Gordon relief expedition, has succeeded in doing so. They will receive $150 per month, and will leave Quebec for Alexandria on Saturday night.

Mr. W. T. Lett, received last week a letter from the Marquis of Lorne, stating that he would have much pleasure in assisting to procure from the Royal Humane Society a medal for Miss O'Neill, of Kettle Island, whose many acts of bravery have earned for her the name of the "Greece Darling of the Ottawa." Not only many acts of true courage entitle her to this honor.

A frightful accident is reported from St. Felix, Que. The wife of a farmer named Henri Marion was assisting her husband to load grain on a cart, and was packing leaves, which her husband threw up her at the time. When the load was built up very high, and Mrs. Marion was sitting at the top, the horse took fright and ran away by the side of a steep hill. The result was that the cart capsized, and the poor woman was thrown to the ground, breaking both legs. So great was the shock with which she fell that the ends of broken bone protruded several inches through the skin. There is very little hope of saving the injured woman's life.

Edward Pellison, a young English immigrant, hungry and wearied from a fruitless search for employment, attempted to end his existence in Toronto a few days ago by hanging himself from a lamp-post on Queen street east. Fortunately a policeman observed the poor fellow and promptly cut the rope on which he was suspended to the iron cross-bar. He revived on being taken to the station, and to the Magistrate he subsequently acknowledged he was tired of life. He was remanded for a week.

One hundred and twenty-five German immigrants arrived in Toronto on Oct. 7th en route to the Northwest.

The Scott Act has been carried in the counties of Simcoe and Stanstead.

The Hamilton Powder Mills were blown up on Oct. 9th. The cracker, glass and iron houses were destroyed. Four men were killed and two wounded. The mills are situated one mile from Cummerville. The names of those killed are Wm. Murray, who leaves a wife and seven small children; Henry Tibbles, who leaves a wife and small children; George Mathews, who leaves a wife and five small children, and Wm. Heatherington, who is a single man. The names of the wounded are Albert Culp, badly burned about the face and legs, and Daniel Dougherty, badly burned and some limbs missing.

The sad accident which occurred at Mattawa last Friday week, resulting in the death of Mr. M. McCool, is thus spoken of by the Pembroke Observer: "Mr. Michael McCool, manager of the mill, was working around the saw, when in some way his hand came in contact with it, and he was slain in two almost to the elbow. The loss of blood was of course very great, and although medical aid was at once summoned and in attendance, the unfortunate young man died very shortly afterwards. The deceased was a native of Fort William, and was 26 years old. He was of a retiring nature, and was very highly esteemed and respected. The remains were brought to Pembroke by train on Monday, and conveyed from here to Fort William by the steamer Express. His friends have the sympathy of all." Mr. McCool's remains were interred at Sheenboro, on Tuesday, 30, and were followed to the tomb by a large concourse of people.

TEMPERANCE IN RALEIGH. On Sunday, the 5th inst., Rev. Father Hodgkinson, the beloved pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Raleigh, delivered an effectual and eloquent sermon on the vice of intemperance. His discourse was divided into three parts, namely:—The drunkard, in relation to God, to his neighbor and to himself. After clearly pointing out the evils of the vice, he alluded in kind terms to the successful efforts of his predecessor in organizing a Temperance Society in this parish, of which he was proud to be the pastor. His words were very impressive, and seemed to produce a salutary effect, as, after the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, following the example of the priest, he first took the pledge himself, large numbers came forward, some to take the pledge for the first time, others to renew the promises made a year ago to their late respected pastor, Rev. Father West.

Though Father Hodgkinson has been but a short time amongst the Catholics of Raleigh, he has already won the confidence and love of every one in the parish, young and old, and with good reason, being a happy and prosperous future.

Well-Deserved Tribute of Respect. A jolly Irishman and popular citizen of Ingersoll, Mr. James Brady, was pleasantly surprised on the anniversary of his birthday recently. Having unexpectedly been invited to a dinner party, he was agreeably surprised to find himself the recipient of a magnificent swinging silver tankard and handsome silver cup. The donors were the Rev. Fathers Flannery, St. Thomas; Brady, Woodstock, and Murphy, Ingersoll. On the cup was engraved the following inscription: "To James Brady, Esq., a tribute of respect and gratitude on his birthday, from Fathers Flannery, Brady and Murphy, Oct. 2, 1884." As the people of Middlebury well know, Mr. Brady has of late years presided with great acceptance at many of the annual picnics of the R. C. Church in Western Ontario, and it was a slight recognition of this and his many warm-hearted and generous qualities that the above presentation was made. The gift is a beautiful and costly one.

There's a little flower growing in a mossy shaded spot, That is within the wood, And is the sweetest Forget-me-not.

These are words from a simple song, which, with seven others, comes to us for notice from the well known publishers, Oliver Dilon & Co., of Boston. The titles and prices are here given: The sweet Forget-me-not. (30 cts.) by W. S. Wilcox. My Darling and I. (30 cts.) by H. Porter. Let's greet the Return March, 40 cts., with portrait, by G. Goerdeler. Little Davy Folks March, 30 cts., by Carl Faust. Chant d'Amour Etude, 35 cts., by H. Bohrens. Fragments from Nussacker, 25 cts., a hand piece, by Reinecke.

CONSUMPTION CURED. An old physician, retired from practice, having had years of experience in the medical missionary formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested his wonderful cure in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, by mail, by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

Past, Present and Future!

BY IGNATIUS BELLAIR, T. E. A. A. AND N. T. L.

The shades of eyes fell swiftly down, A drifting snow fell all the town, Through which a youth, frost-fearless, passed, Bearing a flag,—these words were said, "THE EMERSON."

His brow was frozen, yet he did not run, And dashed as merrily in the sun, His lips a silver bubble blung, And of a good piano sang, "THE EMERSON."

In happy homes he saw the light, Where no piano blazed the night, And cried aloud, as he drew nigh, At early dawn, "Oh! go and buy, "THE EMERSON."

"Try not to pass," an old man said, "The great pianos far ahead!" "Overpowered by the old man's call, And staid," with this I'll pass them all, "THE EMERSON."

"Oh, stay!" a maiden said, "and rest Thy luteful voice at my beloved's feet, 'Not till these homes are all supplied, With the sweet subject of my song," he cried, "THE EMERSON."

Beneath the pine boards all untaught, Bold makers make an avalanche; Of instruments, for prices as peasant brown, But with these words we frown such down, "THE EMERSON."

This was the banner boy's good night,— And on he went far up the height, Thought not of such a taking rest, Soe! from the banner on his highest crest, "THE EMERSON."

An agent followed up the town, While from the mountain top looked down, Flouting with his pride the snow and ice That banner with "upright" device, "THE EMERSON."

Both in the twilight cold and gray, And in the sunlight,—bright mid-day, The youth will walk without dismay, Till every snail shall disappear, "THE EMERSON."

Then though snow he goes away, And summer dwells with flustering ray, Still that banner all unfurled, Shall fling these words on highest crest, "THE EMERSON."
