Secured by the West India Trade Agreement and Canadian Ships.

By willingness and ability to provide ships, Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. She can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British Flag, without arousing international complications.

Canada possesses men with brains who will make these preferential trade agreements. But to make good these trade agreements we must have Canadian Ships.

The Man With a Genius for Helping

There is a man, said his neighbor, speaking of the village carpenter, who has done more good, I really believe, in this neighborhood than any other person who ever lived in it. He cannot talk very well in prayer-meeting, and he doesn't often try. He isn't worth two thousand dollars, and its very little he can put down on a subscription list for any object. But a new family never moves into the village that he does not find out, to give them a neighborly welcome, and to offer them any little service he can render. He is always on the lookout to give strangers a seat in his pew at church. He is always ready to wait on a sick neighbor, and look after his affairs for him. I have sometimes thought that he and his wife kept house plants in winter just to be able to send flowers to invalids. He finds time for a pleasant word for every child he meets; and you'll see the children climbing into his one-horse wagon when he has no other load. He really seems to have a genius for helping folks in all sorts of common ways, and it does me good every day just to meet him in the street.

A YOUTHFUL SINNER.

A young chap, who was left to look after the Chinese laundry here some weeks ago during the absence of the proprietor, swiped $1.00 from the till, a sum which Chief Ferguson later recovered from the boy. On Saturday last the proprietor again left home on the C.P.R. returning at night, and although another lad was in charge of the laundry, he original thief was discovered hanging about the place. On the arrival of the proprietor on the night train the till was found by him to have been rifled of $3.00, and as suspicion pointed to the former culprit, he was accosted on Sunday and accused of the theft. After first stoutly denying the crime, he later owned up to the deed, and passed over the coin on Sunday night. The boy is starting out in a fair way to catch a place on the degree team of some reformatory, and his folks would be well advised to keep a watchful eye over such a right-fingered offspring, as the mere hanging back of the loot after he is detected isn't always going to satisfy the animos of the law, or be construed as meeting the ends of justice.—Times.

He Came.

The scene was a New York theatre, the characters in the play that did not figure in the program were a susceptible man in the front row, and on the other side of the footlights a painted and bedizened actress who lured the other to his doom. Coming to the very edge of the platform and gazing down at our hero, the sister sang "Come to My Arms and Kiss Me." The invitation proved too much for the young man, throwing discretion to the wind he was "over the top" like a flash. He clasped the singer in a half Nelson, changing almost at once to a strangle hold. Of course this was a rare diversion for the audience and almost broke up the show. But stage hands are as a rule unromantic. Their intimacy with what goes on behind the scenes robs them of anything like sentiment. As soon as they recovered from their surprise they formed a flying wedge and attempted to cleave the twain apart, but the hypnotized young man clung to the singer with all his might, and it required the entire house staff to get him away. Of course he landed in the police court and paid a fine. But didn't the singer get just about what was coming to her? No woman on or off the stage can make a relief of herself without attracting occasional mariner on life's troubled sea. If actresses insist in singling out young men in the audience and carrying on open flirtation with them, let theirs be the consequences. Still the susceptible young man is not likely to receive much sympathy. Any swain who falls so easily for a complexion purchased in the drug store at so much an ounce, and the top dressing of hair put on and off with the scant stage attire, is not to put too fine a point on it, too easy.—Renfrew Mercury.

Jack Kichl, a Kent county farmer in the township of Ralceigh, states that he threshed 300 bushels of wheat from four acres of land, an average of 75 bushels to the acre. The yield has been substantiated by the man who did the threshing.

Nearly twenty-five informations were laid last week against auto owners in Durham for standing their cars on the streets of that town without the necessary lights required by the Act, and a fine and costs has been imposed on all. The Chronicle says: There was no doubt a violation of the law, but the public should have been cautioned and warned by newspaper or other publicity before taking action. Anybody can take car numbers when they are standing still and harmless, but why not get after the speeders who are the real menace to the community?

Sad Death by Taking Poison

The very sad death of Mrs. George Hewitt of Keppel, occurred on Wednesday morning in the hospital here, says the Owen Sound Times, after having suffered for two weeks from the effects of a bichloride of mercury tablet taken in mistake for aspirin. Mrs. Hewitt had gone to the cupboard, picked up a box which contained aspirin tablets at one time, and before she realized her mistake she had taken one. She immediately sent her son to the barn where her husband was and called Dr. Frizzell. Although she was taken immediately to the hospital and fought bravely for her life, she was unable to throw off the poison from her system. She was 34 years of age and leaves two sons, aged 8 and 11 years, besides her husband.

A Sweet Mystery

Sugar is not the only sweet stuff that Canadians have to pay much more for than do people in other countries. Honey takes its place on the list of products which seem to have reached the top notch in this country. While its use is not general, yet the figures are so striking as to attract attention. The Ontario Beekeeper's Association has recommended a price for Ontario honey wholesale of from 27 to 32c. And yet honey is being brought thousands of miles over sea and land from New Zealand, and delivered in Toronto at 23½ a pound. In the United States too, the honey prices are much lower, extracted clover honey being quoted at 17c per pound, with buckwheat honey at 12c and light amber alfalfa honey at 15c. Why the difference in prices here and in New York State? Frankly, the Examiner does not know. The Board of Commerce, which Ottawa advises report as coming to life again, may be able to supply the information. Let us hope so.—Peterborough Examiner.

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during my pregnancy. I felt quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took 'Favorite Prescription' and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, also my strength and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a great help to the expectant mother and am glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLS, Box 238.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.—"A few months ago I was stricken down and was confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained 9½ pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundurn St.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

It is announced that another raise in newspaper will take place in October. Roll news will cost $140 per ton and sheet news, the class used by weekly papers will cost $160. Three or four years ago this paper could be bought for $38 and $60 per ton.
