FARMERS' WEEK AT O. A. C.

Bruce County Day on June 9th

Wednesday, June 9th, will be Bruce Day at the O.A.C. All Bruce farmers are invited to visit the College on that day along with the delegations from Halton, Waterloo, Dufferin, Perth, Huron and Grey. Organized tours will be conducted to the various departments to inspect the College live stock and crops and to study the modern methods as applied to Agriculture. What would be more pleasant or profitable than to take a day in June for a holiday to visit a Farm and College that is being maintained for the benefit of Ontario Agriculture?

Graduates of the O.A.C. will invade Guelph on Saturday, June 12th, which has been set aside as alumni and alumnae day.

See the bills or get in touch with your agricultural Representative for further information and particulars.

THE DOG HAS HIS DAY

"Every dog has his day." That used to mean that even the big dog who lorded it over others of his tribe soon or late met his Waterloo—had his day.

It's different now with some dogs at any rate. A newspaper reporter in a big American city recently made note of the fact that he watched a "lovely lady" (all of his sort are lovely) buy a raincoat for "Popsy-Wopsey," a dignified but disgusted terrier. She also bought for the dog an overnight bag with brushes and manicure set and "other articles do beaut," and finally a travelling set in morocco case with an individual bowl for his drinking water and an individual plate for his biscuit.

"Mine eyes," commented the reporter; "hath seen the coming of the glory of the dog."

This sort of "lovely lady" with nothing to do but lavish wealth (which she has not earned) and affection of a kind upon an unappreciative beast, is one of the pitiful products of our time. They have been produced in all countries where "wealth accumulates and men (and women) decay." It is this disgusting mispending of unearned wealth which in a measure excuses the "red" and the anarchist. How does the life of the dog-worshipping "lovely lady" compare with that of the coal-heaver or the over-worked shop or factory hand, or with the honest woman who is desperately endeavoring to make a meager income meet the family requirements?

THE LATE MISS FANNIE ROBB

The death of Miss Fannie Robb, which occurred at Guelph on Wednesday of last week, was learned here with feelings of regret. Miss Robb made her home with her nephew, Dr. J. A. Wilson, here, for a number of years and accompanied the family to Guelph on their removal to that city about eight years ago. She was an estimable personage and made numerous friends who deeply deplore her demise. Interment took place at Stratford, her old home city, and was conducted by Rev. H. A. McGillivray of Knox Church, Guelph, assisted by Rev. Finlay Matheson and Cannon W. F. Cluff of Stratford. There were many beautiful floral tributes received, coming from Seattle, Guelph, White River, Stratford and district. The pall bearers were six cousins of the late Miss Robb, viz: Dr. J. I. Martelth, William Martelth, James Martelth, John C. Monteith, Honorable Nelson Monteith and Henry Monteith.

TOOK FORMALDEHYDE MISTAKE FOR MEDICINE

Mr. John Perry, a farmer living near Fairmount in Euphrasia Township, had a narrow escape from death Friday afternoon as a result of taking formaldehyde in mistake for medicine. Mr. Perry had been ailing all winter and was taking medicine every day at regular intervals. The bottle of medicine was sitting on the kitchen window along with a bottle of formaldehyde, which had been used as a disinfectant. At noon hour, when the farm hands were coming in for dinner, Mr. Perry unthinkingly picked up the wrong bottle and took a swallow out of it. Perceiving that the taste was different from that of the medicine he had been taking, he was unable to account for the cause, and in order to satisfy himself that he was not laboring under a delusion, he took a second swallow out of the bottle.

Shortly after he had done so, he was seized with a burning sensation in the stomach and was then convinced that he had taken a poisonous preparation in mistake for medicine. The family immediately telephoned for the doctor, and pending his arrival, Mr. Perry was given remedies which it was hoped would aid in counteracting the effects of the poison. The doctor arrived at the house as soon as possible and administered emetics in time to prevent the poison from doing its fatal work. It is stated that Mr. Perry is on the way to recovery.

JOINT MEETING

On Wednesday evening, May 12th, a very well attended joint meeting of over sixty representatives of the Junior Institutes and Junior Farmers' Associations of Bruce and Grey counties was held in the Agricultural Office, Walkerton, with W. K. Riddell, Bruce County Agricultural Representative, as Chairman. Mr. A. Maclaren of Toronto, who has been very intimately connected in rural young people's work in the Province of Ontario for the past three years, was present and outlined very clearly the organization of a Musical Festival for each County. Mr. J. S. Atkinson of Toronto, Director of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, also gave many helpful ideas and suggestions.

Very successful Musical Festivals have been held for the past two or three years in various counties of the Province and are increasing in popularity and in benefit to the communities which undertake this work. Bruce County plan on holding their Musical Festival in August and it is believed at least five communities will compete.

At the meeting it was also decided to hold the Bruce County Judging Competition for boys and girls and the Annual Field Day at Chesley some time in June. Baseball and County organization work was also discussed very enthusiastically. Mr. T. S. Cooper, Agricultural Representative for Grey County and his assistant, Mr. J. B. Nelson, brought a very representative group of young men and young women over from Grey County while Bruce County had representatives from Tara, Chesley, Walkerton and Lucknow.

SAUGEEN INDIANS HAVE FIELD DAY IN BRUCE COURT

Practically every redskin on the Saugeen Reserve attended the police court held in Southampton on Monday afternoon, says the Port Elgin Times, when charges of assault, of pointing a revolver, and of non-support were aired by the Indians before Magistrate Macartney. The first case, that of assault, arose out of a melee in which a number of the tribe took part, and which was staged at the French Bay corner on April 17. According to the evidence, three Ritchie brothers, Louis, Livingstone and Dave, were on their way home when Arthur Joshua, Victor Henry and Robert Solomon came along in a car, stopped the bus, and, in the course of an argument, Robert Solomon is said to have started a fist fight in which all participated, and which resulted in a number of charges being laid. Louis Ritchie laid a charge of disorderly conduct against Robert Solomon for starting the scrap; Solomon laid a counter charge of assault against Ritchie, who he claimed knocked him down and kicked him in the ribs; Dave Ritchie who was badly beaten up by Arthur Joshua, receiving two beautiful discolored optics and a bad cut on the head, laid a charge of assault against his assailant. In the meantime, however, Joshua skipped the country, and is now supposed to be in Detroit. All result of the trial was that a charge of disorderly conduct, which had been improperly executed by the Justice of the Peace, could not be gone on with, while Louis Ritchie, who was charged with assault, was fined $10 and costs. On a charge of pointing a revolver at his father, Sidney Solomon, the constable on the Reserve appeared before the Magistrate, and, on he and his brother, Robert agreeing to vacate the father's "wigwam" and find homes of their own, the charge was dropped. A squaw on the Reserve had her pale faced husband, Adam Oliver, brought before the Magistrate on a charge of non-support, but as the evidence adduced showed that the "white" was living up to his agreement to pay her $3 a week, together with providing her with wood and water, the case was dismissed with costs against plaintiff.

LAKELET

The road commission will meet at the "Blind Lake" here on Monday the 17th when surely some definite steps will be taken to solve this trouble. Now that it is possible to buy a roadway, it looks to us as if they should accept the offer, and a good road could be built at one-tenth the cost of draining.

These are great days for horse flesh, tho the growth is nil. There is quite a lot of grain sown, and no doubt with weather like this there will be odd ones done by the end of the week. While driving from Clifford to Mildmay on Saturday, we did not see one healthy looking field of wheat. Every farmer says it looked better two weeks ago than now. Some are going to sow barley in among the wheat, and in that way will get some good feed.

There is a great demand for cream and eggs, and the trucks are out thick in quest of these products of the farm. No doubt with the cream grading in force, the buttermakers will be watched closely. If the cream is kept in a cool place, all stirred up at the same temperature and rushed to the factory with the least possible delay, the grade should be good; that is if the cow does not get her teeth on something which will spoil it all. Graders have to be careful, as the Inspectors are over them, and are liable to a stiff fine. Sangster Bros. are now owners of the Wm. Ferguson farm, which they intend working in part and grassing. They have a tractor and can get over a lot of work in a day.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE NEAR CLIFFORD

About one o'clock last Friday smoke and flames were noticed issuing from the roof of Mr. John Weir's house on Nob Hill. A fire alarm was sounded and in a very few minutes a crowd had gathered, and with great courage got out most of the household effects from the lower flat and with the assistance of fire extinguishers saved the adjoining frame woodshed, where a quantity of good hardwood was stored. Mr. Weir who lives with his daughter, Mrs. H. Eakenswiller, during the winter months, was making preparations to return to his home for the summer, and had put fires on in the house since Tuesday. On Friday he had a fire on, and came down town about eleven o'clock for dinner, everything was alright when he left. The fire is supposed to have started from the chimney, or overheated stove pipes, as the upstairs was all in flames when the crowd gathered, and they were not able to save any bedroom articles and quantity of their sitting room furniture was stored upstairs. It is a severe loss to Mr. Weir in his declining years to lose his home by fire, and the sympathy of the community is extended to him and his family in their misfortune. On Monday Mr. Weir sold the property of 4 acres to Mr. Thos. Brown, who has cropped it for some years.—Clifford Express.

WATCH YOUR BRAKES

(Kincairdine Review-Reporter) Undoubtedly a great number of automobile accidents are caused by neglected and inefficient brakes. As we looked at the battered car over the hill on Queen Street last week, and realized the narrow escape the young men had, we just pictured how simple it would be for any car with poor brakes to come down the hill at a fair rate of speed, and the wheel hit a stone or rut and lurch the car to the side and the same sort of accident occur because the car couldn't be halted quick enough with the brakes. We do not say that is what caused this accident; it was just an illustration. Test your brakes at intervals. If they are not holding firmly fix them at once. If you don't know how to fix them get your car to the nearest garage. Don't risk your life and the life of others when a little tightening of brakes will prevent it.

VERY APPROPRIATE

Father, dear Father, come home with me now for ma has some carpets to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard, from the steps clean out to the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be sheared of some grass, for it's time to clean house, and the deuce is to pay—and the front windows need some glass. Father, dear Father come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese; it's most 12 o'clock, and there's nothing to eat—I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the dinner we'll have will be cold scraps and such, and we'll have to eat standing up too, for the table and chairs are out in the back; oh, I wish the house cleaning were through. Father, dear Father come home with me now, for ma is as mad as a Turk; she says you're evading the issue at stake, and you'd better get busy and work. There's painting to do and paper to hang and the windows and casings to scrub, for it's house-cleaning time and you've got to come home and revel in suds and cold grub.

Respect for the law will come when both law and the people are respectable.

Stealing a few minutes from her domestic duties, a Mildmay housewife has figured out that she washes three acres of dishes in a year; prepared 5000 meals and sweeps 150 acres of floor-space. The "leisure" time between these tasks was filled in with cooking, laundry work, house-cleaning and a few other "chores."

There are three ways to learn the value of a dollar. The first is to spend it and see what you will get for it. The second is to earn it and see what you give for it. The third is to save it and yearn for things it might buy if you were weak enough to spend it.

They've made many a jig about the village blacksmith turning into a garage man. But there are few young men learning the blacksmith business today. Where will the blacksmith trade be in a few years at that rate, for horses will be used as beasts of burden and they will need shoeing. There will also be work for the blacksmith, but the business isn't drawing apprentices for the reason that the outlook for this business is not a bright one.
