LESSON XIII.-JUNE 28, 1908.

Temperance Lesson.-Eph. 5: 6-20. COMMENTARY .-- I. The children of darkness and o: light contrasted (vs. 6-14.) 6. let no man deceive you-in the first verses of the chapter the apostle brings a severe arraignment against uncleanness, covetousness, foolish talking, jesting and idolatry, and in this verse he warns us of the danger of being de-ceived by the "vain words" of the man he warns us of the danger of being de-ceived by the "vain words" of the man who booked upon these things as inno-cent, or as "the unavoidable frailties of human nature." because of these things —They are so abominable in the sight of God that those who practice them are called "the children of disobedience," and divine punishment will come upon them.

7. be not....partakers—Here is a clear call to complete separation from sin and sinners. 8 walk as children of light—Let your lift show that you have been changed from darkness to light— delivered from the power of darkness and translated into the kingdom of Christ (Col. 1:13). Darkness is the em-blem of ignorance, sincerstition, misery, 7. be not.... partakers-Here is a blem of ignorance, superstition, misery sin, and of all that is vile and degrad ing; light is the emblem of holiness, happiness, heaven, the gospel, and of God himself (1 John 1:7). "Light im-plies every essential excellence."— Clar-

9. the fruit of the light (R. V.)-The fruit of the gospel, the fruit of a holy life. is in all goodness, etc.-All good-ness indicates the state of the heart. The gospel makes man right. The heart is cleansed from all sin and filled with the love of God. "Righteousness is the exercise of that goodness in the whole conduct of life," while truth is the direc-tor showing the special line to be fol-lowed in order to bring the greatest glory to God and the greatest good to our fellow man. The genuine Christian loves the truth, obeys the truth, and re-nounces all that is not truth. 10. proving, etc.—See R. V. The safest place is that which is farthest from evil. It is a perilous experiment-to see how near we can approach to sin without becoming contaminated our-selves. The easiest way to re-sist temptation is to run away. The children of light should not trifle with sin "--Hom Com Wa should near he sin."-Hom. Com. We should never be accessory to the sin of others, either by or below a bridge, with a letter from his mother, and a stained photograph of a sweet, patient looking face in his poc-ket. See 2 Cor. 6:14-18 The gospel standard demands a complete separ-ation from this present evil world, both in spirit and practice (1 John 2:15, 16; 12:1, 2). unfruitful works-Sins are called works not fruits (Gal. 5:19the saloon-keeper; and when accused he says and truly. Plants cannot bear fruit in the absence of light." The graces of the Spirit flourish in the light. "Sinful works come from the darkness of ignorthe voice of the people crying in the gov-ernment: Prepare ye the way of the liquor traffic; make its path straight and respectable—or expensive, which is the same thing.' So the coroner, the judge, the legislature, and the voter play blind man's buff with murderers, and Christian men are trying to draw the ark of God in government, with a license and an indictment, driven ten ance, seek the darkness of concealment and lead to the darkness of hell."-Henry. reprove them—Speak against them. V.)—Here is a most evident allusion to the orgies of Bacchus, in which his votarics acted like madmen, running about, tossing their heads from shoulder to shoulder, appear-ing to be in every sense completely frantic.

18. Be not drunk—Do not become drunken with wine and act like fools or drunken with wine and act like fools of madmen. There were doubtless con-verted drunkards among the Christians to whom Paul wrote, and wine was their especial danger. Intemperance is a folly, a waste a degradation, a sin. It must be renounced or the end will be destruc-tion. Wherein is excess—"Wherein is riot."—R. V. "The word here translated excess means profligacy and debauchery of every kind, such as are generally connected with drunkenness, and especially among the worshippers of Bacchus."--Clarke. Paul's prohibition is positive and absolute. Wine is forbidden because it causes roting. Filled with the spirit— Here Paul shows the difference between the worship of the true God and of the heathen Jeities. After offering sacri-fices to Bacchus, the god of wine, it was the custom of the people to get drunk in his honor. The joy that is kindled by wine is degrading; that which is kindled by the Holy Spirit is edifying and soul-inspiring. To be filled with the Spirit; it implies divine guidance; it is to be filled with God and to accept Him as the only conting of the soul 10 Smackthe only portion of the soul. 19. Darkness, light (vs. 11. 13). The intemperate love the darkness because their deeds are evil (John 3. 19), and their works are "works of darkness" (v. 11). They seek the night for the drunken revelry, the darkness to cover their shame. Those who tempt or aid the intemperate until they fall to the low-est depths or meet an awful death, are workers of darkness as well as those led man bids men avoid the danger of

A similar contract is in the prophecy concerning John the Baptist. "He .. shall drink neither wine or strong drink, and he shall, be filled with the Holy Grost" (Luke 1; 15.) The Spirit of Wine and the Spirit of God are incompatible. He who in-dulges in the flesh loses the power of the Spirit. Be not drunk with wine, but be filled with the Spirit. It is not the Dutch, but the women, form. It is not the Dutch, but the women, who have taken Holland. To the cap-ital of the Netherlands, bearing the imprint of seven centuries, have jour-neyed the most modern and progres-sive women of twenty-three centuries, reaching around the globe, with the avowed object of upsetting tradi-tions, overturning the established methods of government and chang-ing the decrees of Church and State. And over a thousand people in Am-sterdam and its vicinity have paid five florins apiece to see them do it. The women of Holland are "11 or-ganized for many different purposes.
