PARIS.
The train left the station of St. Laurent-Aiguaise at 2.40 P. M., and had proceeded about two miles, when the engine driver and stoker noticed that they were traveling in a running stream of water. They stopped the train. The driver found about two feet of running water on the line, and, walking up a hundred yards further, found himself up to the middle in a current which almost carried him off his feet. He went back to the engine and backed the train toward St. Laurent-Aiguaise.

In Deep Water.
After traveling 400 yards the guard's van and the rear coaches were found to be submerged in deep water. The train was caught between two streams, which were rapidly rising. There were no houses anywhere near, and the driver began blowing a whistle as a sign of distress. The whistle was heard at the station of St. Laurent, and the station master at once dispatched a rescue party, but it was found impossible to get within 500 yards of the train. He therefore telephoned to the station master at Aiguaise-Mortes, who dispatched a pilot engine and several trucks carrying two lifeboats.

The relief train was driven as near to the submerged train as possible, and then the Mayor of Aiguaise-Mortes, accompanied by two sailors, put off in one of the lifeboats and pulled across to the train. The water was rising rapidly and the passengers were climbing on to the roofs of the coaches. So strong was the current that the rescuing boat was carried away, and half an hour elapsed before the sailors reached the train. A lifeline was attached to the flooded engine, and the other end carried to the pilot engine.

The passengers were then taken out of the flooded train into the boat, and, using the line as a guide rope, the boats were sent to land until all the passengers had been safely taken off. It was 3 o'clock on Friday morning before the rescue was completed.

Poor English Bishop.
The Rev. Edward Dwyer, curate of St. Michael's, Coventry, speaking to the parochial brotherhood of St. Michael's, said that some bishops had promised to come down and address the men and women of the parish, but that they had failed to do so. He said that he had written to the bishop of Worcester, asking him to look at the matter, and that he had received no answer.

QUEBEC, Wednesday.—That Michael Walsh, the Polish emigrant found dead near St. Charles, Bellechasse several days ago, was foully murdered, is the opinion of the coroner's jury empaneled by coroner Perron, and which, after investigation, rendered its verdict yesterday. The jury also recommended that the Crown continue in their efforts to discover the guilty party or parties. The victim it will be remembered, had been working in the woods near Armagh, Bellechasse, and it is said he was walking on the railroad track with a man named Walker. It is thought that he had money when killed, his head had been battered with a wrench, and that this was the motive for the crime, as no money was found on the body, is generally believed. Mr. Struve, Russian Consul Agent, Montreal, is looking into the case.

Couldn't Find Right Wind.
Though he drove the car to an altitude of two miles Mr. Stevens said that he was unable to get into any current which would take him to the east. He then dropped to within two or three thousand feet of the earth and, with the light winds, drifted slowly over the Berkshire hills of western Massachusetts, across the green mountains of southern Vermont, up the Connecticut river valley for a way, and then across the Granite hills to the south-central portion of New Hampshire.

MONTREAL, Thursday.—F. H. Matheson, manager of the Bank of Commerce, is dying and is not expected to live the day. Yesterday he was out driving with his daughter, and the horse took fright and bolted while on Sherbrooke Street. It was half a mile before he got control again. His daughter then got out and he turned the sleigh round to go home. The sleigh upset and he was thrown out, but not injured. He drove home and had dinner. After dinner he complained of feeling weak around his heart, and a minute or two after he collapsed. Dr. Roddick was immediately called, and he has been with him practically ever since, but can hold out no hope of recovery.

BATHURST
BATHURST, Friday.—The tea held by the ladies of St. George's Church last evening was a decided success, over fifty dollars being realized. Miss Margaret McKeown, who has spent the summer and fall in town, returned to her home in Dalhousie on Wednesday. J. A. Marven, D. D. Walker, F. M. Tennant, of St. John, are at the Robertson House. Mrs. Russell and daughter, who have been the guests of Mrs. Cinnamon, have returned to their home at Bathurst.

BATHURST, Wednesday.—Miss Kelly, of Chatham, has accepted the position as stenographer for the Bathurst Lumber Company. F. Roy Summer spent Sunday at Moncton.

W. G. Fenwick left this morning on a business trip to King's County. Mr. R. H. L. Young, of Carleton Place, is in town.

The weather this week has been very damaging to the roads. It is also a hindrance to traveling operations. The ladies of St. George's Church are advertising a supper for Thursday night, to be held in their hall.

HOME LESSONS.
There is enough for a substantial meal of thought in the suggestion that home lessons might well be abolished and in their stead a study hour might be added to the regular school day. It is or ought to be well known that a large number of public school children do their work at home under very unfavorable conditions.—Morning Graphic.

DON'T OVERDO IT.

St. John, Moncton and Chatham, three busy New Brunswick cities, offer free sites to desirable industries. Scores of industrial centres throughout the country are doing the same. To the prospective manufacturers with some little free offering is good business. The pleasure experienced in obtaining some things without payment is a curious little streak of human nature. It may be necessary, in these days of competition between growing towns and cities, to offer the captain of industry exceptional facilities. But this policy should not be overdone. The tendency to pit one municipality against another, to discover which will give most for nothing, could be developed to an unwholesome degree. While in a growing country the new business man may expect more assistance than in older countries, he must recollect that in the Dominion he has unequalled opportunities for becoming a prosperous citizen, the proverbial self-made man, and it may be only hard work and enterprise that stand between him and being an millionaire.—Toronto Monetary Times.

ANOTHER ACT IN THE IDAHO DRAMA.

The trial of George A. Pettibone who, with President Charles H. Moyer, Secretary-Treasurer William D. Haywood, and Vincent St. John, all leading members of the Western Federation of Miners, was kidnapped by Idaho authorities in Denver, Colorado, in February, 1906, and taken to Idaho to answer to the charge of plotting the death of Ex-governor Steunenberg, began last week.

St. John was liberated early in the game. Haywood's trial began in May, 1907, and ended by his acquittal and discharge on July 28th. Moyer's release on bail soon followed; and now, after an imprisonment of twenty-one months, Pettibone is placed on his defense.

The jury in the case of Stevie Adams, another member of the federation, charged with killing a man in 1904, has disagreed, necessitating a second trial.

Harry Orchard's alleged confession, implicating the union officials, will again do service at the trial of Pettibone.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES.

Although the Bulgarian laborers to whom the advice was given have failed to heed the warning, Mr. J. H. Stanford of the Department of the Interior was right in cautioning them and all other immigrants to have nothing to do with employment agencies which charge for their services. When out of work they should apply to the Immigration authorities who will, if possible, supply them with employment free of cost.

The charging of the fifteen Bulgarians who came to Renous Bridge in September with ten dollars each for expenses over and above cost of railway fare was a gross outrage all the more despicable because practiced on men who were ignorant of the language and customs of this country. There should be some means, not too costly, of bringing the perpetrators of such actions to justice. But, as the sufferers are generally poor, ignorant and weak, these sharp practices often go unpunished.

Not only foreigners, but native born workmen, often get entangled in the meshes of the net set for them by the wily agents of private employment bureaus. The task of placing men and women where work can be obtained rightfully belongs to the government; and all classes of workmen would be greatly benefited were the government to take this duty upon its shoulders.

THE TREATY WITH FRANCE.

The text of the Convention respecting the commercial relations between Canada and France, signed by British and French plenipotentiaries in Paris on the 19th of September (two of the three representatives of Britain being Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. L. P. Brodeur of the Canadian cabinet) was laid before the House of Commons on the 28th ult.

This treaty appears to be very advantageous to both Canada and France, and will no doubt be ratified by the parliaments of both countries. It supersedes the old treaty signed in 1883, and is on a more reciprocal basis. It is intended to run for ten years but may be terminated by either party upon twelve months' notice.

By the new treaty Canada gives the French Republic and all its vast dependencies except Tunisia (which state may hereafter be brought under its operation) the benefit of its intermediate tariff on 90 articles, and admits a few French specialties not exported in any quantity by Britain to a still lower tariff. In return France admits 152 Canadian articles, including most of our farm and forest products and many of our manufactures, at her minimum tariff.

This arrangement, if ratified will greatly increase our trade with France, and will tend to draw us in other ways still closer to that highly civilized and influential country.

DARING ROBBERY.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Thursday.—The State Bank of Clinton was held up and robbed of $2,200 in coin shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon, by two men, who escaped.

It was just a few minutes after closing time when the robbers appeared in the bank, and, with drawn revolvers, forced President William Argo, Cashier Murphy and Bookkeeper Young to enter the big vault, in which the thieves locked them.

The bulk of the money had already been placed in the currency safe in the vault and the time lock set, but $2,200 in gold and silver remained on the counter.

The robbers shovelled into a bag and took with them to the Hotel Henlon, where they had previously engaged a room. They had arranged the money in rolls so that it could be easily carried, and were just about to leave the hotel when the police learned of their presence and attempted to break in the door.

The robbers jumped from a window on to an adjoining roof, taking only the $700 in gold and leaving $1,500 in silver in the room.

Before the highwaymen left the bank building they called up the telephone operator and requested her to send someone to release the three men imprisoned in the vault.

Charles Parker was the only person who knew the combination. After a while he was found.

When Parker opened the vault the three men were almost suffocated.

Crippled With Rheumatism

CURED BY GIN PILLS

Mr. Derragh certainly did have a hard time of it, before he met. Caught cold, and it settled in his kidneys. First thing he knew, he was in bed with Rheumatism. He nearly went mad, the pain was so intense. The doctors gave him the usual treatment—and pretty nearly burnt his legs off with liniments and blisters—but the Rheumatism went right on aching.

"Then a friend stepped in and said, 'Why don't you try GIN PILLS?' After a great deal of persuasion, Mr. Derragh did try GIN PILLS. You never such a happy man in your life, after he had taken two boxes. Pain all gone—stiffness and lameness completely left—that ache in back and hips disappeared—and he was well in no time. That was two years ago and he has been in perfect health ever since.

Contracted a severe cold, Rheumatism followed and the sharp pains took me so often and were so severe that I had to take to bed. Several months I could get no relief, until I started to take 'Gin Pills.' In five days I was up and around the house. My pains are gone and I have not had a return of the old trouble since. I wish also to say that 'Gin Pills' gave me the first painless passage of urine I have had in two years.
