ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE OF CONSUMPTION IN CANADA.

Messrs Young & Chamberlain:

SIRS,—I feel it a duty I owe to you as well as to the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills. I coughed a great deal, day and night, expectorating large quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night and in between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep. By the excessive cough as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could hardly stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I [...] Peterson, of Bath, recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I procured three bottles at once, and the Pills. As soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished the three bottles the cough, expectoration of matter, pain in the chills, sweating, &c., left me, and my constitution was I became strong and healthy. It is now over [..] months since I quit the remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

PETER C. V. MILLER

To all whom it may concern. This is to certify that I have been acquainted with the above-mentioned gentleman, Peter C. V. Miller, Esq., for many years, and have known him always to be of the very highest respectability, and a very candid and creditable person, and I am confident that I can safely vouch for the truth of the above, or any statement made by them.

STOP AND SEE.

THE following remarks on Testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern, undeniable and incontestible facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound of for ages is now accessible in the Great for Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has NEVER BEEN EQUALLED. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms of Brighton, C. W., of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, Earnestown, C. W., of Consumption, or that of Ambrose Wood, of Consecon, C. W., of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, or that of John Hosey, of Napanee, C. W. of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned and we space.

Call at the Drug Store and get a Circular of unquestionable certificates on the GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY and PILLS, and satisfy yourselves.

THE WHELAN APPEAL CASE

DELIVERY OF THE JUDGES' CHARGES.

Toronto, Monday, 5 p. m., Dec. 21.

The convict Whelan, under sentence of death for the murder of T. D. McGee, was brought up at 10 o'clock to-day; the judges entered about a quarter to ten, and the Chief Justice, on taking his seat, announced that there was a difference of opinion between the members of the bench.

Judge Adam Wilson delivered a judgment of one hour and twenty minutes' length, deciding against the prisoner on the first two grounds of error, deciding, at the same time, that he was legally right as to the trial of Sparks, but that no injury was done him by the decision of the court at the trial with respect to the challenges, but that the prisoner had waived his right to such a ground of error by challenging peremptorily. That the challenge of the juryman Hodgins, depending on the challenge of Sparks, must be similarly disposed of. He decided, therefore, against disturbing the verdict of the jury at Ottawa.

Justice Morrison agreed with Judge Adam Wilson on the last two grounds, and also as to the right to challenge Sparks, but held that the prisoner had not waved his rights, and that, on this ground, the prisoner should have a new trial.

The Chief Justice delivered judgment to the same effect as Judge Wilson on every point. The result is, the grounds of error are found invalid, and Whelan will be remanded for execution.

The Chief Justice (when the judgment had been read) said—The appeal is in favor of the Crown in all the points.

Mr. Harrison, in the absence of Mr. M. C. Cameron, said—I appear for the prisoner, and ask whether it is necessary that I should make an application for permission to appeal from the judgment?

The Chief Justice—You will have to make a motion, and submit it in writing.

Mr. Harrison—Of course, in a matter where there is a difference of opinion among the Judges, there will be no difficulty in obtaining an appeal under the standard.

Mr. Robinson handed in the order for the remand, which the Chief Justice said he would consider. At a subsequent hour. Mr. Robinson asked for Whelan to be brought up on Thursday. Mr. Harrison not being present, the application was allowed to stand. Mr Harrison returned, and put in his motion paper under the 29th section of the act regarding the Court of Error and Appeal. Mr. Harrison then handed the judges an order agreed upon by counsel for both sides, that the prisoner be remanded till Thursday, when application to appeal will be heard.

The Scientific American notices the invention of a new photometer, which gives most accurate measurements of the intensities of luminous rays. The delicacy of the instrument is so great. that Mr. Crookes. who perfected it, announces that it will indicate a difference of intensity caused by moving a lamp one tenth of an inch.

A RUNAWAY RAILROAD TRAIN.—A very singular and fortunately a no accident occurrance took place on the Lake Shore Railroad a day or two since. The engine of the morning express train, drawing two passenger coaches and two baggage cars, jumped the track completely, the tender following. Every one of the rail road employees available was set at work by the conductor to set matters. right. In order to facilitate matters, the tender was uncoupled from the baggage car, and, as the train stood on a heavy grade, a couple of brakes were set to keep the cars from moving off. It appears, however, that the brakes were insufficient to hold the train, and it started off before any of the employees could stop it. Away it went, down the grade towards Cleveland, at a speed rapidly increasing every moment. The passengers inside knew nothing of the circumstances, and supposed that the conductor was making up for lost time, and nodded, and slept on peacefully and quietly. Seven miles the fugitive train sped on its way, until it finally brought up on an up grade, and the passengers looked out, supposing they were at a station. The consternation of the conductor, and other railroad men, at the freaks of their train, can well be imagined. Every one supposed that the cars would jump the track, and a general smash up attended with loss of life, be the result. Work upon the disabled engine was taken up with renewed energy, and in a few moments after it was replaced on the track, and away it sped for its train. It finally overtook the runaways, which were standing quietly, as if waiting for their moving power. When the passengers became apprised of the danger they had just passed through, many of their faces blanched, and they contemplated their seven miles ride with feelings akin to terror.—Cleveland Herald. 17th.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.—Mr. Chisholm Anstey put several women on the register, of Finsbury, and a rather ridiculous catastrophe occurred. In an excess of zeal on behalf of the women. Mr. Anstey put on a married women, the wife of an eel pieman. At the election the pieman came to vote, and found that his wife had the franchise and that he had not. When told that he should look on the lists on the church doors, he expressed virtuous indignation at the suggestion. "I've no time to look at church doors," he said, "I've got to look at the bake 'us." He was also told that he had better send his wife.

Questions of Veracity.

On Friday last Sanfield McDonald announced in the Legislative Assembly that the Government had not yet agreed upon the locality for the erection of the new Lunatic Asylum; yet we are informed that at that time he knew full well that negotiations were going on between a member of the Government and a party in London for the purchase of lands in or near that city, on which to erect the new asylum, the price only not having been agreed upon—the London party demanding $1,000 more than was offered by the Government. Can any one doubt that the Government had agreed to locate the new asylum in London at the very time when the Premier gave the fact an unqualified denial? Our informant states that he has seen documents which prove the facts of the case to be as we have stated them. We believe that the man who occupies the highest position in the Province under the Representative of the Crown, should be guided in his communications to the Legislature by a most scrupulous regard for truth. It appears Sandfield holds an opposite opinion.—When he announced in the House on Thursday last that the Government had not determined whether or not to adjourn the House over the holidays, he had that morning communicated to a friend that such was the intention of the Government, and the information was sent to Montreal that very day. We cannot see what possible benefit could accrue to the Government from such misrepresentations as those made by the Premier. Even on Friday last, it was not communicated to the House till evening that there would be any adjournment over the holidays, on Saturday. Hence many of the members were compelled to remain over in Toronto till Monday, to their very great annoyance. The fact is, John Sandfield does and says anything which seems possible to make himself unpopular with the House, and to prove what everybody now believes, that he is utterly unfit to be the Premier of the Province.—[Ham. THE HUMAN FIGURE.

The proportions of the human figure are strictly mathematical. The whole form is six times the length of the feet. Whether the form be slender or plump, the rule holds goods; any deviation from it is a departure from the highest beauty in proportion. The Greeks made all their statues according to this rule. The face from the highest poin of the forehead, where the hair begins, to the chin, is one-tenth of the whole stature. The hand from the wrist to the middle finger is the same. From the top of the forehead, is a seventh. If the face from the roots of the hair to the chin be divided into three equal parts, the first divison determines the place where the eyebrows meet, and the second place of the nostrils. The height from the feet to the top of the head, is the distance from the extremity of the fingers when the arms are extended.

Encourage the Young.

If a young man deserves praise be sure and give it to him, else you not only run a chance of driving him from the right road for want of encouragement, but deprive yourself of the happiest privilege you will ever have of rewarding his labor. For it is only the young who can recieve much reward from men's praise. The old, when they are, get too far above and beyond what you may think of them. You may urge them with acclamation, but they will doubt your pleasure and despise your praise You might have cheered them in their race through the asphodel meadows of their youth; you might have brought the proud, bright scarlet to their faces if you had cried but once, "Well done!" as they dashed up the first goal of their early ambition. But now their pleasure is memory, and their ambition is in heaven. They can be kind to you, you can never more be kind to them.

— Mrs L. M. Child tells of a little girl of her acquaintance who took upon hers If the burdens of life very early:—While being undressed for bed, one night when she was about six years old, she heard her father read from the paper an account of a mechanic whose arm was torn by machinery. No one supposed that the child took any notice of it; but when she went upstairs, she began to sob violently. When asked what was the matter she exclaimed, "O dear! what will I do if they marry me to a machine man?" Her mother, scarcely able to repress laughter, replied, "Don't cry about that, my child; perhaps you will never be married." "O yes, I shall," she responded, trying to swallow her sobs, "they will marry me to somebody, and likely as not he will be a machine man; and if he breaks his arm all to pieces, I shan't know nothing what to do."

— Chicago has twenty-two miles of paved streets, costing two million dollars. Seven hundred thousand dollars were required for new streets and alleys during the past year. There are five hundred and sixty-three miles of sidewalks; one hundred and seven miles of sewers; and two hundred and nine miles of water-pipe.

—Detective Gates, of the G. W. R. Police, on Saturday, arrested Samuel Rae, of London, and formerly of Bothwell, for stealing a satchel and contents from Mr. John Davis, of Hamilton, while on the train. The London Police Magistrate sentenced Rae to two months, with hard labour, in jail.

The joy of the spirit is a delicate, sacred deposit, and must be kept in a pure casket, as an unholy breath will dim its luster and fade its freshness.

The colored representative elected from Louisiana to the U. S. Congress can't get in. He complains that his Republican friends give him the cold shoulder, and that the governor won't give him a certificate of election. He has knocked at the door of Congress ineffectually, "man and brother" as he is, but now seems convinced, with "poor old Ned," that it's no use knocking at the door any more."

Back it came slowly along its way, until it reached the Premier, who up to this time had remained immovable, and unconscious of its fate, while all eyes in the congregation seemed watching the scene. When it was handed to him, he looked at the coin for a moment, gave one of his peculiar smiles, coolly put it back into his purse, and pocketed the money.

DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS.—Returns have been published indicating the popular vote incident to the Presidential election. It appears from these that 3,053,111 persons voted for Grant, and 2,714,195 for Seymour, the total vote being 5,767,306. The majority in favour of Grant was therefore 338,91[.], which, considering that the Democra[tic] States of Virginia, Mississippi and T[exas] were excluded from participating in the election, does not appear to be so large as the general impression regards it. Indeed, if voting in these States had been allowed it is likely that Grant would not have a majority of over 150,000—a small margin out of an aggregate vote of nearly six millions.

WOLVES.—The Barrie Examiner says—We are informed that these rapacious animals are rather too numerous to be pleasant in various localities, particularly on portions of the river Severn, and in parts of North Orillia. These unwelcome visitors have made frequent inroads and sad havoc amongst the sheep of the farmers, who complain of the raids of the destructive creatures. The near approach to the settlement of these animals is, according to the saying of the wiseacre's prediction, the forerunner of a severe winter. Not long ago, a party of Potawatamie Indians, who were hunting deer on some of the tributaries of Lake Huron, not far from Sturgeon Bay, were obliged to decamp on account of the annoyance they were subjected to by the large packs of wolves that infest that locality. When the aborigines have to beat a retreat, what will become of their white brethren?

The Globe's Halifax correspondent telegraphs as follows:—There is a rumour in Repeal circles that Mr. Rose's communication to Mr. Howe is an offer to increase the subsidy to Nova Scotia 50 cents, giving $1.30 instead of 80 cents. Should this prove correct it will give $165,000 more for local purposes—no small aid to a poor treasury. And if it is shown that the other provinces will not receive the same, and that no additional taxation will be imposed, this card in Mr. Howe's hands will be plaved to advantage. I do not pretend to give this a reliable, but the rumour is not wholly without foundation.

SAGACITY OF A HORSE.—An Ohio paper tells the following good horse story: An old family horse that has been running at will through the streets and commons, lost one of his shoes, when, with the intelligence of a human being, the old horse walked up to the blacksmith shop where he had been shod for the last twenty years, and to the best of his ability asked the smith to shoe him, by raising his foot and stamping the ground. The smith being busy drove him away several times during the day, and thought nothing of it. The following morning on going to the shop he found the old horse at the door; again he drove him off, but the horse came back and entered the shop, walked up to the anvil, and there raised his foot, this attracting the particular notice of the smith who examined the foot, and finding it worn off to the "quick" kindly picked up an old horse shoe, and fitting it to the foot, nailed it on; when the grateful animal, frisking his tail, by way of thanks, trotted off contentedly.

Thomas Cotton purchased a carcase of mutton at Detroit, took it across to Windsor, and rather than pay duty of one cent per pound threw it in the river, swore a little and was fined $5 for profanity. A regular mutton-head, evidently.

Said a member of a church to another member: "I can give five dollars for this object and not feel it." "Then," said his companion, "give ten and feel it. Did not the Saviour feel what he did for you?"

The Lawrence (Kansas) Tribune has the following from a wife, which is a strictly legal document: "To whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the sale of spirituous liquors to Homer Hays is contrary to my wishes, and that I shall prosecute according to law, any person who disregards this notice.

"KATHERINE HAYS."

By the law of Kansas, a woman can prosecute any liquor-seller who sells to her lord and master.

The Niagara Ship Canal bill of Mr. Van Horn, which has been made the special order in the House of Representatives at Washington for the 13th of January, provides for the connecting of the lakes Ontario and Erie for commercial and business purposes by the means of a canal for the largest boats which may navigate those waters.

Many of our older people will recollect how folks used to 'goon' in this style in the good, old 'visiting' days, and they enjoyed it no, doubt as much as the Chinese who originated and still practice the same etiquette. But now how changed. People blow their own horns in these latter days, on the Nasbian [principle, no doubt, that 'he who bloweth not his own horn the same shall not be blowed.'

AN inquest was held in England the other day on the body of Aubery Charles Smith, aged eighteen, the only son of the Ven. Archdeacon Smith, vicar of Erith. His mother had asked him a few questions respecting a meerschaum cigar holder which he exhibited, and which he said had been given him as a present by his aunt. This statement appears to have been doubted, as that lady had visited the house just before, and admired it during his absence. The youth became excited, and offered to fetch a letter from his bedroom to prove his assertion. Soon after he left, the report of a pistol was heard, and on being searched for he was found lying on his bed with a fearful wound in his head. A pistol was lying by his side. He died about an hour afterwards. A written paper was found on him expressing a hope that he would be forgiven. It appears that he was much given to smoking, and his father had often asked him to give up the habit. No probable motive could be assigned for the suicide, and the jury returned a verdict of temporary insanity.

We have ever found that blacksmiths are more or less given to vice. Carpenters, for the most part, speak plainly, but they will chisel when they get a chance. Not unfrequently they are bores, and often annoy one with their old saws.

A Fifeshire man recently took his child to the minister to be baptised, who asked him—Are you prepared for so solemn and important an occasion?
