The Lokal Anzeiger makes what is an apparently inspired comment on Asquith's declaration on the Morocco situation and takes a reassuring view of England's position. It says that Asquith favours a policy of moderation and calm common sense; that his statement indicates that the British Government will pursue a more active policy than heretofore and be guided by the interests of Great Britain rather than by the Morocco entente.

DUBLIN, July 8.
The Royal Yacht, with King George, Queen Mary and Prince of Wales on board, anchored in Kingston Harb. at 4 o'clock last night. All points of vantage were crowded with cheering Dubliners who, on seeing the King and Queen, sang the National Anthem. The first division of the home fleet, anchored outside the harbor and fired salutes. The Royal party will no land until to-day when they will be received by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and drive to the castle. A number of brilliant state functions will take place next week in the Royal residence. Dublin looks gay with decorations and enthusiastic crowds parade the streets.

Interesting Feature.

Rev. W. H. Barracough gave his second illustrated lecture in the College Hall last night to a large and deeply interested audience. It was entitled "Among the Indians," and his description of the lives, habits and customs of such tribes as the Chinooks, Nootkas, Kitimas, Kootenays and Dewashes was most interesting. The pictures accompanying them bringing vividly before the minds of all the characteristics of these children of the forest. The references to such devoted missionaries as Thomas Croly and his wife and Revs. C. M. Late and E. Robson, were of the greatest interest to the audience. Speaking of the good work done by physicians such as Dr. Large of Klappan and Rev. Dr. Winch of Hazelton, he referred to the fact that Miss Gertrude Martin of St. John's, who is a trained nurse, was at Hazelton giving her services to the W.M.S. to minister amongst the Indian women and children at Hazelton.

MARINE COURT OF ENQUIRY.

Finding of Court in Loss of Bruce.
Yesterday afternoon Acting Judge Knight handed down the following finding in the Marine Court of Enquiry held to determine the cause of the loss of the S. S. Bruce.

The S. S. Bruce, a screw steel ship of 1,145 Registered Gross Tonnage, and 345 tons net, was built in Porthouse, Scotland, in 1897. The ship was employed in carrying mails and passengers between Port aux Basques, in Newfoundland, and North Sydney and Louisburg, in Cape Breton. She left the harbour of Port aux Basques at about 9.30 a.m. on the 23rd of March last, ran on the rocks at Port aux Basques, being the western point forming the Mananodon Passage, about 7 miles east of Louisburg at about 4.50 a.m. of the following day and became a total loss.

She was well fitted and equipped; her compasses were in good order; the engine known and the corrections properly applied to the compasses. She was under the command of Richard Drake, Master, who is the holder of a Colonial Certificate of Service, but not of a Certificate of Competency. The loss of the S. S. Bruce was caused by the Master setting and steering an improper course after 4 a.m. on the 24th of March last, due to a failure to adopt the precaution of verifying the ship's position by taking reliable bearings of Scatarie Light. Dated at St. John's this 7th day of July, 1911.

At the invitation of the Rt. Rev. The Bishop of Newfoundland and Bermuda, some one hundred of the Anglican teachers assembled at the Anglican Cathedral at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. The Bishop gave a brief outline of the history of the Cathedral, showing how the work of erection had been associated with the four Bishops of the Diocese. The architectural beauty of the sacred building—probably the finest specimen of Gothic architecture on this side of the Atlantic—was referred to by the Bishop in words of appreciation. Our people should be very glad and thankful that Bishop Field had secured the services of such a master-architect as was Sir George Scott.

Those interested in the Cathedral were engaged in a constant effort to beautify it, the mother church of the Diocese, and the windows were gradually filled with stained glass. Great improvement had taken place during the past half century in the artistic manufacture of glass as an aid to worship. There were in particular four great firms engaged in this class of work, and the Bishop gave particular praise to the work of Mr. Kemp of the firm of Kemp and Company who had devoted his means and his life to the perfection of the art and whose firm had worked 17 of the 18 stained windows at present in the Cathedral.

The Bishop gave to the assembled teachers a most interesting and inspiring description of each of the windows, showing the beauty of their design and their symbolic significance. He dwelt more particularly upon the following: (1) The odd window in the South Chapel—the window of the resurrection, pointing the fact that this had been the only window that had survived the great and disastrous fire of 1892—surely an ominous incident; (2) The great East window recently put in the design of which was the tree of the Church, the centre figure being that of Jesus Christ in glory and the whole symbolizing the glorification of the Son of God.

The Bishop explained that a complete plan for the beautifying of the building by stained glass had been prepared and that as addition became possible, the present blank would be filled in accordance with the plan, so that, for example, the windows of the North Chapel would show the scenes of the Atonement; and those of the South Chapel the scenes and miracles of Resurrection.

After the Bishop had ended his explanation, one of the visitors on behalf of the teachers said in effect: "Reverend Father in God, on behalf of the teachers I thank you for so graciously giving us the edifying and inspiring description of our Cathedral and Mother Church. We pray that God may long spare you, and help you in your sacred office." A number of the teachers proposed, we understood, to meet at the Cathedral at eight o'clock on Sunday morning for Holy Communion.

Points Needing Care.

1. Have a strong iron length of flue piping fixed to the opening left for it on the side or back of the stove. Unless this is done the fumes from the meat, etc., cooking in the oven escape into the kitchen and house. The pipe can be carried out into the open air, or into some chimney.

2. Sometimes an objectionable smell may be noticed in a house where a gas stove is used. This may be caused either: (a) Because the oven shelves, sides, door, etc., are dirty and greasy; (b) Because the gas has "lit back," as it is termed; that is, through some sudden draught, or banging the oven door, or applying the match the instant the gas is turned on, the gas has lit back in the air-chamber of the burner. The result is that the flame will be yellow, instead of bluish; there will be a peculiar roiling sound made by the gas; the burner will become blackened and sooty; there will be but little heat, and an unpleasant smell given off.

If the gas does light back, turn off the tap, or taps, turn them on again slowly, and allow a little gas to escape before applying the match. Sometimes it has to be re-lit several times for some reason or other.

School Teachers' Entertainment.

Wednesday night last the C. of E. school teachers of Greenpond had a most enjoyable time when they sat down to a sumptuous dinner served in the hall there. The menu was of the best, and after dinner songs, speeches, recitations, etc., were in order. Rev. Mr. Penney presided; the gathering dispersed at 11 o'clock.

OBITUARY.

MRS. A. M. LLOYD.

Mrs. Agnes M. Lloyd, wife of Dr. Lloyd, Editor of the Evening Telegram, passed away yesterday, after a prolonged illness. In her early life she achieved success as a teacher, her sympathetic nature and kindly methods winning the affection of her scholars; and transforming the hours of study into hours of happiness. Later, she married Mr. W. F. Lloyd, then, also, a member of the profession, and in September, 1890, came with him to Newfoundland, where her husband had been appointed to the second mastership of Bishop Field College. About 18 months ago the first signs of her final illness became apparent. The insidious disease was getting a firmer hold upon her system, when the awful tragedy of last August 4th befallen her of her oldest boy. Five weeks ago she went to the Hospital to undergo an operation for cancer. Despite the best skill and efforts of the surgeons, the flame of life flickered away, and yesterday, a fortnight after the operation, her gentle spirit passed hence. Dr. Lloyd has passed through deep waters in the past year; first the son, who was at once his pride and joy, was suddenly called away; and now the well-beloved wife has answered to the call. To him and his remaining son, now nine years old, we extend that sympathy, which will be experienced not only by his personal friends, but by all who learn of the double bereavement that has fallen upon him within little more than eleven brief months. The funeral will take place from "Eusebia," Dr. Lloyd's residence on the Portland Cove Road, probably on Sunday afternoon. Particulars will be announced in this evening's papers.—Daily News.

By the terms of the seal treaty just signed, Pelagic sealings are prohibited in the seas of Behring, Okhotsk, Kamichatka, Japan. The convention arranges for the apportionment amongst the signatory powers of the annual proceeds of the several herds in which they are interested as follows:—30 per cent. from any herd usually taken from American and Russian herds, respectively, is to be divided equally between Great Britain and Japan; 20 per cent. from Japanese herds to be divided equally between the United States, Britain and Japan. In connection with this agreement the United States will make an advance payment of $200,000 Japanese shares taken from any herd by a loan and was necessary only as cause States reserves the right to continue altogether the killing of seals. The Treaty will extend 18 years and thereafter will be terminated by one year's notice by any of the powers concerned. It will now be submitted to the governments as representatives have signed Treaty for ratification. Aside from the ratification by the senate it will be necessary for congress to pass legislation to carry its provisions into effect.

Coronation Films at the Nickel.

The pictures of the recent Coronation Festival and procession in London arrived here yesterday and will be shown at the Nickel Theatre next week. They are exceptional fine photographs and show the ceremonies from beginning to end. Particularly interesting are the anointing of Their Majesties and the Festivities in Westminster Abbey. No doubt but that Newfoundland audiences will be fully and satisfactorily entertained by the corresponding large.
