A MOTHER'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown.

The woman at home, deep in house- hold duties and the cares of mother- hood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands up- on a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the wo- man at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, back- aches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. W. T. Riley, R.R. No. 1, Apple Hill, Ont., has proved the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to mothers, and tells her story as follows:—"Two years ago, after the birth of my boy, I be- came very weak and run down. Grad- ually I lost weight and energy until I was unable to do my housework. I could not sleep, my nerves would twitch and jump so that I arose in the morning with heavy aching limbs and head. Indigestion helped to make the misery worse, and my heart would pal- pitate terribly. I doctored steadily for a year without getting better, but just dragged along feeling that I would never be well again. But one lucky day, on the advice of a friend, I began treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken only six boxes, but I wish you could see the difference. I am now able to do my work, go about and enjoy myself. I feel so entirely like a new woman that I advise every weak or ailing woman to try Dr. Wil- liams' Pink Pills and I know they will get beneficial results."

If you are ailing, easily tired or de- pressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Emotional Cabbage.

Do plants and vegetables experience the same emotions that are felt by human beings? Scientists are begin- ning to think that they do. Some extraordinary discoveries have been made, and it has been proved that even the humble cabbage has feel- ings. It is also known that roses ex- perience a rise in temperature after they have been pruned. Experts declare that there is no emotion, however delicate, which can- not be felt by plants. The Japanese have always recog- nized this feature in plants. They be- lieve that love and hatred are both ex- perience by flowers. Every plant and vegetable has its own character, we are told. Science has still much to learn in this direction, but it may be that be- fore long we shall know everything that goes on in the plant "mind."

The British Empire has a total population of 445,388,500 people. A savings account is an antidote for debt, defeat and most disasters.

Marvels of Mental Telepathy.

It is not many years ago since there was doubt as to whether it was possi- ble for the mind to transmit thoughts to another mind without the aid of speech or other mode of communica- tion.

"Thought-readers" have appeared on the music-hall stage, but there has al- ways been a feeling that the constant flow of talk invariably contained a code which enabled the man in the audience to give instructions to his confederate on the stage.

There really is such a thing as men- tal telegraphy, and it is possible for thoughts to be transmitted and re- ceived when the two personali- ties are "in tune."

A well-known business man pro- vided the writer with many instances of communication between himself and his wife. On one occasion he felt strongly impelled to enter a confec- tioner's shop and buy a chocolate cake. He did so, remarking to the assistant that he really didn't know why he was making the purchases.

He took it home expecting to be laughed at for his pains, but found his wife entertaining friends. There was a roar of laughter when he entered with the cake.

The whole company were witnesses to the fact that his wife had hoped he would return with a chocolate cake, she having forgotten to purchase one when out shopping.

The writer once asked his daughter to make a journey to the bank to pay in some money. The fact that a cheque had also to be cashed escaped his memory until she was well on her way. However, a strong mental effort was made to induce her to return—and she did so.

Deepest Gold Mine.

The Saint John Del Ray mine, 150 miles west of the R.R., follows a vein of gold until the workings are 1 1/4 miles below the earth's surface. The temperature rises one degree for every 120 feet in the depths, and at the low- est level, 6,425 feet, the tempera- ture of the surrounding rock is 118 degrees Fahrenheit.

If you leave only ambition and no energy, you will get about as far as a locomotive without steam.

HEALTH EDUCATION

BY DR. J. J. MIDDLETON

Provincial Board of Health, Ontario

Dr. Middleton will be glad to answer questions on Public Health mat- ters through this column. Address him at Spadina House, Spadina Crescent, Toronto.

Does fatigue cause the greater per- centage of industrial accidents? Many authorities think it does, but Mrs. E. E. Osborne and Dr. H. M. Vernon of the Industrial Fatigue Research Board, are inclined to doubt it. These observers claim that the controlling factors in causing accidents are speed of production and the physical state of the workers. This latter factor is suggested by the number of accidents that occurred in a shell factory just after the workers had begun their night-shift. They were then for the most part in a lively and excited state, but as they calmed down in the course of the night, accidents gradually fell to half the original number. The un- importance of modern fatigue as a factor in the causation of accidents is suggested by laboratory experiments. When a test involving modern muscular activity was carried out continu- ously for a period of three and one- half hours the accuracy attained im- proved throughout, though much more slowly in the latter half of the experi- ment than in the first half. There was no indication of loss of manual skill, such as might under industrial conditions have led to increased acci- dent liability. Temperature of the workshop or factory would seem to have some bearing on the number of industrial accidents. It was found that the least number of accidents occurred at 67 deg. F.; at lower temperature their frequency gradually increased till at 52 deg. F. they were 35 per cent. more numerous than at 67 deg. F. At a still lower temperature (47 deg. F.) they fell off slightly, perhaps because the workers were too cold to work with their usual speed, so that there was a consequent diminution of acci- dent risk. At temperatures above 67 deg. F. the accidents showed a slight rise among women workers, but the men suffered 38 per cent. more acci- dents at 77 deg. than at 67 deg. F. Their greater liability being probably due to the heavier and more trying nature of their work. It has been observed in some in- dustrial plants that a large number of accidents occur within ten minutes after starting in the morning and within ten minutes before closing time at night. Lack of concentration would seem to be the principle cause of the mishaps in these cases. But as the morning's and afternoon's work progresses, it has been found that accidents increase. What is the cause? Fatigue may have some part in it, but the speed of production and the psy- chical state of the workers would ap- pear to be the chief factors.

Solitude.

Solitude! In a silent wood Where thoughts profound Like a deep black pool, Arise and abound My quiet mind As white birch trees And darkened pines Point to the evening sky. The lonely star Reflected lies In the peaceful lake While the sunset dies. The icons awake With a silver laugh And the crescent moon rides high.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as of- ten as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stom- ach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels, and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Injustice.

The lady of the house was waiting for the milkman, and when he ap- peared she went out to the back door. "The milk you left this morning was sour, Mr. Jones," she said.

"There you are, mum!" cried the ag- grieved milkman. "If there's any com- plaint, the poor milkman soon hears of it; but you never tell 'im when the milk ain't sour, do yer?"

A Practical Avocation.

One of the most practical avocations is music. In the welter of modern business life, the business man who can rest his mind and glorify his soul by a few minutes of musical expres- sion every night has the asset which men like Lloyd George and Arthur Balfour have found invaluable. If there is the slightest manifestation of musical talent in the boy in your family teach him to play some instru- ment, give him a chance. It may be priceless to him some day.

Men must begin to realize how closely music is bound up with the social and industrial life of the coun- try. The old day when it was thought that the business man should take no time for music or that the musician could not possibly be a successful business man has fortunately passed into oblivion.

Many of our best musicians have proved remarkable business men, not merely in the publishing field, where there are some startling successes, but also in the great world of business.

500 Days Without Water.

Interesting experiments of great im- portance to areas liable to severe drought were carried out recently by the Grootfontein School of Agriculture in South Africa to ascertain whether stock could be kept alive for lengthy periods on a ration of prickly pear leaves alone.

It was demonstrated that sheep, though they fell off in condition, could exist for 280 days solely on a diet of prickly pear, and when a small allow- ance of lucerne was fed in addition after that period the sheep were able to go for 500 days without a drop of water, depending on the moisture from the prickly pear.
