The report also states that the utility commission is not in a position to purchase the works at a price which would be a burden to the ratepayers.

THREAT OF CIVIL CHARGES FOR LOSS OF CLARK'S TRUE STORY OF DISAPPEARANCE OUT

Rather Than Face It, "Survivor" Makes Clean Breast of His Participation in Frame-Up That Was Followed by Harrowing Tale of Drowning.

Faced with almost incontrovertible proof of his complicity in the recent attempted "get-away" of James Brandon on the evening of October 4, A. J. Clarke of 214½ Dundas street, manager of the Little Big Bazaar store, confessed yesterday that the whole affair was a "frame-up" from start to finish.

The confession made by Clarke to J. J. Barrett, an investigation for the Merchants' Casualty Company, came after fourteen hours hard grueling by the insurance representative.

Clarke's story was told in his original story as told the night of the supposed drowning, when he claimed he and Brandon, while on a fishing trip, were taken by a sudden storm and were forced to land on a small island in the river.

day evening will take some steps to get rid of the nuisance.

Chief of Police Williams informed The Advertiser that he knew nothing of the expiry of the franchise for the garbage cans.

"We have received no instructions regarding them," he stated to The Advertiser. "If the men are informed as to our duty, they will see that the law is being enforced. Had any instructions been given us, they would have been carried out."

The cans have no right on the city streets, and the garbage department or street cleaning departments could remove them. That this will be done is certain, unless the owners of the cans get rid of them at an early date.

City Clerk Baker stated to The Advertiser that the franchise had expired, and that it was the duty of the council to order their removal from the streets.
