Sy FAIR PLAY.

New York, May 11.—Indications today were that Tex Rickard's Saturday heavyweight carnival for the benefit of the Milk Fund will be a sell-out. Since the Yankee Stadium, where the show will be held, has a seating capacity of more than 75,000, there seems every likelihood that this great mingling of heavyweights will be a million-dollar affair, for besides the regular seats there will be temporary accommodation for spectators radiating in all directions from the ring, which will be set upon the pitching mound.

It is a charity entertainment, which means that no person connected with the function figures to make anything above expenses—that is, outside the lighters. They will do very well indeed.

means that no person connected with the function figures to make anything above expenses—that is, outside the fighters. They will do very well indeed, with remunerations ranging from $25,000 each for the principals in the top-line bout to perhaps a thousand apiece for the four-round bout at the bottom of the program. Fighters can't be too charitable. They know that it only takes a couple of wallops on the right spot on the jaw to put them among the deserving objects of charitable enterprises. Consequently, their one aim is to make hay while the sun shines.

The drawing cards of the show are unquestionably Jess Willard and Luis Firpo. When Jess was champion he was not at all popular; in fact, there was never a more colorless champion. But now, with the burden of years upon his shoulders, his fight for a comeback—always a dramatic proceeding in sport—has caught the public fancy, and there is very unusual interest in the outcome of his efforts. As for Firpo, sullen, silent, hairy, stalwart, he meets in every respect the popular idea of how a gladiator should act and look. He has nothing of Dempsey's magnetism, of Jim Corbett's likeableness; he has, in short, few 'of the human qualities that have made past heavyweight stars personally attractive or interesting, or both. But he does register an impression of smoldering ferocity, of brute force that has proved appealing from a gate receipts stand-point.

Most patrons are picking Jess Williard to defeat. Word July and the sex of the stand-point.

Most patrons are picking Jess Williard to defeat Floyd Johnson, but no one is offering the odds on this that were offered up to the first of the week. A flood of Johnson money has washed the odds practically out of sight, and today even money prevailed. Some shrewd dopesters believe that Jess will not be able to walk through fifteen rounds, and that unless he stows Johnson away early he is liable to be beaten through a combination of his own exersen away early he is liable to be beaten through a combination of his own exertions and Johnson's punches. Floyd is 23, and Jess is 43 at least.

It's a big handicap Willard is carrying, and the insiders would unhesitatingly pick Johnson to win had they not seen the peor effect of his punches upon Fred Fulton.

Luis Firpo is not likely to have as easy a time with Jack McAuliffe as most of the fans have figured. Right now McAuliffe looks to be the most scientific of all our heavyweight contenders, and at the same time he has a peach of a left and can sock with his right. McAuliffe is not likely to the same time he has a peach of a left and can sock with his right. McAuliffe is not likely to the same time he has a peach of a left and can sock with his right. McAuliffe is not likely to the same time he has a peach of a left and can sock with his right.

tenders, and at the same time he has a peach of a left and can sock with his right. McAuliffe is not likely to stick his jaw into one of Firpo's swings, as Brennan did. It would not be surprising. of course, to see Firpo land and cop.

Based on sport, and forgetting for the moment that the fight game today is big business, here is the writer's dope on possibilities at the finish of the heetle fistic day:

The show opens with a four-round affair between Tom Roper and Harry Drake, the Englishman. No choice here. Second bout: Al Reich and Tiny Herman. It looks like Reich all the way, although almost everyone has knocked Reich out. Herman is an unknown. Third bout: Jack Renault and Fred Fulton. Fulton, despite popular opinion, has as good a chance as Renault; neither likes punishment at all. Fourth bout: McAuliffe on points over Firpo. Fifth bout: Johnson to wear down Willard.

GRAHAM, TERRIERS STAR CATCHER, BACK IN FOLD

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, May 11.—There was rejoicing in local baseball circles today over the return of Buck Graham, the sterling catcher of last year's champion Terriers.

Graham, a few weeks ago, went to Flint, Mich., but he was not at home there and is back in town. It is expected that he will be back in uniform with the Terriers shortly. Jee Evans, first basemant has been elected captain for the year.

Put Tolley Out In Morning, But Bowed To Wethered.

(By WALTER HAGEN.)

(British Open Champion and Correspondent of The Advertiser; Copyright.)
Deal, May 11.—Francis Ouimet, last survivor of American invaders, went down to defeat today in the semi-final round of the British amateur championship. This morning he played a great round, disposing of Cyril Tolley, former champion, and one of the most consequence of the british amateur championship. Schaefer was the big noise of the most consequence of the proceedings, driving in the two London to the proceedings and the proceedings are the p lown to defeat today in the semi-final team in the Walker Cup match at St. Andrew's.

Ouimet's elimination was a sad spectacle for Americans, all pulling hard for him to come through. They feit hopeful at the tenth hole, when he got a fine half. It looked like anybody's match at this stage. At the eleventh he hit two fine shots to the green, while Wethered was far short in his second. But Francis took three putts and permitted his opponent to get a half. This was the beginning of the end. He lost the twelfth with his first really bad shot. Looked up on approach shot and shot. Looked up on approach shot and shot. The same as the choice got Gerber going into the plate, choice got Gerber going into the plate, cuicking things down a bit. Manush started for second, drew a delayed throw from Churry, and Getsle's quick return play to the plate caught Myers on the way there. Churry was astride the plate like a ton of lead on this play and blocked nicely.

Roger Wethered has the advantage in age, being 17 years younger than his opponent. He represented Great Britain against the United States, and also was runner-up in the British open championship, after a tie with Jock Hutchison, at St. Andrews when he beat the amateur record over the St. Andrew's twice in one day.

Wethered generally is considered better at stroke play than at match play. He certainly has done much better work in stroke competition. He is a good all-round athlete, and plays cricket and lawn tennis about as well as he plays golf.

Priest Gives Jockey Rites

Baltimore, May 10.—Jockey Andrew Ferguson, riding Locarno, was badly injured by a fall from his mount in the Mount Washington Steeplechase at Pimilico this afternoon.

A priest who was at the track administered the last rites of the Catholic Church to the jockey just before he was taken to a hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious.

Jockey Haynes, on Phoenix, fell in the same race, but escaped with a slight shaking up.

TILDEN AND PARTNER BEATEN Washington. May 10.—Vincent Richards, national indoor tennis champion, and M. Fukuda of Japan defeated Wm. T. Tilden, national singles champion, and Samuel Hardy, 7—5, 6—3, in the opening round today of the Chevy Chase invitation doubles tournament.

"Doc" Bullard turned in a 2 to 1 victory after a fine hurling duel with Gerber in the second game with Muskegon over the river yesterday. Bullard's win came in the face of three errors, one of which in the sixth, followed by a sacrifice and a double, produced the Angelers' lone catch of the day.

former champion, and one of the most spectacular players in England Ouimet, who had apparently put all he had into the match against long-driving Tolley, appeared tired and slightly nervous against Roger Wethered this afternoon. It was asking a good deal of any man to take on two such sterling golfers as Tolley and Wethered and contract to beat them both in the same day.

Francis won six matches in succession, a very creditable performance. Even the British players are not keen on playing these matches over a short route. Many of them have expressed the opinion that double rounds should be played, and that a qualifying round be held in the beginning, the same as in America.

Ouimet's elimination was a sad spectacle for Americans, all pulling hard for him to come through. They feit hopeful at the tenth hole, when he got a fine half. It looked like anybody's match at this stage. At the eleventh he hit two fines shots to the green, while was far short in his second.
