A Beautiful Bas-relief of a Suffrage Pioneer.

The historical department of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington has just accepted and placed on view a bronze bas-relief of the late Susan B. Anthony by Michael Jacobs, a painter and sculptor of note residing in that city.

The bas-relief, which is in the "modern style," being of the school of Rodin, is a noteworthy example of the present tendency in sculpture, which is to keep the relief as low as possible. The relief on the medallion of Miss Anthony is only one-fourth of an inch high. The picture is that of a thoughtful idealist, with just a suggestion of the unconquerable fire which shone out through the bold personality of the great suffrage leader.

As a compliment to the National American Woman Suffrage association, of which Miss Anthony was president from 1892 until her death in 1906, Mr. Jacobs has had cast a second copy of the bas-relief, which was formally presented to the national association during its forty-seventh annual convention in Washington Dec. 14 to 19.

Mr. Jacobs is well known as a portrait painter, having executed many commissions for titled Europeans during his stay abroad.

"The Trades of the Dumb."

Any number of children can play this game, and it is amusing and interesting. Let one player repair to the hall or to another room and decide what trade he will represent. When ready he knocks on the door and enters. Without a word or a smile he begins by motions to show what his chosen trade is. Perhaps he is a carpenter. Then he pretends to hammer nails, to saw or plane a board. Perhaps he is a coachman. In that case he makes believe to drive a horse, to turn a carriage or make the steed go. A tailor sews and cuts imaginary cloth and tries on garments. A painter goes through the motions of painting, dipping an unseen brush into a pretended pail and spreading the paint on wall or floor. There are other trades. One may be a musician, a policeman, sweeper, dressmaker, milliner, farmer, butcher, baker, grocer or sailor.

If the player laughs or answers or speaks he must pay a forfeit when the game is over. The other players try their best by making funny remarks to cause him to laugh and lose his dumbness, and he has to be very alert not to get caught answering some question or suggestion.

Chestnut Dressing. Boil a quart of shelled chestnuts in salted water until tender. While warm mash to a paste, adding a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of paprika and half the quantity of breadcrumbs, two table-spoonfuls of melted butter and a teaspoonful of poultry dressing. Blend the ingredients thoroughly, and if a moist dressing is required add a cupful of boiling milk.

FIRST AID ESSENTIALS.

What Mothers Should Keep in the Bathroom Medicine Closet.

Accidents will happen as long as we are human, and particularly so while we are children. But the irritating part about accidents is that we do not expect them and that they all have one thing in common—they happen at the wrong time. When you have no peroxide you cut your finger. When Charlie burned his hand at the bonfire you were without olive oil or ointment to soothe the pain. So, the wisest thing to do is to be prepared for war in time of peace, to talk in the language of the day. A good many serious results have been avoided by having a wound dressed properly in the nick of time. Every household, and that means every mother, ought to have a little box, cabinet or other safe place always filled with a few essentials which will prevent unfortunate consequences. Antiseptics for small wounds should be the first essential.

A small bottle of linseed oil and lime water oil comes next. And you know that it is the open blister which sometimes causes tetanus.

Boric acid to wash out sores before putting the dressing on is not to be dispensed with. Turpentine is also a splendid thing against infection of sores from rusty nails.

Do not let us forget the almost inevitable bottle of castor oil or milk of magnesia in case of fever and indigestion. A small quantity of essence of peppermint and spirits of ammonia should also be added, because sick stomachs is a frequent occurrence with the little ones. A box of bicarbonate of soda and one filled with epsom salts are indispensable.

French Coffee.

One quart of water to one cupful of very finely ground coffee. Put coffee grounds in bowl, pour over about half a pint of cold water and let stand for fifteen minutes. Bring remaining water to a boil, take coffee in bowl and strain through a fine sieve; then take French coffee pot, put coffee grounds in strainer at top of French pot, leaving water in bowl; then take boiling water and pour over coffee very slowly; then set coffee pot on stove for five minutes; must not boil; take off and pour in cold water from bowl that coffee was first cooled in to settle. Serve in another pot. The French, who have the reputation of making the best coffee, use three parts Java to one part Mocha.

done in pale blue worsteds. The belt, cuffs and bolero are of pale blue broadcloth, and ruffles finish the flat collar and cuffs.

For Contagions. It is important that the mother or nurse who is attending a child ill with a contagious disease should take a walk in the fresh air every day. The best way to arrange this is for her to keep a change of clothing in the next room. She should also bathe before leaving the quarantined room. If a bathroom has been set aside for quarantine she can use this; if not, a screen and a basin in the sickroom will have to answer. Then she can slip into the next room and put on fresh clothing. She should leave the house by the

The Cooky Cat. Grandmamma made a cooky cat, Brown and spicy and round and fat. She set it up on the pantry shelf, Safe and sound, and said to herself, "Tomorrow morning when Bobby comes I'll give him that cat and some sugar plums." And grandmamma smiled and felt very glad. For Bobby was such a dear little lad. But, alas, when the house was dark and still The cooky cat felt a sudden thrill. For she heard the patter of tiny mice. Nearer and nearer they slyly came The cooky cat trembled through all her frame. They climbed to the shelf on which she sat. Alas, alas, for the cooky cat! She pleaded for mercy. The mice said: "Nay, For 'turn about' is, you see, fair play. A cat will always eat mice, and that Makes it fair for the mice to eat the cat!" —St. Nicholas.
