NEW YORK AND ERIE RAILWAY.

We met with a paragraph the other day which is very descriptive of this grand thoroughfare of the world, and now give it for the benefit of the Canadian public:

"The railways here, that is in England, are not better than our own. Either the English roads have deteriorated, or else our own have appreciated. I assume that the fastest train on the direct line between Liverpool and London may be taken as a fair sample, and compared with similar trains on the New York and Eric Rallway at homo-with which I am most familiar. From Liverpool and London, two hundred and twenty miles, through first-class fare is thirty-five shillings—say nine dollars. On the New York and Eric, from New York to the west end of Suspension Bridge, in Canada, distance unwards of four hundred and fifty miles, in drawing room coach, the fare is nine dellars and twenty-five cents. Wo ride in by far the more elegant coaches on the Erie than here in England, and at only one half the cost. We ride as fast, too, on the Eric as in England, about thirty-nine miles in either case. In smoothness there is no comparison Mot.on on the New York and Eric is like rolling on oil; but here we rattle in our seats like tin pails in a wheelbarrow-Here there are four wheels under a coach, on the New York and Erie twelve! Here one wheel failing necessitates dis-aster; on the Erie we can spin off from one to six, and, if judiciously selected, the coach is still mobile and not a wreck. Hero it is difficult to talk, and impossible to write on the Eric I do both quite intelligibly. I am proudly sur-prised, after an absence of some years, to find an English railway no longer superior to others in the world in any particular that affects a traveller—no, not even in the matter of dust and ashes."
