

ENERGY.

For Everyone.

Entered at Berlin, P. O. as second class mail matter.

VOL. 1. BERLIN SEPTEMBER, 1899. NO. 5.

QUICK PROFITS.

Though a good deal has been said about the large sums of money made by buying a great number of stamps and holding them for a raise, you hardly ever hear of large profit being made on a small number of cheap stamps held for a few months only. However examples of this kind are not so rare as might be expected. Following is a fair example: In a Canadian stamp paper at the beginning of last summer some stamps were seen advertised at at one cent each. They were the following, two cent and five cent Canadian jubilee, three cent and five cent Newfoundland Cabot issue, two cent orange and six cent new issue Newfoundland, two cent orange and five cent blue Newfoundland, long stamps. Notice the advertisements in the current papers and see for what you can now purchase them. You will notice that you cannot now buy them for less than from two to ten times what they then cost. Although no great sum of money would have been made the rate per-cent of gain would be about five hundred. Not so bad is it?

Two Extracts from Lewis' Lie.

Mosquito netting may be safely laid aside until another season. Mosquitoes are tropical birds who thrive on a warm climate and the inhabitants thereof. It would take something more than a search warrant to find anything tropical about our climate for the next few months.

First Turkey—What do you think about Thanksgiving, anyhow?

Second Turkey—Don't ax me.