REPORT.

The show of vegetables, &c., considering the unfavorable weather on exhibition day, was reasonably good as regards number of entries. In quality many articles did not come up to the standard of former years; for instance Mangolds, Turnip and Egyptian Beets, Carrots and Turnips, most of which testified to the lack of seasonable rains. Potatoes, which were quite plentifully represented, seemed to have been slightly restricted as to size from the same cause, but their deficiency in this respect is no doubt amply compensated by their superior quality.

There was a large number of squashes of various kinds, and a rather singular circumstance is noticeable in connection with this vegetable. Of the ten or twelve different sorts exhibited, more than half were labelled "Hubbard." In some instances two squashes were paired of entirely different kinds, and yet marked "Hubbard." The confusion probably arises from the use of seed from squashes which have grown promiscuously with other sorts, and points to the absolute necessity of keeping as far apart as possible vines from which it is intended to preserve the seed. They had even better not be in the same enclosure.

Onions were conspicuous by their absence. Celery was the best we have seen at any of the Society's Exhibitions, though the number of entries was not large. There is reason to believe that many fine samples were not brought forward on account of the evil aspect of the weather, and the Committee hope for better luck and a better show next time.

C. W. SMITH,
JAS. JEFFERY,
Committee.

3rd do., Jos. Burrell	25
Sunflower. Mammoth, Special Prize, Robt. Hunter	1.00

REPORT.

The number of entries in this Class is inferior to that of any former year. This may be probably owing to the unfavorable state of the weather, which may have prevented exhibitors from bringing forward their productions.

The apples shown were superior to any of those heretofore exhibited. Only one variety of plums—the Bradshaw—was offered, grown in this town, very large and of excellent flavor, and deserves special mention.

For the Committee,
J. W. MOODY, Chairman.

REPORT.

Your Committee have to state that the scarcity of articles shown in this Class made it quite difficult to decide as to the propriety of awarding prizes.

We would urge the importance of continued striving after excellence in all the articles of food represented in this department. The Wheat, Rye and Indian and Corn Bread, form about all the breads in general use, and to have our County number one in these articles, is a "consummation devoutly to be wished." We think the Preserves and Jellies can scarcely be improved upon. Honey exhibited was excellent. Your Committee have not
