

"AND IF I should die, dear," said a sick husband, "will you sometimes visit my grave?"

"Yes, John," she replied brokenly, "every pleasant Sunday afternoon, and I will take the children. Poor little things, they don't have very much to enjoy!"—Epoch.

JONES (who has not been asked)—"Ullo! Another of those big crushes at Lady Gath-erum's, where I'm told the butler is allowed to invite his own particular friends. You were there, of course!"

BROWN (who has)—"Yes—and you weren't. I suppose the butler had to draw the line somewhere."—Punch.

"PAPA, what is a doubtful State?" asked little Freddy, who has been looking over the political news. "Marriage is a doubtful state, my son," answered Brown with a humorous twinkle in his eye as he looked at his better half. "Don't you think so, Mrs. Brown?" "No, I don't think it's a state at all," she answered. "To me it always seemed like a territory." Brown was silent.—Detroit Free Press.

THERE is a famous brand of oatmeal called the "three minute," because it takes that length of time to prepare it. But after a while the manufacturer will be wild when a rival oatmealster breaks the record and gets out a 2.43¼ brand. The record may be broken again and again, until it gets down to 2.08; and then the manufacture of this delicious breakfast cereal will be known and considered only under the head of sport.—Puck.

Send stamp for circulars describing this new treatment to A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 King Street West, Toronto, Canada.
