

not cripple any existing activities.

(f) Extension of University Activities

Outside lecturing and attention to industrial research should be maintained but this department is strongly opposed to any embarkation into fields of activity until the present activities of the University are raised to their full measure of efficiency.

A. Shee

13.3.31