

P R E F A C E.

Circumspection in Detail, which could not have been expected, but from one, who had been personally engaged in many of them. For these we must acknowledge our Obligation to Capt. JOHN KNOX, Author of the Historical Journal of the Campaigns in North America, and without whose Assistance we should not have been able to give these Additions to this Work; which, to the Veteran will be pleasing, and to the young Soldier useful in instructing him in the Duties of that Command, to which he may hope to arrive. It is not to be supposed these Additions are confined merely to the Gentlemen of the Military Profession, as every Man of desirable Feelings must be curious respecting the Circumstances, that lead to wrest the Empire of North America from France, to place it under the Dominion of the British Government, adding such Weight and Importance to her Interests, and Glory to her Arms, as but few Kingdoms have experienced.