WHEAT PRICES FALL ON CHICAGO MARKET

News of Torpedoing of Lusi- Large Supply on Market Was tania Causes Tremendous Selling in Pit.

Semi-Panic on Confirmation of News.

CHICAGO. May 7.—Free selling of wheat took place today after news came of the torpedoing of the Lusi-tania. Previously, aitho the market tania. Previously, although the market tania.

the first reports were received about the Lusitania that the price of wheat tell the effects to any extent. When the news was actually confirmed, however, the market dropped quickly about it a bushel in addition to earlier declines. Many holders unloaded with a haste that bordered on semipanic, a number of traders apparently pumping at conclusions that export shipments might be lessened by a higher rate of vessel insurance or by their disturbing consequences.

Bearish trae Report.

The government trop figures regarding wheat turned out 18,000,000 bushels higher on the suggested yield than had been generally estimated here.

The efficial figures, tho, were not available until after trading hours, and also not directly modify prices. d not directly modify prices. Corn was relatively firm the greater part of the day, but gave way when wheat broke in carnest. The comparative strength earlier was attri-buted to Argentine crop damage reports and to assertions that domestic planting was being hampered by too Oats had little if any independent action. Opinions were expressed that the chief producing states had ample voisture for some time to come. Weakness of hogs and grain spread to provisions. The resulting declines were in the face of good support from packers.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAD, May 7.-The foreign demand for all grades of wheat today was poor and business is quiet. The local trade in coarse grains was also quiet, the demand being only for odd cars of oats at steady pieces. There continues to be a steady demand from foreign buyers for spring wheat flour, and sales of 10.000 scales were model. and sales of 10.000 sacks were made for June shipment to London. The local market is quiet and unchanged.

A fairly active trade continues to be done in milifeed.

The undertone of the butter market s firmer with a good steady demand for all supplies coming forward.

Cheese strong. Demand for eggs good at firm prices.

There was one load of market years.

Straw brought on the market years.

BRITISH NUMBERS STRONG IN FRANCE

Important Tactical Lessons French Writer Says Large Proportion of Kitchener's Army in Second Line.

TO BE MILLION SOON

Reinforcements Forwarded at Rate of Thirty Thousand Men Weekly.

PARIS, May 8 .- An interesting calculation of the approximate strength of the British forces in France appears in The Economiste Français. from the pen of Paul Leroy Beaulieu. the famous economist and statesman. He takes Lloyd George's statement that the British forces in France are equivalent to 36 divisions. Some French newspapers, he says, have supposed that a British division numbers 20,000 men, and that in consequence the total in question is 720,000 men-

"This figure," he says, "is, in my opinion, exaggerated and it would be nearer the truth to give 15,000 men with a division, the more so as this figure fits in with the declaration of took a light route march. Extended order drill with signals was the work mapped out on the syllabus, but as the day's operations were cut short by the heavy rain, the full program could not be carried out. Valuable points were brought out in the morning's lecture on scouting, the dispositions of the course different ways of additional and the second of these are not at the front. of these are not at the front. "The French communique of April 26 neasures the western front at 950 kilometres. Any calculatio nof this kind is difficult, for the front consists not seem to occupy appreciably more than but a few odd kilometres. From this we are entitled to conclude that if the British effectives in Frazice have risen to 550,000 or 600,000 men and still more, if they have reached a higher figure, that about two-thirds of them must needs be still in the second line or in camps. Nevertheless our line or in camps. Nevertheless our allies' troops are growing continually in numbers. The British Government, in order to facilitate the transport of troops, suspended a short time ago regular services between England and Holland. We may hope more and more that the British forces that are cooperating with our troops will attain the effective so often indicated, of a million of men, and that that strength will be kept up."
