NATIONALISTS INCLINE TO BORDEN

Will Support Conservative Candidates in Constituencies Where There Are No Nationalist Standard-Bearers—No Government Acclamations—Langlois Kickers After Dandurand.

MONTREAL, July 31.—(Special).—The organization of the two parties is now well under way, although the government have done nothing to satisfy the Langlois kickers, who ask that Senator Dandurand shall be replaced or assisted so that the Liberal committee may be more representative. The Nationalists are out against Laurier all along the line, and Le Devol publishes a furious article this evening entitled, "The End of a Regime," declaring that if Sir Wilfrid dissolved parliament it was solely to escape the results of the Oliver investigation or to get away from answering questions to the imperial conference. It is understood that Bourassa and his friends will support the Conservative candidates where there are no Nationalist standard-bearers, and they will be no acclamations on the government side of the fence.

QUEBEC SHIES AT LAURIER

Strength of French Canadian Premier Waning in the Lower Provinces. "Sir Wilfrid Laurier will not have a solid Quebec behind him after the coming election," said Clarence J. McCaul, banker and broker of Montreal, to The World yesterday. "Sir Wilfrid has lost strength in Quebec ever since his navy plan was made known," continued Mr. McCaul. "Bourassa and Lavergne, both young men, are looked upon by the French-Canadians as the natural successors of Sir Wilfrid, whose reign is run. The French-Canadians fear what would follow the passing of Sir Wilfrid. They do not fancy Mr. Fielding as the successor of Laurier. They want one of their own, Bourassa or Lavergne. And if it is necessary to defeat Laurier to achieve this end, they will defeat him. Quebec is coming back to her first love, the Liberal-Conservatives," concluded Mr. McCaul.

JUST LOOKING ROUND.

Al. Gilroy, manager of the Winnipeg branch of the T. Eaton Co., is in the city for a few days. He has wholly recovered from his indisposition of six months ago, when he had to go to San Francisco to recuperate from overwork. He is in the finest of physical and mental condition now. ARE YOU A RECIPROCIARIAN? Reciprociarians are people who believe in "give and take." So are reciprociats. So are reciprociats. But Joe Clark says the reciprociarians are the real aristocrats of the cult. They have the sentiment grammatically extended according to the best authorities on terminology. We believe in reciprocity—the rule to give and take—but where does reciprocity appear, for instance, in the negotiations which result in you acquiring one of Dineen's two, two-fifty, three or three-fifty straw-hats for one dollar. There certainly is no profit in the transaction for Dineen's-hatters and furriers—or, Yonge and Temperance-streets. The advantage is all to the purchaser. That is why Dineen's are reciprociarians. They want better retail trade prices for hats. In the meantime, the dollar prices continue to prevail.

Coils of Evidence Ignition Around Missing Griccio

Testimony at Inquest Showed Bad Blood Had Existed Between Himself and Murdered Man—Police Scour City in Fruitless Search.

MEN HAD TALKED OF FIGHTING DUEL

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Frank Griccio on a charge of murdering Frank Tarro at the corner of Front and Church-streets on Sunday afternoon. Griccio for the past two years has lived with a young French woman named Rosa Brunet at 175 Jarvis-street, who gave evidence at the inquest last evening to the effect that Griccio and Tarro had quarrelled on more than one occasion, and that he carried a revolver of 38 calibre because he feared a man whom he did not like. Griccio had been in the hands of the police before on a charge of having stolen property. It is said that the trouble was due to money matters, and that Tarro was deeply in debt to the accused. Yet another story is to the effect that a woman is at the bottom of the case, and that Griccio and Tarro were rivals. It appears that Tarro and Griccio set out from the restaurant in York-street to meet in a duel, but changed their minds and returned to the boarding house good friends. They started out again, and the next heard of them at the York-street house was that Tarro had been murdered. Vanished in the Air. So far there is no trace of Griccio, the fifty telegrams and pamphlets have been sent broadcast by the detective department. Word has been sent to nearly every place where it is thought the assassin might be concealed. All last night the police and detective force was keeping a strict watch of the exits from the city and a constant watch has been kept on some Italian houses where it was thought the assassin might be concealed. The disappearance of Griccio, the police believe, is good evidence against him. He has not appeared since the time he and Tarro left the restaurant in the afternoon, and yesterday morning Rosa Brunet went out in search of him. Continued on Page 7, Column 2.

FIRE IN ASYLUM AT HAMILTON

Practically All Male Wing Destroyed—Inmates Safe—Origin of Blaze is Unknown.

HAMILTON, Aug. 1.—The Hamilton Asylum is in the grasp of the fire fiend. The origin of the fire is as yet unknown. The male wing is practically destroyed but all the inmates have been removed without loss of life and are being removed to Toronto. The fire is still raging and the entire building may be destroyed.

Premier H. Asquith To Advise Creation Of Fifty New Peers

Meanwhile the Veto Bill Will Not Reappear in the Commons—Debate Resumes August 7.

LONDON, July 31.—The political crisis over the veto bill has undergone a slight modification, as the cabinet to-day decided to postpone the re-appearance of the bill before the house of commons until Aug. 7. Present anticipations point to the hearing of the breach in the Unionist ranks. Lord Lansdowne and his followers, who favor the bill, and the Halsburyites, who are opposed to it, will meet to-morrow night in full force at a complimentary dinner to the Unionist party's late hero, Sir Alexander Acland Hood, who is now known as Lord St. Austrey.

At this dinner Mr. Balfour, the leader of the opposition in the house of commons, is expected to make a speech in an effort to pave the way for a modus vivendi between the opposing sections of the party. As a matter of fact both sides appear to be tending to the direction, Lord Willoughby De Broke, who is organizing the insurgents to-day for the first time admitted that his party had gained no accessions in strength. Lord Lansdowne to-night issued a letter discountenancing the idea of any Unionist peers voting in the government lobby for the veto bill. This belated decision on the part of Lord Lansdowne probably means that he has secured sufficient support to make the Halsburyites powerless against the votes of the Liberal peers, and that therefore there is no longer any necessity for Viscount St. Austrey to come to the government's assistance, as it was rumored he would do by taking into the government lobby sufficient Unionist peers to out-vote the Halsburyites in case they challenged a division. That the tension has lessened is shown by the fact that King George has decided to remain at Cowes for the rest of the week. There is still a strong belief in the lobbies of parliament, however, that Premier Asquith, in order to guard against surprises, will nominate a batch of about fifty peers before again trusting the veto bill to the house of lords.

FIRE IN DRY GOODS STORE.

Fire, which broke out in the King drygoods store at the corner of Queen-street and Dovercourt-road, early this morning, did $200 damage to the building and $1500 to the contents. A defective wire was the cause.

LIBERAL CAMP IN CONFUSION ON EVE OF ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Party Torn With Dissension Over Militia Portfolio Hon. Frank Oliver Laid Claim to the Appointment on the Ground That It Belongs to the West of Right, But He Was Beaten by Fielding Influence.

CONSERVATIVE FORCES IN GOOD FIGHTING TRIM

OTTAWA, July 31.—(Special).—The Laurier cabinet sets out upon a general election campaign with a fierce family row on. Even the commands of the prime minister have failed to keep the ministers from talking about it. And all Ottawa to-day has heard the story. It has to do with the appointment of Sir Frederick Borden as Canadian High Commissioner in London and the elevation of E. M. MacDonald of Picou, N. S., to a place in the cabinet. The trouble broke out at the council meeting on Saturday, when the sudden dissolution was decided upon, and this now was the real reason why Hon. Frank Cochrane went out of the meeting alone. The story that the minister of the interior left after standing out for a later dissolution after the meeting of the two portfolios which Nova Scotia has succeeded in retaining in spite of the minister's vacating one of the portfolios for his district as an offset to the government's failure to give the west the redistribution for which it has been clamoring. Oliver Cheekmated.

This proposal was stoutly resisted by the minister of finance, and the Fielding influence proved sufficiently powerful to carry the day, despite the fact that a number of the other ministers sided with Mr. Oliver. It was the case of a minister high in the Laurier favor exercising strength against a minister whose indefensible position in respect to the graft charges has made him an additional danger to the Laurier cause. Mr. Oliver lost, but he did not lose until after a hot verbal war, which is even said to have once reached the stage of an incipient fist fight. With this squabble on his hands and everybody in Ottawa talking about it, Sir Wilfrid Laurier begins his last campaign in the country under highly unfavorable auspices.

A very different condition of things prevails in the opposition camp. With the opening of the campaign strong men from all over Canada are flocking to the Borden standard, and the Conservative party goes into the battle absolutely united, enthusiastic and better organized than ever before. The Sifton statement, issued this morning, is a severe jolt to the government. Mr. Sifton will fight the government and the government's policy, but he does not ally himself with the opposition as a candidate for re-election. The departure of Premier McBride to send around the flaming arrow on the Pacific slope, was followed to-day by the arrival of Hon. Robert Rogers from Winnipeg and Hon. Frank Cochrane from Toronto. Messrs. Rogers and Cochrane were in conference with the leader of the opposition most of the day, and will leave Ottawa to throw themselves into the anti-reciprocity contest in their respective provinces. On the eve of other general elections, R. L. Borden has found himself practically alone. To-day he is surrounded by men of proven ability as political

PORCUPINE MAY PROVE EQUAL OF RABBIT

Fire Has Checked Mining Activities but Recovery is Being Rapidly Made and Cobalt's Greatness Pales in Comparison—Fresh Discoveries Indicate Immense Gold-bearing Area.

Porcupine as a mining camp has usurped the position held by Cobalt. Not only has the Ontario gold camp done this; it has excelled Cobalt's interest in its palmy days, and as yet Porcupine is but a few months' old in the public eye.

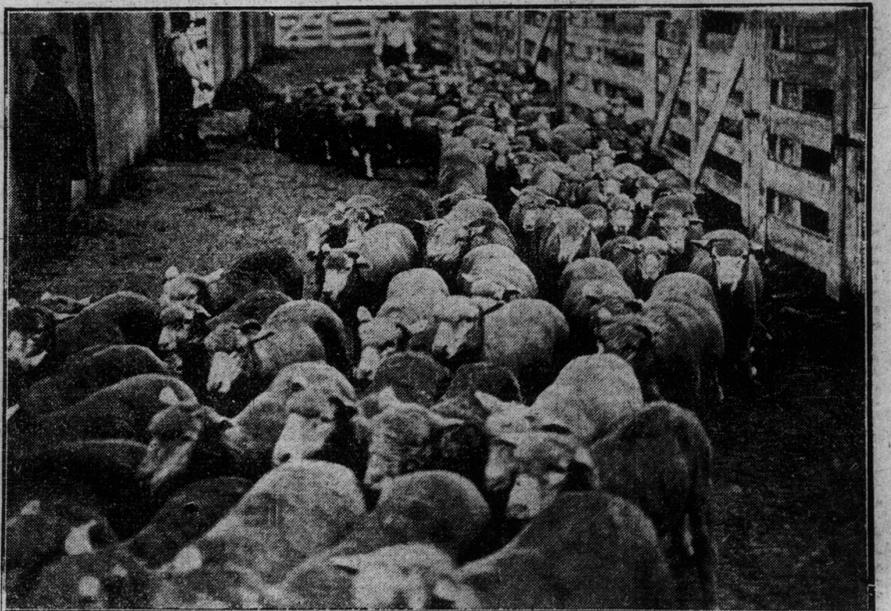

It is not difficult to account for this. Gold is a magnet of impelling force, appealing to all nationalities, and more so to those who know it to be the handmaiden of prosperity and a necessity to continued commercial expansion. The importance of the Porcupine discoveries cannot be too highly estimated. These have come at a time when Canada demands gold in big volume to keep pace with the development in all parts of the Dominion. South Africa produces $250,000,000 of the yellow metal yearly. If Porcupine can rival this, as some believe, what an impetus will be given to Canada, and getting nearer home, imagine its influence on the early future of Toronto! A recent visit made to Porcupine by the writer confirms much that has already been written of the camp. It also served to show that much money will be needed for development and plants, before the precious metal can be extracted from its hiding place and put into circulation in the arts and in coinage.

Gold Bricks Delayed. As an instance of this it might be cited that the Big Dome had plans to spend over $1,000,000 before attempting to produce gold bricks. A large part of this money had already been spent before the disastrous fire, and one of the finest plants in the world for extracting gold now lies in ruins. One feels compelled to sigh at the sight of the wreck of six immense boilers and huge expanding plant, to say nothing of the losses of subsidiary machinery. But the loss is not material, when only one ore body at the Dome is considered. This immense quartz reef, occupying an area of four acres, has been proved to a depth of 700 feet, and is variously estimated to contain gold to the value of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000. This, as has been many times stated, is the wonder showing of Porcupine. The ore body rises above the level of the surrounding ground from 20 to 40 feet, and can be seen as a beacon standing out as a huge white body for miles distant. "Plastered with gold" is a term too frequently used in describing the Porcupine gold veins. The Dome ore body is not disparaged when the statement is made that it is with some difficulty that visible gold can be seen. Mining experts regard this as a benefit rather than a detriment. Small veins with a plentiful sprinkling of visible gold are not always an evidence of a paying mine, but an ore body of large dimensions with an average of even $10 to
