There was an early cable saying there a rumor that Russia would suspend exports of wheat.

Wheat—Foreign news this morning indicated a slight tendency to anxiety, due to smaller world's shipments than expected in the last month. Prices were materially higher in Liverpool, cash wheat being especially strong. Domestic advice was neutral in tone, and opening prices showed a slight advance. Producers are expected to be well satisfied and are poised to secure profits on long wheat contracts.

support, and it soon became evident that the leading bulls were not only replacing wheat sold earlier, but were inclined to increase their fines. The government report for the week just ended was also favorable than expected, indicating a total crop of winter and spring wheat of nearly 700,000,000 bushels, caused a fractional rise in prices, the market closing barely steady.

Corn continued to manifest independent strength, and despite fear realizing sales, the market advanced during the entire session. Before the close the demand became more urgent and prices advanced sharply. The government report, showing a condition of 80 for oats, caused some speculation that the advance was not maintained at the close.

Wheat—After a few sharp fluctuations wheat closed about 5c lower than the previous day. The government report, which the trade expected would come about fifteen minutes before the close, hardly gave traders a chance to reflect upon it. To-morrow's market will probably be dominated by the government report. In our opinion, based on private reports, we consider the government report does not give the true condition of affairs in the wheat market. The states developed after the government has finished their work. In fact, the report of to-day, in our opinion, is not a bearish one. It shows at the moment less wheat in the hands of the government than we tell you the same story again that we are believers in wheat around present prices that we believe it is worth the money for
