Watchman Discovers Burglars in Simcoe Postoffice and Blazes Away.

Simcoe, Oct. 25 .- Yesterday about 1 o'clock burglars entered the postoffice at this place. An entrance was gain-ed by prying open the window at the rear of the building, and after getting inside the burglars encountered a par-tition about seven or eight feet high. One of them climbed upon a shelf and lighted a match and looked around, at the same time saying "all right." But things were not all right, for at this moment the watchmen commenced shooting at a very lively rate, and the midnight callers were forced to leave very hurriedly without any spoil.

A RICH CLERGYMAN.

Toronto, Oct. 25 .- Rev. Thomas Lawrence Stayner, of Stubton rectory, Lincolnshire, England, who died in March last, left a large Ontario estate. His will was filed for probate in the surrogate office here yesterday, and gives the following details of his estate in this province: Moneys secured by mortgage, $55,189; bank and other stocks, $21,164 25; cash in bank, $6.743 04; real estate, $2,000; total, $85,096 29. Mrs. Ruth Amelia P. Stayner and the children of deceased, all residing in England, are the principal beneficiaries. The sum of £200 is left to Miss Maude Robarts, governess to deceased's children, and £100 to his cook, Charlotte Fawkes.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION Recommends Dr. A. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in the American Journal of Health of February 19, says:

Among the proprietary medicines deserving recognition is 'Dr. Chase's Ointment, compounded by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, as a remedy for sores, eruptions and skin diseases of all kinds, for which it has been used with marked success, and has effected remarkable cures in many obstinate cases, which seemed to baffle the skillful medical attendant. The results were most favorable, proving the value of 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' as a curative agent in the diseases named. The manufacturers of the remedy are well known as experienced pharmacists, careful and reliable, in addition to which we have made full examination, and find the article to be all that is claimed for it. "We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requirements of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we indorse it to every reader." "C. M. HARLAN, M.D."

New and Important Evidence Introduced.

Joseph Graham Cross-Examined by Prisoner's Counsel.

Sticks to the Story of the Man in His Shirt Sleeves Scuffling With the Policeman.

A Port Huron Engineer Identifles the Prisoner.

Saw Him About 7:30 on the Morning of the Murder at the Sarnia Tunnel.

Tuesday Morning.

After a rest of two days, Marion Brown, the peg-legged tramp charged with the murder of P. C. Michael Toohey, appeared again in the police court this morning and the preliminary examination was resumed. The crowd in the court room was very little smaller than that which thronged the place on Saturday. The same interest was manifested, the same curiosity to see the prisoner was apparent, the buzz in the court just as annoying, the air just as unpleasant, as on the previous days of the proceedings. The prisoner wore a clean white shirt and appeared very comfortable. He smiles occasionally, but not so much as he did during the first two days.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY INFORMED OF BROWN'S PREDICAMENT.

Mr. McPhillips told the reporters this morning that he had received a letter from the American authorities yesterday stating that President McKinley had been apprised of the contents of the letter concerning Marion Brown, and prisoner's counsel expects a communication from the president in a day or two. Nothing concerning the case has been received from the Canadian authorities.

JOSEPH GRAHAM.

Joseph Graham, the last witness examined on Saturday, was re-called this morning and was cross-examined by prisoner's counsel. He was taken over his evidence as elicited by County Crown Attorney Magee on Saturday and confirmed the greater part of it. Witness said he was fifteen years of age and going to school, but his idea of distances proved very erroneous. Some of the distances he was asked about, he described as decidedly small, but admitted it would not surprise him if they proved to be four times as great. Young Graham repeated his statement of Saturday regarding the tramp, and the policemen, on Ontario street, and, hearing the shot fired after the scuffle. He thought he heard the policeman say after the shot, "Here! here! there!" This was followed by the second shot. Witness could not be diverted from his statement regarding the attitude of the form in the white shirt. It stood facing south, with the left arm extended full length before like the prisoner. Witness was quite Witness could not say who fired the shots. He saw the flash, and saw nothing of the form in the white sleeves after that. Mr. Magee took the witness in hand and straightened out some points upon which he had become somewhat confused.

JOHN COLEMAN. John Coleman, of Port Huron, Mich.

engineer in the employ of the St. Clair Tunnel Company, was called to the stand a little out of the order, as originally arranged, to enable him to return to his work today. Witness said he had heard of Policeman Toohey's death the morning after it occurred. The morning of that day he (witness) was going to work in Port Huron at 8 o'clock.

Q.-Did you see a one-legged man?

Q.-Where was he? A.-He was standing against the door of the boiler room about 7:30 a.m. Q .- Could you say whether the prisoner is the man? A .- He is the identical man. Q .- Did you see him again that day? Witness said he had seen the prisoner in company with a companion, shorter than Marion Brown was. They both washed in the boiler room. Witness again saw the prisoner from the eastern summit of the tunnel at Sarnia. Prisoner was sitting on the bank of a ditch parallel with the Sarnia branch track. He was dressed in dark clothes and wore a black slouch hat.

The witness then pointed to the hat lying on the court table (the one found on the night of the murder), and said, "It was one like that."

Mr. McPhillips put the witness through a long cross-examination. Witness could not say what day of the week it was when he heard of the murder, and did not remember the month. He described the prisoner as he appeared on the morning he had seen him. Witness had seen a picture of the peg-leg in the papers and remarked at the time that it was a pretty good picture of the one-legged man he had seen at Sarnia the day Toohey was shot. He had not read the description of the man in the paper. He had seen many tramps on the railroad, as he had been fifteen years an engineer.

Q.-And you see many colored ones? A.—No—very few black ones.
Witness had not seen the prisoner from the time he was at the tunnel four months ago until today in the court room. Q .- You will positively swear that this is the man you saw at Sarnia, be-yond a shadow of a doubt? A.—I will positively ewear that this is the man saw in the boiler-room at Port Huron, and to whom I said "Good morning," on the morning of the day the policeman was shot in London, beyond all doubt. I could pick him out of ten Q.—Did you ever hear that song, that "All niggers look alike?" A.—No; niggers don't look alike.

Q .- So you don't believe the words of that song? A.-No, because I lived three years among them.

Witness was positive about seeing the prisoner at Sarnia some time near noon, because he came ever on the dairy train, and that went over about noon. He was positive about the left leg being off, and thought the first time he saw prisoner that the latter was a man of very great misfortune.

FLANNELETTE ...CHAT...

There must be some good reason why lady citizens come here for their cold weather supplies. It is not because we give longer yards than other dealers—we are satisfied of this. The merchants of London all give honest measure, we firmly believe. Then, why is it that we have sold such great quantities of Flannelette this season? The reason is plain: Heavier material and more yards for a dollar. You get value all the way round at this store.

While thus engaged, witness saw a one-legged man drop from between two freight cars; the man was a short distance away, and jumped into an empty box car on the train that was made up, ready to be pulled through the tunnel. Witness shouted at the tramp, and told him he would be arrested if he went to the other (the Canadian) side. The prisoner wore dark clothes, a soft black hat, and a tlight-colored shirt. LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; certainly believe it saved my life. was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

FAGGED OUT .- None but those who have become fagged out know what a dépressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

If you are ill you need a doctor in whom you have confidence.

If you need a remedy you want one that has been tested for years; not an obscure, untried thing that is urged upon you, or on which you save a few cents—that is no consid-

ROBBED BY HIS PARTNER

Over Ten Years Ago-Now Judge Finkle May Get Back His Own.

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 25 .- Judge Finkle left yesterday for Missouri, where he hopes to establish proof that one George C. Miller, at one time of Tilsonburg, is dead.

His honor holds insurance policies to the extent of $15,000 on Miller's life, and will benefit to this amount if Miller's death can be established. Miller was at one time in partnership with Judge Finkle in the lumber business. In 1887 he left the country suddenly, and the judge lost considerable money through the alleged dishonest transactions of his partner. As security the judge has held ever since the insurance policies, but despite the expenditure of much time and money, Miller could never be located. About a month ago Father Brady, of London, found what are supposed to be proofs that Miller died recently in Geneva, Mo.
