War Not Ended Until Ratification and Official Announcement, Borden Explains.

Ottawa, June 30.—Peace will be celebrated in Canada on formal proclamation that the war is at an end. Mr. Bureau asked in the House this morning if it was intended to celebrate the signing of the peace treaty. Sir Robert Borden replied that the signing of the treaty did not bring about peace. That could be only accomplished by ratification and by proclamation. Under the terms of the treaty the proclamation could not be made until three of the allied powers had concurred in the ratification. It was thought by the Dominion Government that the most appropriate time for a peace celebration would be when peace was proclaimed.

as the close of the chapters of war and armistice. He feels that in the treaty we have not achieved the real peace to which our peoples have been looking. He believes the real work of making peace will only begin after the treaty is stigned. The treaty is simply a liquidation of the war situation. The promise of the new life and victory of great human ideals and the fulfillment of their aspirations towards the new international order, and a fairer threaty, and will not be written in treaties. A new spirit of generosity and humanity born in the hearts of the peoples can alone solve the poblems of the conference which the statesmen of the conference which the statesmen of the conference found too hard.

Gen. Smuts asserts that two achievements of far-reaching importance are definitely recorded in the treaty, hamely, the destruction of Prussian militarism and the institution of the League of Nations. He is confident the latter will yet prove the means of escape for Europe from the ruin created by war. The South African minister regrets that the abolition of militarism is confined to the enemy.
