FOLLOW BRITISH LEAD PREMIER TELLS ALLIANCE

Better Than Emulating U.S. Legislation—Defends the Three-Fifths Clause.

Altho the purport of Premier Whitney's remarks to the temperance delegation of 300 that waited upon him yesterday from the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance was not regarded generally as a signal to them, still the president, Jos. Gibson of Ingersoll, when he returned to tell the result of the conference to his followers in Elmwood Methodist Church, said the government's reply looked exceedingly promising.

He did not dwell upon the conference to any length, however, confining himself more to a review of the work of the year.

The deputation asked the government for the abolition of the three-fifths clause, the bar, the treating system and club licenses. They were not there to scold or complain, but to enforce, had done everything necessary for the permanency of local option.

In retaining the three-fifths clause, tho, they were paying too high a price for the alleged permanency in this respect. The Whitney administration was told the government would do it if they didn't grant the requests.

The premier curtly acknowledged the good and honest words that had been uttered in an effort to put down the evils of the liquor traffic; but the government was going to continue in its own way to lessen the evils of which "we are all the enemies."

He didn't desire to introduce politics into the conference. Politics was introduced a year ago when Dr. Carman made the threat, "We are in politics," but the people settled that at the last election.

Referring to their plea against the three-fifths clause, the premier said: "What do you want? You mean by not having a majority vote to elect the officers of your churches? Why do you elect a majority? You are requiring more than a majority vote? Why do you hug it to your bosoms, and then come to us and tell us to give you the majority vote on local option contests? You tell us that we must not use the very system you are now using to elect your officers."

The applicants had mentioned certain legislation passed in the United States that looked good to them and they had been told that the government would do it. He pointed out that in Ontario, instead of the three-fifths clause, the government had made it a misdemeanor for a married woman to wear feathers in her hair.

Varsity Orchestra IN SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

Music Lovers Enjoy First Program of Band Last Night in Convocation Hall.

Unfortunate inclemency of the weather last night undoubtedly decreased the attendance at Convocation Hall when the Toronto University Orchestra gave its annual concert.

But where students are there also is enthusiasm. The orchestra was assisted by Madame Leola Rowe Wyatt, soprano, Frank Halbhauz (concert-master) and Cecily Smith, accompanist. The personnel of the band numbered seventy instrumentalists, who hampered themselves with those relics of feudalism, students' gowns.

As for the concert itself, it may sincerely be said that it was indeed well worth hearing, and was thoroughly enjoyed. The program opened with the "Keter-Bela Overture," Liszt's Op. 73. And the band demonstrated the excellent musicianship of Conductor Harold Meir, young, but modest and capable; for one was agreeably surprised at the orchestra's good tone in tutti passages, the really excellent precision in attack and the effective shading. The band, however, did not come off so well in the "Roguish Eyes." It was played somewhat raggedly and the violins were out of phase. The student body, however, to the rescue and performed a work more ambitious than professional orchestras might well envy.

In Allen's Idyll, "Sleepy Hollow" and the "Introduction to the woodwinds and brasses was played effectively, save that the clarinets were out of tune; the second section is structurally most interesting, and the first and second parts were played with a certain amount of spirit.

Wieniawski's "Mazurka Variations" was distinguished by the precision of the melody, with the violins playing an accompaniment in rapid pizzicato.
