left an autographed picture of himself that became a treasure of the wounded man.

Mackall's death brings to the institution its severest loss. For all the pity he inspired, for all the sympathy that was bestowed upon him, he was himself the most efficient agent for cheering others.

Many many regarded him as the saddest case, he never considered it such.

Leutenant Mackall had been receiving flowers regularly each week from Mrs. Harding, wife of the President, who became interested in his case when she was last in Baltimore. Last week a box of pink roses came by a special messenger, and only yesterday a personally written letter from Mrs. Harding was received, offering her regrets that his condition had not shown marked improvement.

Leutenant Mackall's spine was shattered, but what is figuratively called backbone—pluck—he had in abundance to the very end.

Leutenant Mackall was a son of Richard J. Mackall of Baltimore, and a nephew of John N. Mackall, chairman of the State Roads Committee. The family is from Southern Maryland.

BETTER THAN HARD COAL

Soft coal so free from soot that it does not make whiskeys on stove covers or pipe does not rust or cake when burning, is far better than Hard Coal for general household use. Quicker to light, takes less to make a fire, cheaper in price and can also be used for open fires and small heating stoves. Such a coal is Broad Cove soft coal. The main thing is to insist on getting the genuine article. No other soft coal burns just like Broad Cove. You will know it by the above characteristics.
