Refreshments were served during the evening. Among the numbers on the program were the following: Song, Vice-Commodore Holder and chorus; comic song, Mr. Punter; song, Mr. Bonnell; reading, Mr. Harding; song, Mr. Harrison and R. K. Y. ## Athletic

Powers Star Miller.

James E. Powers, of the Boston A. A. was one of the most prominent athletes developed this year in New England. He is distinctly a product of last summer's competition as he had competed but little in other years.

Starting with the city of Boston games, which were run on the common on July 4, Powers romped away from his field and won the mile event in 4 minutes 24.2 seconds, making a new record for the track. From then on the followers of outdoor athletics in and around Boston heard of him winning his event in all the meets in which he competed, and always in fast time.

Then came the New England track and field championships. Powers ran practically an exhibition mile for there were only two other athletes entered in the event. The sturdy little runner had set his mind upon lowering the New England record for the distance. After running what he thought was a record-breaking pace, he finished only to find himself a second behind the record, but he was yards ahead of the next man that finished.

Mandot Says He Will Win.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25.—That Joe Mandot is not worrying over the outcome of his second meeting with Joe Rivers at Vernon on Thanksgiving is very much in evidence around his quarters at Doyle's camp. The southern lad is always full of fun, is very ambitious to work and while not so engaged is gaily dancing around the camp.

"I am feeling great," said Mandot. "In fact, I never felt so good in my life, and taking all things into consideration, things never shaped up better for an opportunity to display all my boxing stunts than they do right now. I do not claim that I will stop Rivers within any certain number of rounds, but I do expect to beat him decisively."

He Wants $40,000.

Toledo, Nov. 25.—"I have made no plans for the future," said Roger Breanahan. "I am going to sit tight and let the owners of the Cardinals do all the worrying. I am not going to think of making plans with any other club till I collect at least $40,000 from St. Louis."

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

The case against Charles H. Hyde, charged with bribery, was continued in New York yesterday. He denied that as city chamberlain in 1909 he forced the Northern Bank to loan the Carnegie Trust Company a large sum of money by juggling with city deposits, and said that at the time that an alleged bribery conversation took place, he was at Long Island with his family. The counsel for the defense said he would seek to show that Robin, the state's chief witness, was insane.

Lucille Cameron, arrested several weeks ago in Chicago in connection with the Jack Johnson case, was yesterday released in bonds of $1,000. She was being held as a witness.

The Nova Scotia schooner "Arkona" was totally wrecked at Savannah La Mar during the recent hurricane in Jamaica. She was owned by W. C. Smith and others of Lunenburg. It is thought the crew are saved. In a serious explosion and fire in Brooklyn, N. Y., yesterday afternoon on the East River water front an area of nearly three blocks was swept and loss amounting to about $1,000,000 done. The explosion started in the Union Sulphur Company's building, and of seventy men at work a dozen or more were hurled in different directions. Fifteen are suffering in hospitals and some may die.

Presumably because of the pending announcement from Ottawa concerning the naval bill, the cruiser Niobe yesterday received orders to remain at Halifax until later word. She was to have sailed for England.

Joseph Rivard, who was thought to be missing from St. George, N. B., returned there last evening by train from Brunswick Junction. He had walked there, he said, because he thought it would do him good.

Fire was still burning in the hold of the steamer Tabaristan at Halifax yesterday. Forty men were engaged in trying to stamp out the flames. They have held away for five days. The fire is confined to the cargo of cotton which is valued at upwards of $50,000.

G. W. Price has been appointed chief train dispatcher of the I. C. R. at Moncton in place of H. B. Fleming, recently appointed assistant district superintendent.

UNITED EMPIRE LOYALISTS IN EDMONTON ORGANIZE

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 25.—Descendants of the United Empire Loyalists in Canada, living in Edmonton, have organized a local branch, with the following officers:

President, Mrs. Bryce J. Saunders, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Saunders; vice-president, L. F. Clarry; secretary-treasurer, Miss Anne Merrill, society editor of the Edmonton Journal; executive, Mrs. A. C. Carmichael, convener; S. A. C. Barnes, Mrs. John A. McDougall, Miss Louise Moore, Lieutenant Colonel Carstairs, Richard Second and Fred Carman. Investigating committee, Miss Anne Merrill, convener; Bailey Chamberlain, Mrs. E. J. Barnes, E. S. Clarry and Judge Taylor.

The plan is to interest every descendant of the Loyalists in the work. The annual membership fees are: Individual, $1; family, $2; out of town, fifty cents. The objects of the association are to unite together, irrespective of creed, political party, the descendants of those families who, during the American Revolutionary War of 1775 to 1783, sacrificed their homes in retaining their loyalty to the British crown, and to perpetuate this spirit of loyalty to the empire; to preserve the history and traditions of that important epoch in Canadian history, by rescuing from oblivion the history and traditions of the Loyalist families before it is too late, to collect together in a suitable place the portraits, relics and documents relating to the U. E. Loyalists, which are now scattered throughout the Dominion.

CONSERVATION OF RESOURCES

The following are extracts taken from a recent pamphlet issued by the Ontario Association for the conservation of our resources:

Natural resources are the backbone of national wealth and national prosperity. Value depends largely on demand; profits on cost of production and competition. Gold, silver and other minerals, one sold, cease to be national assets.

Lumber (once sold) ceases to be a national asset. It takes many years, and considerable good fortune, to reforest a district for commercial purposes.

The natural features of a country are the abiding assets, whose value is enhanced, and not diminished by use.

The more people you can bring into the province, even temporarily, the brisker trade will be, and the greater will be your turnover.

If the newcomers are tourists, with money in their pockets, to buy fresh air, health and sport, their expenditure must trickle through the whole community.

If you sell Ontario air and scenery to visitors from other provinces, or from abroad, at $100 per visitor, would you not think it good?

That is exactly what you are doing; but, the number of visitors is not nearly so great as might be.

In other countries, where natural features have an economical value, much is being done to realize the continuous profits which result from their exploitation.

For example, Switzerland thrives on its tourist traffic, attracted especially by its climate and scenery.

Italy on its tourist traffic, attracted by its climate and scenery, and especially by its historic and art associations.
