DIAMOND MAKER HAS DISAPPEARED Alleged Swindler Said to Have Fled from Paris Famous Formula Taken from Envelope and Excited the Laughter of the Court

PARIS, June 18.—This was the day upon which Henry Lemoine, the alleged diamond maker, who has been under arrest in Paris since last January, through, out on his most of the time, on a charge of swindling Sir Julius Wernher, of the De Beers Mining Co., out of a large sum of money by pretending to be able to make genuine diamonds, was to have appeared before Judge Politevin to produce a diamond of a certain size and shape, to prove that he could really make diamonds. He failed to appear and Judge Politevin, the examining magistrate, said that Lemoine had fled.

The comedy terminated today when the envelope containing the formula for making diamonds, which represented Sir Julius Wernher's security for $20,000 he advanced to Lemoine, was opened and found to contain nothing more valuable than the bottom found when Mme. Humbert's safe was opened. Sir Julius and his co-complainant, Feldensheimer, reached the law courts at 1 o'clock precisely. Judge Politevin arrived at 1.30. The latter was not surprised by the non-arrival of Lemoine, saying he had learned he had been missing since Monday evening. He had issued a warrant for his arrest last night.

LETTER FROM PREFECTURE.

Judge Politevin then invited the complainants into his office, where he found a letter from Lemoine, saying he was not coming to court, as he had failed in the St. Denis factory owing to the interference of his landlady. He intended to continue his studies elsewhere, and if he succeeded he would expect a diamond from Lemoine. He explained that Lemoine had not been under special surveillance, as he wished to give him perfect liberty for his experiments. He would now send the case before the Correctional Court, where Lemoine would be sentenced to imprisonment. If he were not arrested in that time the Statute of Limitations would apply.

SCHOONER COMRADE ASHORE AT RED HEAD

Vessel Left Here on Thursday for Apple River and in a Gale Was Blown Ashore.

The schooner Comrade is hard and fast ashore on the rocks near Red Head, not far from where the steamship Belgoia was wrecked. The vessel is owned by G. C. McHugh of Musquash who is also the skipper of the craft. She cleared the Custom House here on Tuesday for Apple River but did not get away until Thursday morning. When the vessel got outside she struck the gale which was blowing then and had some difficulty in keeping her course. Watchers from Reed's Point could see her trying first one tack and then the other in an effort to get clear of the outer harbor.

MARRIAGES

PARLANE-GROSS—June 18th, by the Rev. W. W. McMaster, pastor of Bernam street Baptist church, J. R. McParlane and Josephine Deane Gross.

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE IN INTERIOR OF THE PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL All the Rooms and Wards are Being Renovated and Refurnished---Additions to the Heating Plant---Many Changes Which Make the Place Like a Home.

Persons who visited the Provincial Hospital in Lancaster four or five years ago and who go back today, would scarcely recognize it as the same institution. During the past three years under the superintendence of Dr. Anglin the building has been transformed into a comfortable and attractive home, the changes being such as must be seen to be really appreciated. Not only have the fittings and furnishings been entirely removed but in the system of management there has been a revolution and the institution is now very much like a big hotel. It was seen years ago that great confusion would be caused and a very large amount of money would be necessary if the work of renovating and refurnishing were attempted all at once. Accordingly, with the full approval of the late government Dr. Anglin has been gradually refurnishing the entire building and has already succeeded so well that now more than half of the rooms and wards have been changed. In the women's portion of the building only one ward, and that a small one, is still to be refurnished. On the men's side more than half have been done. In the basement several sections have been greatly improved while others are now in the hands of workmen. In addition to all this, important changes have been made in some of the larger rooms and altogether the results are little short of astonishing. Most of the ceilings in the refurnished wards are being covered with plaster and creating a lot of dirt. The walls were all bare. The wood work in the corridors and the corridors generally looked like those of a jail. Uncovered electric wires ran along the ceilings and walls. Radiators stood where, giving the wards an unhealthy and disagreeable atmosphere. Big patches of plaster were falling everywhere, giving the wards an unhealthy and disagreeable atmosphere. Atravse patients have been closed, and one ward after another has received attention. The work has been greatly improved the appearance of the rooms. There are in the hospital a number of men who are good painters, one of them being an adept at graining. Under proper supervision they are doing excellent work in decorating the ceilings. The color scheme varies in each ward, blue and green, blue and red, brown and blue, and blue, green and brown being among the combinations.

The walls in all wards and rooms so far renovated have been covered with far removed a height of from four to six feet, this surface being painted a different color from that of the plaster. As rapidly as is convenient, hardwood floors are being put down. Most of the old floors were so worn clean and besides, owing to the numerous wide cracks, including holes in the floor, they were kept perfectly polished after being oiled and the rooms have been treated to floor, point and ceiling. The work is attractive indeed. The ceilings, like charity, cover a multitude of defects, including holes in the plaster and electric wiring. Overhead electric lamps covered by glass shades are being replaced by the new system of lighting a great improvement has been made. Formerly the lights in each individual room opening off a corridor were operated by a single switch. Under that arrangement if a nurse wished to look into or enter a patient's room during the night it was necessary to turn on the light in all the rooms. This awakened most of the patients. It is a single knob located just at the door so that the nurse may turn on the light in each room separately. This was a simple change but has proven very convenient. A new style of lock is also being put on the doors. It is a single knob set in just as an ordinary lock, but the inside of the door there is no catch of any kind. A patient locked in his room finds absolutely nothing on the door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open. The door by which he can pull it open.

THREATENS AN ACTION AGAINST SAMUEL J. AIDE

Richard Walsh Wants Settlement—Claims That He Was Falsely Arrested.

Mr. Samuel J. Aide, of the West Side, has a complaint about the police court. It appears that on April 24th, during a busy day at Sand Point, one of the lower windows in Mr. Aide's place of business was broken. On going out to make inquiries he was told that it had been broken by two men who had gone up street. Mr. Aide followed and came across Richard Walsh and Charles Osborne, the latter being under the influence of liquor. He spoke to them about the window and says he obtained no satisfaction he called Policeman Gouline and gave the men in charge. They appeared in court next day. Mr. Aide was unable to swear that they had broken the window but offered to produce witnesses. Walsh stated that Osborne was intoxicated and unable to go home alone. He took Osborne by the arm and was assisting him to walk when the window was smashed. Walsh was dismissed and Osborne was fined $4 for being drunk and ordered to pay for the glass. Mr. Aide has since received from Daniel Mullin, K. C., a letter intimating that unless a satisfactory settlement is made with him he will take action on behalf of Mr. Walsh for false arrest and imprisonment.

LEGLESS HERO SAVES TWO LIVES

Boys Upset From Boat in Gravel Pit, And a Young Fellow With No Legs, and Only Part of One Arm, Ploekily Rescued Them.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The World says today: With stumps for legs, a stump for a right arm and his left hand minus several fingers, Joseph Gilligan, 18 years old, swam to the rescue of two boys in a gravel pit pond where in an old boat in the pond which is near the Lockawanna Railroad tracks at Morris Plains. The pond is about the best deep at its greatest depth, and it was at this point the boys upset the boat while playing. Paterson could not swim and before he was dragged down, Monahan cried for help. Gilligan was sitting with other boys in the shade of a tree, but out of sight of the pond. He had been showing his friends the artificial limbs his parents had procured for him. He had unstrapped the limbs when he heard the cries for help. Not stopping to put them on Gilligan hurried to the pond. Plunging in, he swam to the spot where the boys were struggling, and grasped the two lads and pushed them apart. He then swam with one hand and pushed Paterson ashore. Returning Gilligan sought Monahan, who was sinking. The cripple also pushed him ashore. The two boys, grateful for his rescue, carried him to their home, where he received dry clothing. Gilligan ten years ago was run over by a trolley car in Brooklyn. He lost one leg above the knee and the other below the knee. His right arm was taken off at the elbow, and three fingers from his left hand. He learned to swim a few years ago.

AMSTERDAM, June 19.—The Woman Suffrage Congress today decided that the next congress shall be held in England. Invitations from Canada were declined, as it was agreed. England needed the most immediate support of the suffragists. There was some grumbling that most of the speeches were in English and so few in French or German. The foreign delegates found it difficult to understand the American voices. An enfranchised delegate from New Zealand assured her sisters of America and Great Britain that they were more likely to gain the right of suffrage by patience and intelligence than by agitating and going to prison. The English suffragist Thompson shouted a query, and the proceedings were momentarily interrupted. Testimony was given by enfranchised women from Australia, New Zealand and Finland to the effect that women voters often differ from their husbands politically without discord. They are always making efforts to secure social, educational and temperance reforms. It is not the Dutch, but the women, who have taken Holland. To the capital of the Netherlands, bearing the imprint of seven centuries, have flourished the most modern and progressive women of twenty-three countries, reading around the globe, with the approval of upstart teaching, overturning the established methods of government and changing the course of Church and State. And over a thousand people in Amsterdam and vicinity have paid five florins apiece to see them do it. Two years ago, in August, 1906, the alliance met in Copenhagen at the urgent request of a few progressive women who felt that Denmark was far behind her neighbors, Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Finland and even her own colony, Iceland, in all of which women had some political rights. At that time Denmark was a country of men, and this was said to be very largely due to the public sentiment created by the convention. At that time it looked as if the Netherlands might put women suffrage in the new constitution promised for 1909, and so the women were desirous that the alliance should hold a meeting here in 1908. Arrangements for it were practically completed when, a few months ago, the Liberal Government was defeated and the Clerical came into power. This checked all movements for any extension of the suffrage either to men or to women, but as the situation is only temporary, it was decided to go on with the congress.

TROUBLE AGAIN AT THE MILL STREET CROSSING

Harry Hayes and Roy True, teamsters, and Fred Campbell, a motorman on street car 16, were before the police magistrate this morning on charges of driving through the I. C. R. gates at Mill street crossing. They all claimed that the gates were up when they went through. The motorman made a rather glaring statement, he said that the gates were up and he went through and when in front of the depot he had to stop as a train was passing. He further said that he had received the signal from his conductor to go ahead when the gates were down, and has seen as many as three cars start while the gates were up.

THAT BIG STEEL TRUST WILL SOON BE FORMED

LONDON, June 20.—In spite of all details, the Iron and Steel Trade Journal declares it has authority for stating that the formation of an international steel trust, in which American, German and Russian syndicates will unite with British steel interests, will be an accomplished fact in a few weeks. The headquarters of the new concern will be in London and its capitalization will reach £100,000,000.

Canon Cook, the distinguished speaker was "Race Problems in Christendom." The Bishop of Missouri presided.
