ENGLISHMEN TODAY HONOR PATRON SAINT

St. George's Day When Memory of Famed Christian Warrior is Especially Revered.

WEAR THE ROSE FOR HONOR OF ENGLAND

Something of the History and Legends of St. George—
What St. George's Cross Means—The Local Society.

Today is St. George's Day, the greatest day in the calendar for patriotic Englishmen, the anniversary of both the birth and death of the Patron Saint of Middle England; a day also hallowed to the remembrance of the great deeds of Englishmen, the world over. In the evening around the festal board and head of the family will recount with special pride for the benefit of the younger generation the legends of St. George, and many a tale of bravery and daring done under his banner. And many of English blood with swelling throat will sing:

THE BANNER OF ST. GEORGE.
It came from the misty ages, The Banner of England's might,
The blood red cross of the brave St.
George.

That burns on a field of white;
It speaks of the deathless heroes,
On fame's bright page enrolled, And bids each Englishman forget The glorious deeds of old.

O'er many a cloud of battle, That Banner has floated wide, It she like a star o'er the valiant hearts,
That dashed the Armada's pride;
For ever amid the thunders The sailor could or die, While tongues of flame leaped forth below
And the Flag of St. George was high.

O'er many a flag beloved Unfurl in a strife of steel, But ever give strength to the righteous arm
And hope to the hearts oppressed; It says through the passing ages—
"Be brave if your cause is right!" Like the soldier saint whose cross of red Still burns on your Banner white.

Great race whose Empire of splen-dour Has dazzled a wondering world; May the flag that floats o'er thy wide domains
Be long to all winds unfurled:
Three crosses in concord blended The Banner of Britain's might;
But the central gem of the crown fair Is the cross of the dauntless Knight.

History of St. George.
The history of St. George has been written many times. He was born at Lydda in the beautiful vale of Sharon famous for its roses, on April 23rd, A.
D. 270, and died as a martyr on April 23rd, 303, having fought against the Emperor Diocletian, who persecuted the Christians. St. George is always represented as slaying a dragon, from whose power he rescued a princess who had been sacrificed as a peace offering to save the city from the monster's depredations.

Although doubt has been cast on this story of the dragon, it was in early times always accepted, though some there are that maintain the dragon being slain is allegorical of St.
George's victory over sin and those who persecuted the Christians. So much was the saint revered that almost from the time of his martyrdom churches began to be dedicated in his memory. St. George's church at Edinburgh near the Jordan was dedicated only 40 years after the death of the great saint; then there is the church at Lydda, also a St. George's, built by Constantine the Great, and restored about A. D. 540.

It was during the Crusades that St.
George was first brought to the notice of the English by Richard I., who attributed his victories to the intervention of the Saint of whom he claimed to have seen a vision. Soon after he was made Patron Saint of England, and under Edward III. raised to greater prominence, and the Order of the Garter instituted under his patronage.

The Red Cross of St. George.

Of all the devices in heraldry, probably the best known is the Red Cross of St. George. It is the principal charge on the Union Jack, and as a flag alone it was carried to victory by the armies of England on land and waved above their sailors in many a sea fight. It is the emblem of the Red Cross Society, who have done so much for the wounded and suffering. In the 14th and 15th centuries the red cross was borne as a badge over the armour of every English soldier to indicate that the wearer was in the service of the crown.

Besides the red cross there is another shield of St. George, of seven masses or diamond shaped figures of gold arranged in two rows of three, each, and one below. In the earliest days in England, bodies of men were formed under the patronage of St.
George to practice shooting with long bows, and later with hand guns, and so it came that the battle cry of the English army was always "God and St. George," or "St. George for England."

St. George in Art.
St. George and the legends pertaining to him have been an inspiration to many artists all of whom tell the story in their own way and while such paintings are more common in countries which honored St. George as a national saint, there are of course more examples of him in English art, it being estimated that there are nearly one hundred frescoes and panels alone which are yet well preserved. In western art he is represented as a fair young man richly arrayed, and beardless, the Italians and Greeks depicting him in the same way. He is generally shown on horseback killing the dragon, though there are several examples of St. George being on foot trampling on the beast who is often in full armor. The most familiar representation is that seen on English coins, the design for which was made by a Roman artist named Platrucci about 1817. The coins with this design have been declared the most beautiful in Europe.

In Drama.
Shakespeare has countless references to St. George. In Henry V., the king cries: "God for Harry, England and St. George!" In Richard II., the king encourages his soldiers with the words: "Our ancient word of courage, fair St. George!" In King John reference is made to "St. George who swinged the dragon and e'er since sits on his horseback at mine hostess' door." Ballads and plays have been written on St. George, many of which provided amusement in country houses on holidays.
Dr. Clapton concludes his life of St.
George as follows:
"All honor to this tutelary saint of old England! May the English race throughout the world continue to revere his memory as of yore, and ever flourish under that red cross banner which is the symbol of our patriotism! May not we all cry fervently in imitation of what was put in the mouth of Henry V., by the immortal Shakespeare: 'God for Harry, England and St. George!'"

One of the customs by which Englishmen observe the day is to wear a rose, and in this connection the following poem, which was sent to The Standard by a well known Englishman of the city will be of interest:

"Wear the Rose, England's Rose." Wear it for her foes to see, Snarling out their traitory;
Show her foes
How it grows;
England's Rose.

Men of Wales may wear the leek, Shamrock is not far to seek;
But the Rose,
Where it grows,
England knows.

England's Rose is "rooted still" Deep down in the people's will—
England's Rose,
Where it grows,
England knows.

Let her pluck her rose today, Proudly wear it those who may,
Whose the Rose,
When it blows,
England knows.

Pluck it from her "heart's ripe-red," Wear it—when the leaves are laid—On—who knows?
Where it grows,
England's Rose.

The Local Society.

St. George's Society in St. John has been in existence over 100 years, having been founded in 1802. It is always active in the encouragement of the spirit of patriotism and works of charity, and has numbered among its members many of the most distinguished residents of the old Loyalist city. It has a large membership and has made a point of celebrating in an appropriate manner England's Day, and Trafalgar Day. As defined by its constitution the objects of St. George's Society are to foster a spirit of patriotism and nationality, to promote social intercourse among its members and to extend aid to Englishmen and Welshmen or their descendants, or their widows and orphans.

In addition to these objects the society's activities are manifested in a broader field. It aims to maintain a spirit of fraternal union and a pride of race, to further English interests and customs, and to celebrate St. George's Day, England's Day, which is also the anniversary of the birth and death of Shakespeare.

HAD A DREAFFUL COUGH FOR OVER SIX MONTHS.
Thought It Would Turn Into Consumption.

Mrs. Jane Dousette, Point a la Gard, Que., writes:—"Just a few lines of gratitude to you on account of your famous remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.
I had been suffering from a dreadful cough, for over six months, and tried everything but in vain. I thought it was going to turn into consumption. A friend happened to come to my house, and was so frightened when he saw me he nearly dropped. He asked me what I was taking, so I showed him some medicines I had, but he said for me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I bought a bottle and before it was finished I was well, and did not cough a bit.
I will recommend your medicine to every suffering friend, for I know it will do good to them just the same as it did me. See that you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Do not accept any imitation. Price, 25 and 50 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CAME TO WED BEAUTIFUL ACTRESS AND LIVE IN MILLIONAIRE'S HOME

DIRK VAN BAAREN'S CASTLE IN THE AIR Hoodwinked by some swindlers operating a matrimonial agency in Chicago, Dirk van Baaren, an old miller, living in Holland, was induced to come to America, where he paid several hundred dollars in advance for obtaining a wife. He was duped into paying this by the swindlers, who showed him pictures of the house of Charles Schwab, the millionaire, and Miss Maxine Elliott, the beautiful actress.

IN THE COURTS
In Chambers.

In Chambers yesterday hearing on the application by petition of John B.
Sullivan of Bonaventure River to wind up the St. George Pulp and Paper Co. was had. The petitioner alleged that there was over one million feet of lumber held up on his land for the past six months thereby causing great damage to his land. On the part of the company it was contended that the logs were left there on account of the very high freights and would be removed as soon as possible. The company also contended that the petition in the nature of an action at common law and further that the claim was for an unliquidated amount. In connection with the petition, other technical objections were taken to the petition.
His Honor suggested that counsel for the petitioner withdraw the petition which was done. No costs were allowed.

C. J. Coster, K. C., appeared for the petitioner, Hon. George J. Clarke, K. C., of St. Stephen, for the company.

An Interesting Case.
A very interesting case was tried before Mr. Justice McLeod in Chambers yesterday. The late Edouard Mallais, of Gloucester, County, was insured in the Societe du Artisan Acadiens, a Quebec fraternal insurance society. One Mary Breat was the beneficiary named in the policy, but by a subsequent certificate the beneficiary was changed to Maxime Mallais. The society refused to pay the money into court. This action was to settle which party was entitled to the money. Argument will take place this morning.

Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., and J. P.
Byrne appeared for the late Edouard Mallais, in the policy, John B. M. Baxter, K. C., and John A. Barry for Mr.
Mallais and C. F. Sanford for creditors.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Corbin.
Mrs. Mary Corbin, wife of Richard Corbin, of Willow Grove, died at her home in Willow Grove, N. B., at Forks, where she had lived for many years, in failing health for about a year.
Besides her husband, who is nearly 100 years old, she is survived by two sons and one daughter. The sons are Alfred and John, both of this city. The daughter is Miss Rachel, at home.
Mrs. Corbin was well known both in the vicinity of her home and in the city.

Mrs. W. Williams.
Hampton, Kings Co., April 22—Mrs.
William James Williams died at the home of her son-in-law, J. W. Keirstead on Station Road, about half-past seven o'clock this morning, after an illness of some seven or eight months, during which time she had the services of a trained nurse, in addition to the loving care of her daughter, and members of the family.
She was eighty-five years of age and has lived with her daughter since the death of her son, the late Wm. Williams, train despatcher, of Campbellton. Her husband died almost twenty-five years ago. Before her marriage she was Miss McDonald, of Sydney Forks, where one brother, John Mc-Donald, still resides. Other brothers surviving are Murdoch, of Quincy, Mass.; Alexander, of Donham, C.B., and her living sisters are Mrs. Ronald McDonald and Miss Ellen at Sydney Forks. Mrs. J. W. Keirstead, of Hampton, is her only daughter. Mrs.
Williams was a devoted member of the Baptist church for many years, and removed her membership to the Station Baptist church when Mr. Keirstead came to live at Hampton.

A funeral service will be held at her home tomorrow, Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, and at 7:30 the remains will be taken by the Maritime Express to Campbellton, where, on Thursday morning they will be laid to rest in the Rural cemetery beside those of her husband and son.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth A.
Murphy took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from her late residence, 107 Simonds street, to Fernhill. Rev.
Henry Pierce conducted the services at the house and at the grave.
The funeral of Mrs. William H. Mc-Keel took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 487 City Line, to Cedar Hill cemetery. Rev. G. F. Scofield conducted the services.

The funeral of Mrs. Andrew Stanley took place yesterday afternoon from her home in St. John East to St.
George's church, Charlottetown, where Rev. W. H. Sampson conducted the burial services. Interment was in Cedar Hill cemetery.

From her late residence, 53 Car-marthen street, the funeral of Mrs.
William G. Flowers took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev.
P. S. Porter conducted the services.

IMMIGRATION SHOULD BOOM THIS SUMMER

Dominion Immigration Agent Wilmot Looks for Big Influx of Settlers to Province —Those Here Prospering.

A. B. Wilmot, Dominion immigration agent for New Brunswick, was in the city yesterday. He expressed himself as much pleased with the way immigrants had been coming to the province during the winter, and thought there would be a good many new settlers located in the province this summer. A gratifying feature was the number of enquiries about conditions here, coming from Quebec and the Prairie provinces.
In connection with his work on behalf of the Farm Settlement Board, Mr. Wilmot has visited nearly every part of the province, and met a large number of the farmers from the old country who have settled here in the last few years. All of these are well satisfied with conditions here and many are doing well on farms of their own.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT IN EVERY DAY CLUB

The enthusiastic manner in which the programme put on by the boys of the Every Day Club aided by their grown-up friends at the concert last night was received, showed how keenly it was appreciated. The hall was well filled and as a result a substantial sum was realized which will go towards purchasing equipment for the baseball league. George Scott was in the chair and in his opening remarks he told of the work which had been done during the past winter and spoke of the larger plans for the coming summer and winter.

During the evening the boys sang a number of patriotic choruses with fine effect. Mr. Brindle put them through a course of physical drill movements while Sgt. Sullivan gave them military drill. In both instances the movements were executed with a precision which showed careful preparation. One of the features of the concert was a display by Jack Thompson which was high class and certainly deserved the hearty applause which he received. Others who took part were A. F. Belding, who gave a vocal and piano solo. There were solos by Walter Brindle and recitations by Chester Campbell and J. Smith.

Subdividing City Lands.
The mayor and city commissioners made a trip to Lancaster yesterday and inspected the city lands there.
They are making arrangements to have streets laid out through a portion of the land and to have it subdivided into building lots. They have, however, decided not to take up Mr.
Hatheway's scheme, as the section of the land he wanted for workmen's homes will be reserved for industrial sites.

Monotony of Woman's Work

How is the woman with the cares, worry and work of a home to get well when she feels that her strength is being overtaxed and that nervous prostration is slowly but surely creeping upon her?

It is often monotony that breaks down the nervous system, and woman's work is above all else monotonous. Doing the same thing day after day has a wearing and depressing effect on both body and mind.

It is easy for doctors to advise change of scene and work, but how few women with families about them can follow such advice. The cure must be brought to them, and no treatment has ever proved more satisfactory under these conditions than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

By increasing the red corpuscles in the blood this great food cure builds up the system and restores vitality to the wasted nerves.
Gradually and certainly it brings back the courage and strength which have been slowly ebbing away. Unlike stimulating medicines, its benefits to the system are both thorough and lasting.

Nervous prostration does not come on you

Wants Preference to Dominions that Support the Navy —Raises Question in British House of Commons.

London, April 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Norton Griffiths asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether he could now consider the advisability of introducing legislation giving preference to those dominions which supported the imperial navy either directly or indirectly, when there were loans issued in this country and a preference to all the dominions over foreign countries by the imposition of a small tax similar to that existing in France on foreign loans raised in this country.
Mr. Lloyd-George replied that, under the existing law, there already is a preference as regards the stamp duty in respect to loans issued here by colonial governments as compared with foreign governments, but that no further differentiations would appear advisable.

PITCAIRN ISLAND.

The first of the descendants of the famous mutineers of the ship Bounty to visit England was Russell McCoy, who arrived at Liverpool thirty-two years ago today. In 1790 the multitude, ten in number, headed by a ring leader called Christian, with six Tahitian men and twelve women they had kidnapped, took possession of Pitcairn Island, a solitary rock in the Pacific between Australia and South America.

According to one account, the white men and the Tahitians warred against each other until at the end of ten years only one man, John Adams, was left, with eight women and a number of children; and from them the present inhabitants of the island are descended. The colony was unknown until 1808, when it was discovered by the American sealing ship Topaz.
The first British ship arrived in 1847.
Great Britain annexed the island in 1839, and in 1856 nearly 200 of the islanders were transferred to Norfolk Island, but a number of them afterward returned to Pitcairn. Mark Twain made the Bounty mutineers the subject of a humorous story.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Some patience and perseverance is necessary in the treatment of diseases of the nerves, but you will not be using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long before you can note signs of improvement, and will be encouraged to keep up the treatment until thoroughly cured.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes:— "Before I began taking your Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition; dizzy spells came over me, and I would fall to the floor and I could not as much as sweep the floor without fainting unless they took me out in the air. Now I can wash and work a lot, and your medicine helped me when the doctors failed. I felt as though it was a Godsend to me."

"I hope you will use my name wherever you like, so that if there are any others suffering as I have done, they may be benefited by using your medicine, for I will do all it claims to do. I think it is the best of medicines. Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best that can be had for piles."
