

ACADIA SENDS DAL TO 8 - 0 DEFEAT

The Campus Roundup

by Windy O'Neill

"Firteen-nothing! Fifteen nothing!" That's what the football fans were saying as they weaved their way out of the Wanderers' Grounds, after the great Dal-Navy game. It wasn't that the Tigers trimmed the Tars, so much, as, that the high-scoring seafarers were shut out. It was a terrific gridiron battle right to the end. Three times the Stad boys fought their way to the Dal five yard line, only to be repulsed by a determined line. Burkart's boys showed a collection of new, intricate plays (many of them at a price from McGill) that had the Navy supporters gasping and sputtering like a Halifax radio announcer.

There were many stars for the Tigers. George Mattison played his best game of the year; Bobby Wilson was outstanding all day, climaxing his performance with a terrific seventy-yard touchdown effort. Doc Hopman gave a superlative display at centre secondary, flattening the Navy plungers like so much water on a plate. However, it was the vicious tackling of the line that really won it—Mingo, Cull, Peterson, Belliveau and Pete MacDonald being tops in this department.

We though the individual play of the game, probably the one that won it for the Tigers was the block thrown by Don Woodward warding off a Navy tackler and setting up the field for Wilson on the first touchdown. Don was a tackling fiend all day and left no doubt that he is the best end in the league—and to him, we present the prize of the week (this week, one complete set of crib notes for the Divinity exams).

The demonstration that followed was really something, as the band let a victory parade down town. The way the Dal supporters marched, it was easy to see that they had lots of spirit in them.

Well, Mother Nature has caught up with the money-mad hockey moguls. Due to the early start of this present season, the Forum ice surface was foggier than closing hour at ye olde Sea Horse. The game was stopped about every five minutes while the players of both teams played ring-around-the-rosy to dispel the mist. Some smart engineer will probably design a portable foghorn to be worn by the players, who will work out an intricate set of signals. No goalkeeper will be complete without his own radar set.

The Acadia Athletic Association has found a way of circumventing the Rugby League Rules, and not only that, they've found a loop hole. Apparently college rules allow a man to play both intermediate and senior, while the City League constitution stipulates that a player may play for only one team. By some clandestine arrangement, Acadia has two teams, one intermediate, the other senior, in the same league, and the players change from a senior to an intermediate and vice versa by just changing their sweaters. It's simple—just like Dr. Jeckyl and Mr. Hyde and they don't have to drink anything, either, which is probably unfortunate for the Apple Munchers. The Fruit Growers are operating a farm system in the same league—gad, sir, what ingenuity! According to Don Kerr, the manager of the vastly improved Tigers, they used many of the same players in the two games against Dalhousie—those old sore heads, who will probably protest. They've brought shamateurism back into the MIAU, the next thing they should bring back is good sportsmanship.

NOTES: This corner was really impressed with the way COACH DENTON LARGE, of professional rugger fame, handles a work out. There is no time wasted, with the coach jumping around like a grasshopper giving instructions.

GIRLS' SPORTS

by NOELLE BARTER

Everybody is talking about it. Something new! There's to be a tumbling and apparatus class. The time for this class hasn't been decided but if those who are interested, and who wouldn't be, would meet in Miss Keddy's office on Wednesday at 4.30, a time and day will be set. That's not all that's news. Another class is to be held—for beginners at basketball. This is an excellent idea, so if you are interested, why not drop by the gym next Thursday at 4.30 with Miss Keddy, decide upon the day for this class. Both classes are open for everyone's advantage. Why, you might even lose a few pounds.—That wasn't nice, was it?

Hi gals! Let's get in the swim! Just trot over to the gym on Mondays at 5 o'clock and from there your off to the Stad pool. Should be fun—it's for everybody, former team members, future team members, anybody, everybody!

Dal's ground hockey schedule has been posted and the first game is this Saturday with Acadia. No definite time yet but save the earlier part of your afternoon folks. The next game is at Acadia on the sixth. There's your chance for another Acadia trip. The final game is here at Dal on the twentieth with the Tigresses pitted

BULLETIN

Manager Don Kerr of the English rugby team announced today that Saturday's game against Acadia is being protested. A pre-game check on the Acadia line-up disclosed that there were at least five players who had played for the Acadia "B" team in games against Tech and King's. This, according to the newly drawn up constitution, is illegal as it states that no player may perform for more than one team in the league. Mr. Kerr states that the possibility of losing the protest is slight. What action will be taken is not yet known, but it is expected that the game will be replayed.

Superior Passing And Tackling Give Axemen Decisive Victory

A combination of smooth passing and hard tackling gave the Acadia varsity team a definite edge over Dal's Ruggers last Saturday as they battled to an 8-0 victory over the Tigers. The score was a fair indication of the play as the Acadians pressed hard most of the way and only on few occasions during the latter part of the first half and during the second half did Dal offer any serious threat to their goal line.

Dal's scrum, however, led by veteran Eric Kinsman, late of the Acadia Varsity team, proved to be considerably superior as they heeled the ball to their backfield easily two-thirds of the time. This advantage proved to be of no avail as Dal's passing plays repeatedly bogged down in the face of determined Acadia tackling. Jerry Maynell starred in this department as time after time he brought down Dal ball carriers.

Acadia started their scoring early in the first half as Johnny Bateman, 180 lb. scrum-man took a pass and tore over the line to chalk up three points. Bill Saunders made the convert good from a difficult angle as the ball hit the goal post and fell over on the Dal side. From here until half time the Tigers played their best ball as they kept the ball in Acadia territory most of the time and only because of hard tackling on the part of their opponents did Dal fail to score.

During the second half, the play see-sawed back and forth with most of the action taking place between the 30 yard lines. Dal's greatest moment came half way through this period when "Duck" Nickerson, Dal scrum-man intercepted a pass from Acadia's scrum half and was away to what appeared to be a certain score only to be brought down by a lovely shoe string tackle on the Acadia five yard line. Two plays later Acadia recovered a Dal fumble and kicked out of danger to end Tiger threats for the day.

It was Acadia nearly all the way from here on who, despite some lovely running by Alex Farquhar who starred for Dal and Monty Segars kicking in the full-back position, kept the ball inside the Dal 40 most of the time. With five minutes to play in the game Acadia's wing three quarter received the ball on a line play to romp over unattended to score the last try of the game. Saunder's attempt at a convert was nowhere near the bars.

Crowell Takes Second Dalhousie Open Golf Tourney With Net 74

The second annual Dalhousie Golf Tournament was played Friday afternoon, Oct. 15 over the hilly fairways of the Ashburn Golf Course. As was expected the Halifax city champion, Eddie Crowell, came through to win the event with a gross score of 74. Eddie played some good golf to win the event, and his 74 included 4 penalty strokes for the loss of two balls. Second place honors went to three players. They were Ron Timothy, last year's champion; Ben McCallum, who in his second year of competition is really coming along, and Pete Doig. These three had gross scores of 79.

In third place was George McLanders of Montreal with 94.

Carl Swanburg, who last year won the net score had a gross of 95 and was followed by Ken Reardon with 99. Reardon, incidentally, won the prize for low net with a 69.

Andy Atkinson, the only left-handed player in the tournament took sixth place with a score of 105, followed by "Dizz" Dryden with 110. Scott Henderson came next with 121 and "High Honors" for the meet were awarded to Doug Oakley and Gerry Foster with scores of 139 and 144 respectively.

Summary of scores:

	Gross	Handicap	Net
Eddie Crowell	74	0	74
Ron Timothy	79	5	74
Ben McCallum	79	8	71
Pete Doig	79	7	72
George McLanders	94	9	85
Carl Swanburg	95	15	80
Ken Reardon	99	30	69
Andy Atkinson	105	30	75
"Dizz" Dryden	110	30	80
Scott Henderson	121	30	91
Doug Oakley	139	30	109
"Fuzz" Foster	144	30	114

Tigers In Rugby Win

With its passing attack clicking nicely, the Dal rugby team turned in its first victory of the season last Thursday, defeating King's College 16 to 0. The Tigers took command of the contest from the very outset and after the opening minutes of play King's was never in the running.

Alex Farquhar, Dal's big gun, opened the scoring as he scored on a passing play early in the game. Nickerson converted and Dal was in front, 5-0. Nickerson tallied the next Dal try when he picked up a fumble by Frailick and ran 15 yards for the score. Nickerson's convert attempt from a difficult angle was wide and Dal led at the half, 8-0.

In the second half the Tigers tallied twice more. Foo Grant was on the scoring end of a pattern passing play that carried the length of the field early in the last period. When Nightingale booted a difficult, Dal led 13-0. Two minutes later the scoring ended when Lynch notched the fourth Dal try out of a scrum on the King's five yard line. Nightingale's convert attempt sailed wide.

The outstanding feature of the game was Dal's passing. The Tigers' fine ball handling kept the Kingsmen on the defensive throughout most of the contest. Farquhar, Nightingale and Ken Reardon were the standout performers for the victors while Ferguson performed well for the losers.

The line-ups: Dal — Leslie, Grant, Kinsman, Delory, Laphen, Nickerson, Archibald, Morrow, Reardon, Nightingale, Farquhar, Palmer, Beer, Lynck, Guidry, Fredrickson.

King's — Ferguson, Frailick, Horning, Scobie, Fraser, Anglin, Campbell, Hanington, Palmer, Chaney, Smith, Privick, Harlow.
