

bath, and not a few often repeat a whole chapter, without being ordered by the teachers to do so. A number of the parents regularly attend school with their children. We have no outward means of grace in this place but the Sabbath School.—CHARLES M'FIE.

Montreal, Cotè Street.—This school has made encouraging progress during the bygone year. The number of scholars has steadily increased, and a lively interest is maintained among all who are engaged in the work. The teachers have a meeting every Friday evening for prayer, and for meditation on the Scripture lesson for the following Sabbath. Quarterly missionary meetings of the children have been instituted, at which short addresses are given, and the money contributed by the school during the three months preceding, is voted away. At last meeting, it was divided equally between the French Canadian Missionary Society and the Foreign Missions of the Free Church of Scotland.

LIBRARIES.

Mosa.—We have only one library among five schools, and it is in very poor condition. We are much in want of another. The books are read with interest by parents and scholars.—FINLAY MUNRO.

West Gwilliambury.—I beg to enclose you £1 5s. on account of the Library sent to me in summer. I return you my sincere thanks for sending it, as it has brought a great number to the Sabbath School, and has at least created a taste for reading. I think I can beneficially distribute more of the "Child's Companion," if you can conveniently send me a few.—MARY SMITH.

Peterboro.—The influence of the libraries on both our schools is great; indeed the prosperity of the schools depends in a great measure on the efficient state of their libraries.—JAMES HALL.

Dalhousie.—We feel at a loss for words to express our gratitude for your kindness and strict attention in forwarding our valuable and much-esteemed library, and still more for supplying us with so many interesting little books for our junior class. We were much surprised at the low price of the Bibles and Testaments. Our hymn-books give great satisfaction: we consider them both good and cheap.—JOHN PLAYFAIR.

Western Dis., Egremont Road.—We have no library. The members of this class are from twelve years old and upwards—all capable of reading and, in general, in understanding what they read. A library would be of great advantage.—REV. T. ARMOUR.

Leeds.—Our library is in good condition. Its influence from the outset has been good, for it has not only contributed to inform
