MR. JEFFS' NEW BOOK—

THE ART OF SERMON ILLUSTRATION. By H. Jeffs, Editor of The Christian World Pulpit. A book for Preachers and Sunday School Teachers. Large crown 8vo, cloth boards, gilt top. $1.25

The author, starting from the principle that the average mind craves for stories and smiles, shows how the most successful method of presenting spiritual truths has always been the method of illustration.

He discusses the general principles of illustration keeping always in view the means of interesting and impressing people of the present day, and indicates how the preacher or teacher may draw effective illustrations from common life, from fiction and poetry, and from science and industry.

Something like 300 illustrations selected from a wide range of reading of sermons and general literature are included, with a large number of original illustrations, and illustrated sermon outlines and outlines of addresses to children add to the usefulness of a thoroughly up-to-date book.

Indices of the texts illustrated, and of the subjects of the illustrations, will be of the greatest service to the preacher preferring sermons and the teacher preferring lessons.

The President of one of the leading theological colleges in England has written as follows: "Will you permit me to express my most grateful thanks for 'The Cross in Christian Experience'? I have read it with unfeigned pleasure and I trust with not a little spiritual profit. It is one of the freshest and most helpful presentations of the Old, Old Story, that I have read for many a day. In a paper which we issue to all former students I have already called attention to this book and recommended it to over five hundred men. I have also had other opportunities of mentioning it to friends. It is so seldom, nowadays, that one is able to find the old objective and substitutionary view of the atonement presented, that my joy and satisfaction are all the greater. I hope we shall soon have some more work from this pen. Henceforward this book will be placed side by side on my shelf and in my mind with Denny's 'Death of Christ.'"
