Gossip.

Robert Miller, manager of the big Shorthorn sale to be held in Toronto February 4th, says: J. A. Watt is easily one of the best Shorthorn breeders on this continent, and he comes by it naturally. His ancestors have been successful breeders for generations; he is more than ordinarily fond of the work, he is plucky and energetic; he is fresh from big winnings at the biggest shows, and he offers the best lot of cattle he has ever sold. Kyle Bros. have done a great deal of showing this year and in past years; they are young men that are fast making a good name as breeders and reliable business men, too. They sell for the first time, and they want you to judge them by their cattle. John Miller, Jr., is of the fourth generation that have spent their lives in breeding good cattle. He has always sold young things that were bred right and made right, and they have always grown in value. This lot are the same, and they will interest you. Capt. T. E. Robson, one of the best judges in America, will sell three head that he says are grand in every way, and I say so, too. I will not speak of my own cattle, but to say that the whole makes the best lot of Shorthorns that we have ever sold, and no matter whether you want one bull to head your herd, one female to improve it, or more than one of either sex to show or to breed from, there has not been a chance like this will be. The Shorthorn meeting will be on the 3rd, and you will get cheap rates.

J. B. HOGATE'S PERCHERONS.

J. B. Hogate, of Weston, Ont., has been importing draft horses for many years, and has made a reputation by bringing out bigger horses, with more genuine draft character than any of his competitors. He pins his faith on the big fellows, but at the same time they must have the right quality of bone, the right slope of pastern, and the big, wide feet. In the lot that now fill his long rows of box stalls, he has easily eclipsed all his former importations in the above desirable and necessary draft-horse qualifications, both in his stallions and mares. In age, the stallions range from one to five years, the mares from one to two. Many of the stallions are up to 1,900 and 2,000 pounds, big, stylish horses, showing draftiness all over, and with big, flat bones, nicely sprung ankles, and big, open feet. The fillies are up to the same standard, immensely thick and smooth, with the nice, clean, flat kind of underpinning. Two of them, Lametrie 4011, and Laque 4036, dark grays, rising three years of age, are a pair of extra good ones, remarkably well matched, thick, smooth, and well balanced. They should go together, and will reach 1,900 lbs. when developed. An exceptionally big yearling is the gray, Marguerite 4028. With her big size, she has beautiful quality, and will make a show mare of merit. The others are blacks and grays, big, stylish fillies. In the stallions, one of the best is the gray four-year-old, Javal 4014. He is a horse of outstanding merit, no matter where you look at him, big, rangy, and with abundance of quality and character. Koureur 4003 is a dark gray, rising four years, weighs 1,910 pounds, and has all the qualifications of the ideal drafter. At the late show in Toronto, although only landed less than a week, he was easily first in a big class of three-year-olds, and was reserve champion. A close second to him in the same class, was the black three-year-old, Koutelas 4006. He was placed second, and his big size and superb quality easily entitled him to it. Third in the same class also came to this stable on the beautiful and well-balanced Lodi 4015. Among the two-year-olds at the same show, Kerlogarden 4002 was placed third in a class that produced the champion of the show. He is a low, thick, smooth colt, on a great bottom. Those mentioned are representative of the entire lot, great size, beautiful bone, style, range, and nice, straight action, are characteristic of the entire stable. Mr. Hogate can suit the trade this year if the horsemen want what the country needs—big, draft horses, that will get big, draft horses.
