

ELOQUENT LIBERAL LEADER ADDRESSES GREAT MASS MEETING AT PICTON

Calls for Dismissal of Ontario License Commission or Acceptance of Responsibility for Cherry Brandy Flood by Premier—Straight Declaration Upon Temperance Issue—Over 2000 Present—Splendid Reception for Liberal Leader and Liberal Candidate.

(Staff Report of Daily Ontario)

Notwithstanding muddy roads and a threatening storm, electors came in crowds from all parts of the constituency of Prince Edward last night to hear Hartley H. Dewart, K. C., the eloquent and aggressive leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, at a mass meeting at Picton Armories. There were easily more than 2,000 people present and the audience was of that respectful, orderly type that gives a speaker his best support by deep attention and hearty applause.

Mr. M. E. Allison, barrister and Mayor of Picton very ably occupied the chair. Seated on the platform in addition to Mr. Dewart and Mr. Parliament were Messrs. J. D. Macdonald, professional and municipal life of the county. Among them were Dr. Morley Currie, ex-M.P., Mr. W. V. Pette, ex-M.P., Mr. H. B. Bristol, Mr. W. Gerow, Mr. Willet Benson, Mr. W. H. Penson, Dr. Fox, reeve of Ameliasburgh.

After the chairman had given a happy introduction to the meeting he called upon Dr. Currie to address the meeting briefly. Dr. Currie was followed by the Liberal candidate, who was given such a rousing reception as to leave no doubt of the unanimity of enthusiastic sentiment behind Mr. Parliament. The subsequent endorsement given the speaker by repeated applause was but an echo of the good will that most certainly will roll up a big majority for Mr. Parliament on Monday, Oct. 20th. Mr. Parliament was at his best, and in that earnest, convincing and forcible manner that is a part of his individuality he drove home the various principles that he has come to represent in the public life of the county and the province.

Mr. Dewart, on coming forward, was tendered a reception that gave him assurance that the coming premier of Ontario had already won a warm place in the affections of the electors of Prince Edward.

The Cherry Brandy Flood

A year ago The Globe protested against the special privilege given to Ontario Hebrews of purchasing liquor for use as a beverage during the Feast of the Tabernacles. The privilege has been renewed this year in circumstances that call for severe comment. The restrictions of the Ontario Temperance Act have been virtually abolished for ten days for one group of the community. Thousands of bottles of cherry brandy, of 62.84 per cent. proof spirits, have been distributed among Jewish families in Toronto by a Government henchman who has been given control of the issuing of liquor orders for Hebrews on the Government dispensary. It is only a pretense that the liquor is for sacramental purposes within the meaning of the Ontario Temperance Act. Its use is a social custom, not a religious rite enjoined by the Church. The ceremony of the Kiddish, for which it was demanded, consists in its being offered on the eve of the election that the Board should relinquish to outsiders, who have no status under the act, its duty of controlling the issue of thousands of dollars worth of liquor to be used to intoxicate the Government but it might have a shrewd idea that the Government will be beneficiary on polling day.—Toronto Globe.

munition services, 62.84 per cent. I don't know what Church Mr. Flavell worships at, but I venture to say you never heard of wine of that strength for Communion service."

He then went on to review the incident and called upon Premier Hearst to dismiss immediately the License Board or to share the blame with them. Mr. Dewart went into the amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act which took the vending of liquor from private vendors and centralized it under Government control. He declared that the turning over of vendors of liquors to Barnett Stone for any purpose whatever was a deliberate fraud, and that the Government had been deceived in an evasion of the act as well as a deliberate attempt to bribe the electors of his constituency.

"If Premier Hearst fails to dismiss the Commission he must share in this violation of the act, which is still continuing," said Mr. Dewart.

Nineteen Promises and One Claim. He declared Hearst's manifesto consisted of nineteen promises and one claim for past services, but the Liberal platform was framed for the people of the Province. In regard to Hydro claims by the Government he again stated that the municipalities and Sir Adam Beck deserved the credit, and that Sir Adam had shown what he thought of the Government by naming in the interests of Hydro alone.

Temperance Policy of 1914. "Where the Liberal party stood in 1914 it stands today on the question of prohibition," he said in dealing with the prohibition question. He promised that the will of the people would be enforced to the fullest extent of the law. Referring to his election in Southwest Toronto, Mr. Dewart claimed credit by reason of his victory in preventing a return to bear and wine licenses, claiming that Government majority would be construed to mean that they wished such to return. "I think I am not entitled to the aspersions cast upon me by Mr. Flavell," Mr. Dewart then repeated his denial of any alliance in the past or present with liquor interests.

No Return of Bar. "The Liberal party will see to it that the bar never returns to this Province," he continued, referring to pamphlets circulated by a religious publication entitled, "Where Hartley Dewart Stands." Premier Hearst, like the cuckoo, was laying these in every Conservative committee room for the electors to hatch out, but he would find no alliance there.

Deacon, chairman of the Board of Education, Belleville, welcomed the teachers as they gathered for the opening and citizen building body.

He stated that the relation of teacher to pupil should be more as a parent, whereas in his day he approached the teacher with fear and dread. He urged that teachers treat music with more care and instruction be attended very carefully, as there was danger arising from our alien population. Mr. Deacon also thought the teachers should be real social leaders in the community.

Did He Miss His Calling?

The proprietor of the Ford Service maintained a sample of secret service work one night recently that would do credit to a sleuth. It was in the "wee wee" hours of the morning that his slumbers were disturbed by the noise of the starting of an auto in the street and the ear trained by experience he immediately detected the sound as that of one of his new cars and a hasty investigation was put into execution. Thieves had made a car with one of his cars and without delay the telephone was called into action. Proprietors of well known establishments at Stone and Thomasburg were called and were placed on guard the high way which served as their main thoroughfare. No time was lost in making ready to give chase and in less time than we can write it the owner of the car was hitting the high spots with his coup de grace in hot pursuit. Noticing an auto track leading to the station a visit was made to that quarter and there loomed up in all its beauty was the stolen (?) car unharmed and unscratched. Now for the thieves who were undoubtedly intent on boarding the train for part unknown—but no the perpetrators of the deed were none other than the close friends of the owner of the car who had received a hurried call to the station and had taken the liberty Word was at once dispatched to the country where the guards were on duty that the car had been located and the thieves apprehended, and the coast was clear for the train to start, the watchmen returning to their chambers from which they had been so unceremoniously called a short time before.—Tweed Advocate.

Sudden Death

The death took place about 4 o'clock today afternoon of George H. Rupert, a well known resident of Stirling. In the morning, while unpacking some goods at Mr. Jas. Ralph's he in some way received a blow on the head, and remained at his home the rest of the day. About four o'clock he suddenly passed away and it is probable was a case of heart failure. He had been in the employ of Mr. Ralph for some time. Besides his widow he leaves a brother in Syracuse, N. Y., and a sister living in Toronto, to mourn their sudden bereavement.—Stirling News Agent.

"Monkey Drill" in the United States Army

In our army a novel system of training cavalry soldiers is employed. This is called by old soldiers who do not like it the "monkey drill." Any one, however, who has seen the drill given by one of our crack troops at an army post cannot but speak of it in terms of praise. The home of the "monkey drill" was the Cavalry and Light Artillery School at Fort Riley, Kansas. From this post a troop of cavalry was sent to the World's Fair in 1893 to show the people how American boys can ride and every one who saw them was filled with wonder and pride at their fine exhibition. The drill was found to be so beneficial to men and horses that it was introduced in every troop in the army, and there are now many organizations that can rival a circus in exhibitions of fancy riding.

Wedding Bells

On Thursday, Oct. 2nd, at eleven-thirty a.m. a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bedford, when their daughter, Bessie Isabel became the bride of Frederick Earl Smith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith of East Seymour. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Clarke, under an arch of maple leaves and flowers. The bride looked beautiful in a gown of white crepe-de-chine trimmed with satin and pearls and pretty veil, carrying a bouquet of white roses and ferns. After the ceremony and congratulations a dainty luncheon was served where sixty guests were seated. Many beautiful and costly gifts were received. The young couple left on the afternoon train for Montreal and other points east where they intend spending their honeymoon. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Smith a long and happy wedded life. On their return they will reside in East Seymour.—Campbellford Herald.

Lindsay Man Gave His Blood to Save Life of Brother

Lindsay, Oct. 11.—In a last effort to save the life of his brother Joseph, who was lying seriously ill at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, Mr. J. Loneragan, of the Hotel Benson, Lindsay, night, and bravely submitted to transfusion of blood from his own body to that of his brother, before one of his legs was amputated by his physicians.

Mr. Joseph Loneragan contracted rheumatism in one of his knees some years ago, and although troubled at times with rheumatic pains, the ailment did not assume a serious phase until this summer. Motor traffic through the country, it is believed aggravated the trouble and a few weeks ago practically on the eve of his wedding—Mr. Loneragan was obliged to enter St. Joseph's Hospital. An abscess of some form, it is understood had developed in the knee, and his condition was so bad that the attending physicians, Hope for his recovery had almost been abandoned, when as a last resort, it was decided to amputate the affected limb. The patient was in a very weakened condition and a transfusion of blood was absolutely necessary to increase his vitality if the operation was to be successful. Mr. John Loneragan volunteered and on Wednesday after the transfusion had taken place, the limb was amputated by Drs. Moir and Galloway.

This morning a phone message from Peterboro conveyed the gratifying information that the patient's condition was quite satisfactory, and hopes are held out for his recovery. Mr. J. Loneragan, of the Hotel Benson, is feeling no ill effects after the transfusion, and is, of course, delighted over the success of the operation.
