Rev. Father Solanus Receives $200 in Gold

On the Evi of his Departure From Chatham - A High y Lulogistic Address Read.

Yesterday morning at 10.30 the Rev. Father Solanus celebrated his farewell high mass in St. Joseph's Church and the congregation took the opportunity to present their departing pas- On Wall Paper tor with a purse of gold and an address. When the congregation of St He has again been appointed actical examiner for the London Joseph's Church learned that Father Solanus had been appointed secretary to the papal delegation in Canada, Intending passengers for any Pacific Coast Points, including San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Victoria or Vancouver, will consult their interests by calling on W. At the request of Peter Robert and Jos. T. O'Keefe a meeting was called and committees appointed to interview the congregation. These committees were highly successful and collected altogether issue tickets to any of the above points on any Tuesday from now until the end of April at $38.70 each.

The Rev. Father Solanus, assisted by Father Herman and Father Gabriel conducted high mass yesterday morn ing. The Rev. Father James, the new Superior, delivered the sermon and made a most favorable impression on his new congregation. At the conclu-sion of the service the following members of the congregation assembled in front of the church and marched two by two up the aisle to the music of a march played by the church organ-ist, Miss Nellie Rhody: A. McDonell, Jos. T. O'Keefe, Peter Robert, James Dillon, Thos. Drew, Larry Howard, J. U. Thibodeau, Francis Jacques, J. A. Gordon, F. A. Robert, John Wildgen, Church, yesterday, services were need by Miss Morton, of Toronto, an evan-gelist. In the evening she chose as her text the last part of the 75th verse of 26th chapter, of Metthew, "And he went out and wept bitterly." She showed in her discourse that Peter at the time he denied his Master, ruled Morris Doyle, Jerry O'Brien, James Taft, Ben. Blonde, D. J. McDonald and John Mount. Augustin McoDnell read the following address, after which Jos. T. O'Keefe presented Father Solanus with a purse containing $200 in gold:

Father,—This morning the family over which you have presided for several years with signal success and paternal solicitude, gather about return. Services will be held each you to say farewell; and at the same time to utter through me the senti-ments which an occasion so significant naturally arouses in every heart.
We have been the object of your care, a care which has missed no one, Mrs. Martha Rhody passed peace-fully away this morning at the family residence on Wellington Street, in her 67th year. Mrs. Rhody suffered from an attack of pneumonia about a month ago and her condition then was so serious that her life was de-spaired of. All that kind and loving and has watched jealously over the interests of this congregation; and it is with the profoundest regret that we see you take your leave of Chatham, possibly forever. We know and feel it deeply, that we are losing a sincere friend and father, who has shown his love for us, not by words, but by most fruitful actions.

hands could suggest was done for her and by reason of the care she received Mrs. Rhody recovered. She was able It consoles us that in leaving us you go at once to a larger and higher sphere of activity, where the talents to be up and around and had regained all her old cheerfulness. Last week, and the tact and the ability, which have marked your career with us, will however, she suffered a relapse and gradually sank until this morning, when He who watches over all came have a wider field and a larger re-sult. And we felicitate you on this emphatic recognition of your labors tion. Her genial hospitality endeared her to all. here, and of your native talent.

It is an honor to us, not less than to you, that you pass from the service of a simple people to the service of the Catholics of the Dominion. While we grieve at your departure, we rejoice that you go to the direct service, as we may call it, of our Holy Father the Pope. This honor will not be soon or easily forgotten by the people of the parish

It seems invidious on this occasion to single out any particular form of good work which you have carried on in this city, for nothing was neglected, and every department felt the impulse of your enthusiasm and showed the result of your care.

But we cannot overlook the ease and smoothness with which you conducted the financial affairs of the congregation, removing debt silently and suc-cessfully; strengthening the revenues and guarding the expenses; improving here, and beautifying there; encour-aging the indifferent, and heartily ap-proving the work of the interested; and all so quietly that we hardly selt extent of the work being done, and the burden was light, because it was borne by many. There was no expression of worry or irritation.

When we consider the difficulty. which meets the priest in the financial management of any parish, the apathy of those who ought to be most interested, how can we but admire and ommend the unfailing courtesy and commend the unianing courtesy and Christian tact which made of a matter, naturally so distasteful to a priest, a pleasant and delightful thing for the congregation. If your financial administration has been thus imaneial administration has been thus agreeably successful, its method is even more admirable than its success. And again it touched every parental heart to observe the care and labor lavished by you on the schools of the parish. The education of the children is a burning question of the time: For us it has been happily settled as to the principle, and we have only to apply the principle to secure results. Our taxes support our separate schools; but money alone does not secure fine training. Method, supervision, twenty other things, enter into the problem of securing a sound Catholic education for the children. From your arrival amongst us the ele-vation of the school has been your constant study. As far as we can see you have missed no opportunity to gam-a step in advance in all the mat-ters connected with the conduct of the school. And the results are visible in a hundred ways, in a hundred improvements, for which the parents, and the people at large, take this opportunity to express their most sinportunity to express their most sincere gratitude.

If we attempted to enumerate all the departments in which your supervision was felt and your activity most beneficial, this address would stretch beyond bounds.

We must conclude by wishing you every success in the new field of labor to which you have been called. In that elevated position close to the representative of Holy Father the Pope, we desire for you increase of opportunity and increase of honor; that you may go on from year to year in an ever-widening circle of glory and usefulness. And we beg of you not to forget us, whom you have served so faithfully, as we intend to remember you often with gratitude, and as a slight mark of our esteem

THE WORTHY FATHER'S REPLY Father Solanus was much overcome by the unexpected gift and expressio of devotion on the part of the members of his flock. It was some time before he could find words to voice his feelings, and when he did he said that he had never before this time felt at a loss for words to ex-press his feelings, but on the present occasion he was forced to confess that he was entirely at a loss. He was overpowered by the kindness shown. The kind references to himself in regard to financing the affairs of the church he felt he did not altogether deserve. The congregation had as much to do with the successful carry-ing on the financial schemes because they furnished the money.

Father Solanus was glad that the people were united in regard to school matters and he thought that with such a church and congregation the Separate school would al-ways be kept up to a high standard and from the way the school matters were being conducted, he had no doubt that it would. In conclusion, Father Solanus most heartily thanked the representatives of the congrega-tion for the kind address and handsome
