MR. BORDEN'S TOUR.

Robert Laird Borden will include London and Chatham in the itinerary of his tour of the country, which opens within a few days. Mr. Borden is expected to be in this city on September 14, and in London on September 16.

To the leader of the Dominion Conservatives Western Ontario will extend a welcome of no ordinary character, predicts the London Free Press. True, his coming is political, and, for this reason, will appeal more strongly to Conservatives than to Liberals. But all are Canadians, and among Canadians Mr. Borden stands pre-eminent.

Mr. Borden's message to the people will be seen to rest upon the broadest statesmanship. This much may be accepted. The public career of the brilliant Nova Scotian has stamped him a man of breadth of view and well-equipped to lead in the councils of the nation.

There are questions of deepest moment confronting the people. Purity in high places is one such. Any attempt to minimize the importance of sweeping from power the man or set of men whose private characters will not bear the light of day must be frowned down. Impurity in private life cannot be admitted as having no bearing upon public life. It is not given to man to play Jekyll and Hyde with his character. He may deceive many, even himself. Deception will not remove the canker. The blight will sooner or later be felt elsewhere. A defective private life spells an ineffective public life. Mr. Borden, however willing, cannot pass over this serious condition in the affairs of Canada.

It has been said that the tariff issue has been removed from the arena of politics. Liberal speakers and Liberal newspapers have been heard to this effect. Upon the point Mr. Borden may be expected to have something to say. If the tariff is no longer an issue, it can only be so because the Liberals have definitely broken their idols and have endorsed the tariff policy of their political opponents, the Liberal-Conservatives. The party behind Mr. Borden stands irrevocably committed to the protection of home industry. The "tail chinners" of Canada have not been produced by any one or group of trade policies as enunciated by the Liberal party when in opposition. They are the direct product of the principles of tariff regulation as laid down by Sir John A. Macdonald in the National Policy.

Upon questions of immigration, the extension of national shipping facilities by rail and water, and kindred topics, Mr. Borden will probably also be heard. His visit will in no sense be local. He does not come to talk mere pleasantness. The issues are large and momentous, and upon these Mr. Borden will be found to have a definite view and the courage to present it.

THE GOOD OLD-FASHIONED GAME

Uncle Hiram was bawling the degeneracy of modern sports. "Look at baseball," he said. "where ain't half the fun in it there was when I was a young man, thirty years ago. Nowadays the fellers with the bat don't seem to be able to do any thing with the ball. There's lots of games when they don't make a run. I mind the time when I belonged to the Peasants of Fairwinton. There was a club up in Heddingville that thought they could beat us without half trying. They challenged us, and we took 'em up. They came down one morning with a car-load of people from Heddingville to see 'em wipe us out. 'Well, er, we began by ay at ten o'clock in the forenoon. The game wasn't finished at noon, and we quit for dinner. At two in the afternoon we went at it again, and mighty nigh the whole town went out to the pasture where we was playing to see the game. 'First one side would get ahead, and then the other. Battling! You never saw such battling in your life. There was more than two dozen home runs. It was close on to five o'clock when the last man was put out. But we beat 'em. We took the conceit out of them fellers, and they never challenged us again. 'But what was the score, Uncle Hiram?' asked one of the listeners. 'Ninety-seven to eighty-five,' proudly answered Uncle Hiram; 'and I made fifteen of them runs myself. Think of that when you hear about a 'one to nothing' game in the first-ninth innings! I tell you, we could hit the ball in them days!—Youths' Companion.

It's too bad that some people can't change some of their dollars into sense.

AULD LANG SYNE

FROM PLANET FILES OF HALF A CENTURY AGO

From The Planet files from March 19, 1868, to March 26, 1868.

On Tuesday last a lad named Hunter, living at Ingersoll, while attempting to lift a pail full of water from the River Thames at that place, slipped and fell into the stream under the ice, and was drowned before he could be rescued. His father was drowned a few years ago while making a trip to the old country.

A Canadian editor, attacked by a ruffian on a bridge, threw him into the river and made an item of him. The sensational part was experienced most by the man in the water.

Mary Ann Love, at a place near Stratford, recently gave birth to a child, and immediately after murdered it by dashing it against a log. She has been lodged in jail to await her trial.

This morning several men employed a horse to ferry them over one of the inundated portions of North Chatham, and for a while the poor brute did its duty among the ice satisfactorily. Finally, however, the animal underwent a change of opinion, and stopping the middle of a huge pond of water, threw his entire load of humanity into the cooling element. He then ran off, leaving the men to get out of the water as best they could.

One thousand five hundred persons applied for charity food one morning last week in New York.

The population of the United States is now 38,000,000.

The Burlington Argus says that one of the divers on the bridge while under water the other day, saw a large catfish swimming past him. He reached out his hand and caught it by the gill and pulled the signal rope, when he was brought to the surface with the fish in hand. When it was dressed it weighed 42 pounds.

Near London, a few days since a thief stole some sheep skins with live mutton inside.

A woman of twenty-two has just married her third husband in Worcester, Mass. Take courage, women.

A man in one of the Hartford cotton mills, opening a bale of cotton the other day, found a wallet containing $5,000 in Confederate bills.

At Hamilton, on Wednesday last, two youngsters fought for the possession of a dog, and between them both the animal lost its life. It was choked to death.

Chatham was visited this week with a great frost. It continued to rain for seven days, and with the thawing snow and ice the river was very high. Considerable damage has been the result.

In the neighborhood of Boston there are thirteen blind children, the descendants of one blind man, residing in that city. What should be done with the man?

A terrible tragedy has occurred in California. A gentleman and a lady, a present of a pair of pistols, and after several trials of skill they concluded to go through the form of a duel. They took their positions, fired at the word, and to the terror of the lady the gentleman fell. She threw herself frantically upon the corpse, embracing and kissing it with every emotion of endearment. Under such magical influence the gentleman revived and rose unhurt from the ground, and they are to be married.

Girls Who Do Not Powder

Tom Groves Says They are to be found in England
—City of Ripon is Described By Traveller

2 Gladstone Terrace, Ripon, Yorkshire, England, July 31st, 1907.
To the Editor of the Planet.

Dear Sir,—I am still having the time of my life. I am doing the heavy with all the trimmings. I finished up my old home and the scenes of my childhood and New-castle-on-Tyne on Friday to visit my sister. But before going farther, a little history of Ripon will be in order. Ripon has been incorporated over a thousand years. St. Wilfrid commenced Ripon Cathedral in the year 670. Fountains Abbey, the noble seat of the Most Honorable the Marquis of Ripon, adjoining Studley Royal, was built in the 12th century, covering 11 acres of ground. Four acres of ruins stand in a lovely vale. The City of Ripon is the great attraction for visitors from Harrogate, the great inland water long place of England, and from all the great towns and cities of Yorkshire. Fountains Abbey is conceded the finest abbey in England. Two of the most important old customs kept up are the Curfew Bell and the Horn Blowing. The bell ringing was to warn the people to go home and cover the fires—all lights out—and the horn blower in the market was to warn the Wakeman—what we call the Mayor at the present day—that he was responsible till morning for all burglaries or fires or anything that would happen in the Market Place, the business portion of the town. So Ripon has a history that visitors are keen after. Now, Mr. Editor, I don't want you to think that I am too sensitive for my old home and its surroundings. I am a Canadian, I will back the Canadians before the world. That is the country where I make my living, but I am going to tell you on the side that if I were independent and had made my pile in England, would be the place for me. I am meeting a few of my old girls and a lot of new ones. Of course as I am not going back on Chatham I have to be a little careful as I am on delicate grounds, and I don't want my Chatham friends to think I am going back on them; but, if you want to see the pure complexion, the beautiful color in the face, and ruby lips we have them right here—the pure quill, even the youngsters that play in the dust. The youngsters are bursting out with bloom. The only thing I can account for is that they never powder their faces. I have been doing a little figuring on the quiet, and I can't find one young lady or old one that has powder on her face. I am sure it must be very pleasant for the young men to think they can kiss without having a drag store on the face. Of course the old fellows like myself have to go away back and sit down.

Ripon owns its own waterworks by gravitation, and its Sewerage Farm, which they make a good thing out of. The water is filtered and is white before it enters the river. A Government Inspector comes down every week to see that the water is pure before it goes into the stream.

All the stores close on Friday afternoon, winter and summer, except barbers and tobacconists and a few small shops on the outside. Of course drug stores keep one man each, but the stores are practically closed. But I am going to tell you that the Old Country shines in its roads. They are just as level as a board. Just like bituliche with a beautiful crown. Half an hour after it rains they are dry, and the automobiles over here are grand—all aakes and styles. Some of them carry 50 people. Eight rows of seats, large covered in cars. I must give up the old country the cake. They lead in motor cars. I shall have to draw to a close. With my best wishes to all the citizens of Chatham; I am, your humble servant,

TOM GROVES.

WISE PARENTS

GUARD THEIR CHILDREN'S HEALTH BY GIVING THEM DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

The health of the growing boy or girl should be carefully guarded. During the growing time there is a danger of the blood becoming poisoned and the health seriously impaired. The blood should be kept pure and the child will grow strong, healthy and active. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for the young. They never fail to bring color to the pale cheeks and strength to the growing body. To a reporter of L'Avener du Nord, Mr. J. S. Provost, of St. Canute, Que., tells how these pills saved his daughter Marie from a life of misery. He says: "A year ago my daughter, a girl of thirteen, was very weak. She was so ill that I feared she was going into consumption. Though I tried every remedy after remedy she remained in this weak state for several months, and I began to think she was going to die. I then bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gave her a course of them. She was cured in a case of anaemia, so got some for her. Soon she began to improve; her appetite returned; she grew strong; color came into her cheeks, and today she is as healthy as any young girl could be. I firmly believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are equally as successful in bringing those of mature age back to health as they are in building up the young. They make pure, rich blood, and thus cure all ailments of rheumatism, St. Vitus dance, heart palpitation, indigestion and the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood. But you must get the genuine bearing the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around the box. All other so-called Pink Pills are imitations. If your medicine dealer does not keep the genuine pills they will be sent at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ALMOST SUCCEEDED.

Kidnapper Caught as He Was Crossing Gangway Plank.

New York, Aug. 16.—Within a few minutes of sailing time of the steamship Bluebird yesterday morning, police arrested Andrew Kastruck, who is wanted in Philadelphia on a charge of kidnaping a five-year-old boy. Fire in Ottawa Suburb.
Ottawa, Aug. 16.—There was a nine thousand dollar fire in Janerville, a suburb of Ottawa, yesterday afternoon. It started in Proulx paint shop, which was destroyed, together with a dwelling and shop belonging to the same man. The buildings were valued at $4,500 and were insured for $900. The fire spread and destroyed a house belonging to Eugene Favard and a house and stable owned by Jos. Desjardines. In the stable was a valuable bull, which was burned. The fire was controlled with great difficulty. At one time it looked as if the whole village would be destroyed. The efforts of those who were engaged in saving property were embarrassed by a gang of looters who made off with articles from the burning house, and those in the vicinity of the fire. A valuable gold watch, belonging to Mrs. Desjardines, was among the articles stolen.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving it perfect strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Frisco Reformers Win.

San Francisco, Aug. 16.—The primary election in this city resulted in a sweeping victory for the Republican League, or Ryan ticket, which stood for earnest support of the bribery and graft prosecution, and the present mayor and board of supervisors. The opposing faction, led by Postmaster Fiske, made a sorry showing, electing not more than 15 delegates to the party convention, which consists of 149 members.

CAPE BRETON

GOES "WET"

Liquor Traffic Restrictions Are Voted Away—Scott Act Repealed.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 16.—Cape Breton yesterday defeated the Scott Act, the majority so far being 680, with some returns still to come, which are expected to increase the majority.

The act has been in force in this part of Nova Scotia since the early eighties, and has been in a large measure a success. The movement for its repeal was on the initiative of friends of the liquor traffic, who are anxious for a return to the license system. Circumstances have very greatly altered of late years, with the growth of coal mining and the steel industry, and branches of the act are not uncommon in some places, notably Sydney. Generally speaking, Nova Scotia is "dry," other portions being under prohibition.

The temperance people put up an angry fight against the repeal of the act, and the other side also worked hard. Some question has arisen as to whether the change will affect the City of Sydney, which lies within the boundaries of the county, and the Secretary of State has given it as his opinion that this had better be determined by the courts.

An effort was made to have the plebiscite postponed to a later date, and Alex. Johnston, M.P. for Cape Breton, placed the matter before the Federal authorities, but Hon. R. W. Scott stated that the matter had gone too far.

OLD ORCHARD HOTELS BURN.

One Hundred Buildings In Flames—Loss $500,000.

Old Orchard, Me., Aug. 16.—A serious fire raged here yesterday. It is reported that three children were burned. Five buildings, including the Hotel Olympia, have been destroyed. Aid has been asked of nearby cities.

At 9.45 p. m. the fire was raging over a territory of about 20 acres, in which are located some of the largest hotels and summer cottages of the shore front. The Hotel Fiske, the Hotel Alberta, the Aldine House, the Lawrence House, the Lewiston House and several other hotels were on fire, and it was estimated that from fifty to seventy-five cottages were also burning.

Engines and firemen from Portland, Biddeford and Saco were on hand, but were delayed in getting water to the flames through the failure of the couplings to fit properly. At that hour the loss was estimated at fully half a million dollars.

Old Orchard is full of summer visitors, but a careful enquiry fails to show any loss of life.

The Hotel Emerson, valued at $75,000, caught fire at 9.45 p. m. and the Boston & Maine Railroad station has been abandoned. More than one hundred buildings were in flames at that time.

It is reported that three men were killed by dynamite used in blowing up buildings to stop the progress of the flames.

JAPS PLAN SEAL RAID.

Have Number of Schooners Armed With Machine Guns.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 16.—A planned and organized scheme to loot not only the fisheries of the coast but also the stores of the North American Trading & Transportation Co., lessors of the Pribiloff, and large numbers of pelts salted awaiting shipment, has been discovered, with the result that the United States Government has decided to despatch the cruiser Buffalo to Bering.

The news was brought here by the sealing schooner Vera, which has returned from a hunting cruise in the north Pacific.

The capture reported that an arrangement had been reached by a number of Japanese sailing schooners, each of which carried, besides their usual armament used in hunting, one or more machine guns on board, to unite in making a concerted raid on the islands.

Must Keep Hotel.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Complaints have been made to the Ontario License Department of the condition of two hotels at Essex, which were damaged by the explosion of nitro-glycerine in a box car on Saturday last. It is represented that the proprietors are taking immediate steps to renew their fixtures so as to accommodate the thirty public, while they are not in a hurry to provide beds and food for the ordinary traveler.

Chief Inspector Saunders states that he has instructed his officers to see that the hotels are put in shape as early as possible.

Took Paris Green.

Mt. Forest, Aug. 16.—Wednesday afternoon, while some women were picking berries near the river, about five miles from Mount Forest, they came upon the body of a man about 26 years of age, lying in the berry patch, and identified it as that of William Davies, a young Scotchman, an employee of James Shaw of Arthur Township. By his side was found an empty bottle, which showed traces of the poison. He was carrying a bag of berries, and it was assumed that he had taken the poison to restore color to the cheeks, buoyancy to the step. Better try Ferrozone. You'll feel like a new being with new vigor and ability to confront life's difficulties. You are sure to hear the day you commenced Ferrozone. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

MEN RULE BY FORCE, WOMEN BY CHARM.

And yet, because they live less strenuously, women neglect the early evidences of failing vigor. The wise woman will not permit her charms to be robbed by ill-health. When she feels appetite failing, nerves getting on edge, color fading, she takes Ferrozone. How quickly rich blood is available to restore color to the cheeks, buoyancy to the step. Better try Ferrozone. You'll feel like a new being with new vigor and ability to confront life's difficulties. You are sure to hear the day you commenced Ferrozone. Sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

SUICIDE INDEFENSIBLE

But Increasing In Every Land, Says General Booth.

The act of self-destruction is a violation of the sacredness of life, the law of the land and an outrage upon the moral sense of the people. Suicide is indefensible.

Yet it is on the increase in every land and among all classes. Modern civilization cannot claim it has fostered and developed the bonds that bind men to a just appreciation of life. Statistics of suicides are alarming, especially in such countries as Denmark, Bavaria and several parts of the German Empire. But no doubt many more perish by their own act whose names never appear in the statistical roll of suicides.

The offense is either committed in a way that baffles human skill in its effort to determine the cause of death, or means are found by influential friends to hide away the crime.

But if so many with suicidal intent find courage for the act, who can calculate the number who would cut the sacred thread of life which binds them to this world if only they dared?

Nay, how many of the gay, laughing crowds around us have at one time or another contemplated suicide, and how many this very day would hurry away from the present stage of being but for an indefinite dread of the future? I believe the number is larger than most people have the slightest conception of.

As to the causes that lead to suicide, they are numberless. No doubt "temporary insanity," the reason commonly assigned by the gentlemen who are so often called upon to enquire into the matter, is frequently the correct one. For who, not worked up to some terrible pitch of excitement tantamount to mental derangement, would commit so foolish a deed?

But how does that derangement come about? What is behind it?

The reasons commonly suggested are drink, speculation, dissipation, gambling and similar follies. These things lead, it is said, to all sorts of disappointments and vexations, under the influence of which weak, ill-balanced, passionate and unmastered minds give way, ending only too often in the deadly recourse to poison, the water, the revolver or the rope.

But further back in the string of causes for this melancholy transaction I should say there too frequently lies a sense of failure in the struggle of life; especially is this the case with those who have "come down in the world."

With many I believe the step is taken in the struggle to be good—in the vain effort to master some hated evil habit with the sense of utter friendlessness.

No one is at hand with sufficient sympathy or sense to understand those to whom the poor bleeding heart can be laid bare. So the fatal step is taken.

Suicide in ninety cases out of a hundred must be the triumph of despair.

Is there any remedy? Like the antidote to every human sorrow, the remedy must begin with pity. It is true that self-murder is an evil thing. But it is only so many degrees worse than other evil things men do, by which they kill themselves as surely as does the man who reels beneath the weight of his distress in frenzied madness flings himself beneath the wheels of the roaring railway train.

For example, what about the people that drink or eat or idle themselves to death?

But I will not argue the cases; can anything be done to prevent the suicidal tide from rising? That is the practical question. And it seems to me we must supply the friends of the broken, the broken creatures with a guide, the momentary maddened slaves of folly with thoughts and hopes that will steady them, and above all lead them to the arms of Him, who is still saying, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Blind Man's Idea of Color.

"Have you any conception of color?" a friend asked a blind man. "What idea have you when you hear the colors mentioned?" "A person blind from birth, as I have been, can have no possible proper conception of color," was the reply. "To me color is sound, or rather, music. When I hear the word red, for example, I instantly think of a high, piercing note of music; blue is to me a delicately sounded note, fairly high and pleasing in tone; green is a soft tone and rather low, quiet and mellow, while yellow is lively, quick little notes, rapidly sounding, and causing pleasure. Almost to me, I think, the only color language. Black, alas, the only color that is the absence of all light, and we know only too well what that means."

The value of wealth cannot be estimated by those who do not possess it.

A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note.

The man who sticks to the truth seldom talks about himself.

SERMONS IN HATS.

Headgear Tells of Both Villany and Virtue.

What relation, if any, does the manner of wearing that bear to the character of the wearer?

The answer is given, as we should expect, by a learned German. In a book on criminal psychology, published at Leipzig, says The British Medical Journal, Prof. H. Gross has made a number of observations on the way of wearing the hat in its relation to character, and has formed conclusions of the accuracy of which he has satisfied himself by a long experience.

He holds that a hat worn exactly perpendicular to the vertical axis of the head is a sign that a man is upright, but a pedant and a bore. Men who are gentle and amiable and full of the milk of human kindness wear the hat a little on one side. The wearing of the hat very much on one side is said by the German writer to be a mark of insolence and swagger.

According to our German authority, wearing the hat on the back of the head may be taken as a proof of recklessness and being in debt; the further back it is, the nearer to bankruptcy in the wearer.

On the other hand, if the hat is worn over the forehead, it indicates a man of different temper, sulky—in short, in the words of the Scottish song, "a sumph to keep up spile."

The professor has not neglected the science of footgear in the midst of his other labors. Thus, he has observed that a man who wears down the heels of his boots equally may safely be put down an energetic man of business or a trustworthy official. If they are worn down on the outer side, the owner is gifted with imagination and is of an adventurous spirit. If they are worn down on the inner side, he is weak and undecided in character; this diagnostic sign, however, we are told, is more to be relied upon the case of men than of women.
