Explosion on a Destroyer.

Corfu, March 18.—The British destroyers Dragon, Boxer, Desperate and Foana went out at noon Saturday on a steam trial. At five o'clock a tube in the Dragon's boiler exploded, injuring severely Stokers Dawe, Parks and Brown, and slightly injuring Chief Stoker Gough and two men named Moyle and Wilton.

The Dragon was towed into harbor and the men were landed and taken to the military hospital.

Two Killed in Warship Crash.

Ajaccio, Corsica, March 18.—During the manoeuvres Saturday night without lights, the torpedo boat destroyer Epes rammed torpedo boat No. 263. A steamship burst, killing two men and fatally injuring another.

MANY CHILDREN SICK.

Get their feet wet, catch cold or cramps, and give mothers an anxious time. With the first shiver or sneeze rub the little one's chest with Nervine, gargle the throat, and give ten drops in hot water at bedtime. Next morning all is well. No cold, no time lost at school. If Polson's Nervine isn't in your home get it there at once. Dealers sell it in large 25c. bottles.

St. Kitts Man Acquitted.

Buffalo, March 18.—The federal jury in the case of Maurice Morris of St. Catharines, Ont., who was indicted upon charges of making a false invoice through the custom house at Niagara Falls, reported Judge Hazel Saturday a verdict of not guilty.

Jacob Sikorsky, who was jointly indicted with Morris, was discharged by Judge Hazel Friday afternoon on the ground that there was no evidence that he had anything to do with the offences alleged in the indictment.

IT ACTUALLY DESTROYS THE CAUSE.

That's why catarrh is invariably cured by inhaling Catarrhine. The healing vapor spreads to every part of the breathing organs. Germs infecting the tissues of the nose, throat and lungs are killed. Nothing is left to cause inflammation. Spots that are sore are healed. Discharge is cleared away and catarrh becomes something of the past. Use Catarrhine and your recovery is guaranteed. Two sizes, 25c. and $1 at all dealers.

Paralytic Cremated.

Victoria, B. C., March 18.—A pathetic tragedy reported from the Dell Ranch, midway between Oshawa and Ladysmith. Mrs. Oslar, an octogenarian resident, being burned to death. The old lady, a paralytic, living with her son, was sitting by the open fire, sparks from which ignited her clothing. Unable to move, the unfortunate lady burned to death.

60 Specialists on the Case.—In the ordinary run of medical practice a greater number than this have treated cases of chronic dyspepsia, and have failed to cure — but Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets, 60 in a box at 35 cents each, have made the cure, giving relief in one day. These little "specialists" have proven their real merit.

HINDOO HEAVENS.

Four Degrees of Bliss to Which the Departed Spirits Pass.

The Hindoos believe in four special abodes of the righteous after death. The first is called Sara-loka, "God's world," the second, Sameeba, "Near to God," the third, Sarobam, "God's image," and the fourth, Sayutecham, which signifies "to be absorbed in him."

To Sara-loka, the first degree of bliss, go the souls of all of those who have ever made a pilgrimage to a holy place or who have paid for the temple lights for one month. In Sara-loka there is great happiness and no work or sickness. The inmate is allowed to read the five sacred books, drink ambrosia and hear the hours sing.

To Sameeba go the spirits of all Keerikarar, or workers in the Brahman cause; also those who forego the comforts of life, such as sleeping in a recumbent position, eating sufficiently, etc. Their happiness consists chiefly of continually praising God.

To Sarobam, the third heaven, go the souls of such as never spoil God's model by shaving or paring the nails. These are the Brahman Yogis. They wander about the earth, always going from left to right. They eat nothing but nutritious food and live in a constant state of abstraction on divine subjects.

The fourth heaven, Sayutecham, is the coming abode of the "nyane," or philosophers. These nyane pay no attention to heat or cold, never bathe and often go for weeks without food. If they are sick, no one knows it and they themselves. They are the stoics of the world of today and believe that in Sayutecham they will eventually be absorbed in the deity.

TRAINING ANIMALS.

Obedying the Word Regardless of the Tone and Manner.

It is true that animals can be taught to obey a tone alone—that is, a mere sound having no place among the lists of words. So may a human being. Therefore that proves nothing. It is likewise true that you may say a thing in a tone that contradicts the word, and the animal may or may not respond to the tone only, but the same effort will produce the same effect on any sensitive child, woman or man.

Again, horses and dogs are the most sensitive of all brutes, the most easily offended, encouraged, discouraged. Therefore, need one be surprised if he finds it takes a long lesson to teach a horse or dog to obey the word regardless of the tone and manner? That either can be so taught, however, thousands of people know from their own experience.

I can say to my little Gipsy, "Come here and let me whip you," in the quietest, softest, most smiling style, and she comes cringing, trembling and ashamed, showing unmistakably that she considers the word "whip" humiliating and hateful, yet hopes I do not intend to inflict any punishment. Then I can frown my worst and shout out as savagely as I please, "No; you're a good dog!" and she frisks about joyfully, although she dislikes harsh tones even in sport.—Forest and Stream.

Cleaning Brass.

Here is the government recipe for cleaning brass. It is used in all the United States arsenals and is said to be the best in the world. This is the recipe: One part of common nitric acid to half a part of sulphuric acid. Keep the mixture in a stone jar, having ready a pailful of fresh water and a boxful of sawdust. Articles to be cleaned must first be dipped in the acid mixture, then into the water and dried with sawdust. This process of cleaning will change the brass immediately to a brilliant color. If the metal is greasy—as candlesticks would be—dip first in a strong solution of potash and soda, in warm water. This cuts the grease and permits the acid to work. This method of cleaning brass is entirely harmless and is very satisfactory.

Nicknames.

"It's funny how a nickname, given to one during one's boyhood, will stick to one throughout a lifetime," said a man recently. "The variety of nicknames is also amusing. If I were asked to explain the conditions, I should say that it was because of the 'rest of the kids' didn't like the real names and just substituted others to suit themselves. For instance, a boy comes to school with a lengthy name that a fond mother has given him with no doubt in the world that he will bear it all his life. Usually her fond hopes are shattered and the little 'dear' will come home from school the proud possessor of such a 'hang-on' as Tip, Rip, Bull or Buck. And it sticks too."

A Powerful Salve.

A man in Nebraska invented a new powerful double acting salve which shows powers never before exhibited by salves of any kind. The inventor accidentally cut off the tail of a tame wolf, and immediately applying some of the salve to the stump, a new tail grew out. Then, picking up the old tail, he applied some of the salve to the raw end of that, and a wolf grew out, but he was a wild wolf and had to be shot.

The Emerald Isle.

Ireland is called the Emerald Isle because of the richness of its verdure, the term being first used by Dr. William Drennan, the author of "Glendaloch" and other poems, published in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

Treatise of Fysshynge With an Angle was the first book on angling printed in English. It appeared in 1440.

Spectator Killed in French Riot.

Nantes, France, March 18.—The strike of the stevedores of this port resulted yesterday in violent rioting, in the course of which a spectator was shot dead.

A mob stoned the gendarmes and police, who were forced to disperse the crowd with drawn sabres.

Edmonton Bulletin Burned Out.

Edmonton, Alta., March 18.—The plant of The Edmonton Bulletin, a paper owned and started by Hon. Frank Oliver, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night, entailing a loss of $50,000, which there is insurance of $34,000.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One-third of the best part of a woman's life sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. Those years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon, then, to woman is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating drains, heals ulcerations, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Australian's Sympathy.

London, March 18.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Northcote, Governor-General, has telegraphed the French Government, through Lord Elgin, an expression of sympathy from the Australian Government on the lens disaster.

Revolution in Venezuela.

Willemstad, Caracas, March 18.—A despatch received here from Cuenca, Colombia, announces that a powerful revolution has started in the State of Tachira, Venezuela, with Gen. Juan Pablo Pantoja as its leader.

Windsor Salt—ought to cost more—so pure, fine, well-savoured. Goes further, too. But not a cent dearer.

Negro Wins Scholarship.

Philadelphia, March 18.—A bright-looking little colored man, with the impressive name of Alain Le Roy Locke, is the first negro to win a Rhodes scholarship. Locke is a senior in Harvard University. He won the honor when he sat for his examination at Oxford at a competitive examination held at Boston and was one of seven aspirants who passed.

The conditions under which the scholarship was given included a provision that neither race nor color should bar a candidate; that merit alone should count.

Lost in Blizzard.

Prince Albert, Sask., March 18.—While driving from Kinstinow with a coffin for Patrick McGovern, formerly of Orillia, who hanged himself at the home of Charles Brady, twelve miles from the town, Patrick Murphy was thrown from his sleigh, his horses running away.

He got lost in a blizzard, and was found by two commercial travelers Saturday. Both his feet were frozen and may have to be amputated.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Man wants but little here below, but he wants it triple extract and on a gold silver.

There are plenty of people who want to practice ill manners and be thought polite.

Soap is no sign of intellect, but nevertheless where soap is at a discount intelligence is apt to be below par.

Ever notice how your sense of duty gets a homesome feeling?

The reason why most boys aren't train robbers is because the train looks so big.

Anyway, the woman who forgets to put on her complexion doesn't look so bad as the one who forgets to put on her teeth.

Nothing is easier than being a fool and nothing foolisher than being easy.

A good brand of honesty would be hard put to it to find a competent judge of its genuineness.

As a general thing, people who are dead wrong always know that they are right.

You can't insult a man who places a dollar above self respect.

The Latest.

We do not say "He's in the soup" when trying to make clear. The fact that some one's down a peg or slightly out of gear.

We say, in trying to make clear. That one is in disgrace.

"They handed him a lemon." And that explains the case.

No longer do we cry aloud. "He got it in the neck."

When some unfortunate receives a most decided check.

We say, in setting forth the fact that some one's cake is dough.

"They handed him a lemon." And all the wise ones know.

It isn't fun today to say of some unlucky chump.

"They hoisted him on rollers, and they wheeled him to the dump."

The language has been simplified. And so we can explain.

"They handed him a lemon." That makes his status plain.

That he has been to mince meat ground.

Run through the rolling mill. Or given the kibosh does not now.

The full description fill. We smile and quietly observe.

When he is crushed down flat. "They handed him a lemon."

And let it go at that.

Killing Two Birds.

"Jones is the meanest man on record. He quit smoking because the doctors ordered him to."

"What's mean about that?"

"He told his wife it was because she objected to it."

Blue Laws.

Blue laws evidently were not designed to aid and abet the reckless young man whose notion of a good time was to paint the town red.

Their motive rather was to restrain him and let him have a day when water was the motive power for running the wheels in his head.

Every once in awhile some one who evidently hasn't an almanac in the house and consequently doesn't know in which century we are living gets a little temporal power in some eastern state that still has a bunch of unrepentant blue laws and has fun with his fellowmen for a few Sundays trying to enforce them.

The majority of people who never lived in New England have a very hazy idea as to what the blue laws are like. They think these regulations relate chiefly to kissing one's wife on Sunday, and they rather resent them as being a reflection on the fair mothers of the republic.

So Simple.

"I have discovered a sure way of beating the races."

"Put me on."

"Well, as you are a good friend, I will. Bet on the winning horse."

Just a Knock.

The little lady wasn't a blacksmith's helper strong. But she could use the hammer as though she did belong.

The Usual Conception.

"The doctor has ordered me on a diet."

"That ought to be economical. Sawdust has not gone up like other food-stuffs."

Quite Right.

"Does money make a fool of a man?"

"Not always. Not unless it gets to him."

Try it! What? The Planet!

CASTLE IN THE AIR.

Wembley Tower, Which Was to Have Reached 1,150 Feet, Demolished.

The most prominent landmark in Middlesex—Wembley Tower—is now being demolished, and will be cleared entirely away in about a year.

It was intended to be the tallest tower in the world, the full height being planned 1,150 feet, as against the 985 of the Paris Eiffel tower. The promoter of the scheme was Sir Edward Watkin, who hoped to make a more attractive pleasure resort at Wembley than either Earl's Court or Crystal Palace. A premium was offered for designs, and 500 guineas was awarded to three architects jointly.

The base of the tower covers 90,000 feet of ground, and the size of the first platform—which was as far skywards as the tower ever reached—may be judged from the fact that it was to accommodate a theatre to seat 1,500 persons!

The erection of the tower was begun in 1893, and stopped in August, 1894, the main reason being that there was a lack of funds, although a remark of Lord Rosebery's, to the effect that the building was a new Tower of Babel, is supposed to have given offence to Sir Edward Watkin, and
