HER FIRST PHOTOGRAPH.

Miss Marie Corelli, the Novelist, Explains Her Views and How It All Came About.

The long drawn out fight which Miss Marie Corelli has been making to protect her personal modesty and at the same time to interfere with the publicity of her fiction has taken a new turn with the publication of her latest book, "The Treasures of Heaven," which has just been given to the book-sellers.

At last she has condescended, at the special request of the publishers to allow a real photograph of herself to go before the public. It appears as the frontispiece of the new book, which is her sixteenth.

Even more surprising, as a bit of vanity, is the "autograph" which goes with the frontispiece in the English edition of "The Treasures of Heaven." She declares that a portrait of herself was taken in the spring of this year, and she explains her feelings about it.

"I am somewhat reluctant," she writes, "to see it so placed, because it has nothing whatever to do with the story, which is told in the following pages, beyond being a faithful likeness."

MARIE CORELLI'S FIRST PHOTOGRAPH.

of the author who is responsible for this and many other previous books which have had the good fortune to meet with a friendly reception from the reading public. Moreover, I am not quite able to convince myself that my pictured personality can have any interest for my readers, as it has always seemed to me that an author's real being is more disclosed in his or her work than in any portrayed presentation of mere physical form.

"But, owing to the fact that various gross, and I think I may say libelous, fictitious misrepresentations of me have been freely and unwarrantedly circulated throughout Great Britain, the colonies and America by certain 'lower' sections of the pictorial press, which, with a zeal worthy of a better and kinder cause, have striven by this means to alienate my readers from me, it appears to my publishers advisable that an authentic likeness of myself, as I truly am to-day, should now be issued in order to prevent any further misleading of the public by fraudulent inventions."

Then Miss Corelli tells how she concealed her identity from the London photographers for whom she posed, by using the name of a "lady friend," and having the various proofs sent to her address.

"That I thus elected to be photographed as an unknown rather than a known person," Miss Corelli explains further, "was in order that no extra pains should be taken in my behalf, but that I should be treated just as an ordinary stranger would be treated, with no less, but at the same time certainly no more care."

"For the benefit of those who may feel any further curiosity on the subject," Miss Corelli writes that no portraits in any way resembling her have been published anywhere, with the exception of a picture taken in her own house by an amateur photographer.

This remarkable "note" ends thus: "My objection to this sort of 'picture popularity' has already been publicly stated, and I here repeat and emphasize it. And I venture to ask my readers who have so generously encouraged me by their warm and constant appreciation of my literary efforts to try and understand the spirit in which the objection is made. It is simply that to myself the personal 'Self' of me is nothing, and should be, rightly speaking, nothing to any one outside the circle of my home and my intimate friends; while my work and the keen desire to improve in that work, so that by my work alone I may become united in sympathy and love to my readers, whoever and whatever they may be, constitutes for me the Everything of Life."

New Earth Theory.

Is the earth made up of three concentric spheres? A physicist says that such is the case. The solid nucleus he supposes to be between 3,000 and 7,000 miles in diameter and this is surrounded by a liquid substratum, outside of which is the crust, variously estimated at seventy to 100 miles in thickness. More than two centuries ago a similar theory, including the slow rotation of the inner solid sphere on a different axis from that of the entire globe, was held by Dr. Edmund Halley to account for the changes in the earth's magnetism. The axis of the nucleus was thought to have been originally that of the entire globe and to the change of its course was attributed the deluge. The earth's internal heat, it is now pointed out, may be accounted for by the friction of the differently rotating bodies.

Peculiar Austrian Law.

A few days ago the murderer of an Englishman who was killed in Austria in July of last year was tried, convicted and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment. He owes his life to a peculiarity of the Austrian law. Premeditated murder is commonly a capital crime there, but when the murderer has between the commission of his crime and his trial been punished for some other misdeed the death sentence cannot be passed upon him. In this case the murderer had served a week's sentence for some petty offence after the killing, but before his arrest for it.

STATE LAWS.

"If you should have your choice whether to die in the Empire State or in good old New Jersey, don't fail to select Jersey," remarked a Hoboken lawyer the other day. "Over there," said he, "we still do business on lines laid out by the common law. For example, under the laws of New Jersey a husband is entitled to all the personal property left by his deceased wife. Across the river the case is quite different, because under the laws of the state of New York half of a deceased wife's personal estate goes to her children and the residue reverts to her husband. Only where there are no children is the hubby the whole thing."

He Was Drugged.

An ambulance surgeon had a curious experience the other night. He was summoned to a police station to examine an unconscious prisoner. The prisoner, very muddy and disheveled, lay on the floor of the cell room. The physician bent over and examined him and then, rising, said in a loud stern voice:

"This man's condition is not due to drink. He has been drugged." A policeman turned pale and said in a timid, hesitating voice: "I'm afraid yer right, sir. I drugged him all the way from Carney's saloon, a matter of a hundred yards or more."—Argonaut.

When to Eat Cotton.

When one by accident swallows an object not intended for eating it is a wise precaution to send after it a quantity of absorbent cotton which has been picked into due threads and mixed in bread and milk. The button, safety pin or whatever it may be gathers the cotton about it, thus covering up any rough edge or sharp point and allowing it to pass through the stomach and intestines without causing injury.

The woman who toils for a living always says she is proud of her position.

AN IDEAL WOMAN.

The "Typical American Lady" and Her Home Influence.

The home life of a typical American lady is the sincerest index of her ego. In it she, indelibly expresses herself. Here it is that she exercises to the maximum her potentiality and that her personality scores. Presumably she is a wife and mother. Her age? Puff! A lady of cleverness nonpluses time.

She is her son's best girl, her daughter's chum, a hostess sans reproche. She rules her home with thrift and skill. Her husband safely trusts in her, and her price is above her birth stone.

Pretense never finds a foothold in a lady's menage. Display seems to her well poised mind not only belittling, but savage. She never confounds litter with furnishing or junk with art.

Her house is beautiful, its atmosphere fine and clear. She is never too busy to listen to her "boy" or advise her "girl" or read to their father. Young people en masse delight in her. She is their ideal mother and friend. Laughter is never hushed in her home. Music is welcomed, and budding merit of whatever sort finds in her an earnest and sympathetic ear.—Minna Thomas Antrim in Lippincott's.

A GIRL'S GIRL.

When You Meet One Make Her Your Companion and Friend.

Whenever you hear a girl called a "girl's girl" try to know her. If you do not do so already, she is sure to be nice in the best sense of the word. In nine cases out of ten you will find her true and sympathetic, always ready to listen to confidences and, above all, ready to keep them as such. She is always doing a kind act for some one, and thought for herself comes nowhere in her calculations. Such a girl is always popular with her friends and you will hear golden opinions of her on all sides. There may be nothing special about her to attract notice; it seems to be just an individual charm in her nature that stamps her with this engaging characteristic. She is generally frank and honest in expressing an opinion and her friends may be sure it is a genuine one. She is at once unaffected and simple and ready to show an interest in all her friends' undertakings. If you cannot count among your friends a girl who earns this title try to find one, and when you find her congratulate yourself upon your success.

DRESS HINTS.

The rule for frilling is one and a quarter the length of the edge to be trimmed.

Gathers should always be set on the right side, but never with a needle; use a large pin.

If the material just under the neck-band at the back has become worn insert a tiny yoke or chemise made of all over lace.

In sewing a seam put the stitches closely together, but lightly, into the cloth, being careful not to pull the thread tight, as this causes the seam to draw.

When cutting out sleeves to avoid the disaster of cutting both for the same arm fold the material either face to face or back to back. Place the pattern on it and cut both together.

To put on the tape that holds the blouse in position around the waist sew up the shoulder and underarm seams, slip it on and tie the tape around the waist, pinning it at the right place in the center of the back.

Saving.

Do your saving at the beginning of the week, you who live upon allowances, or, what is the same, so far as this counts, upon a salary. The extra expenses which often come upon you unexpectedly in the latter part of the week may be easily met if you've been husbanding your resources a little, instead of spending up to the last cent. A good plan is to allow yourself so much for little expenses for a given length of time, and then to keep within daily bounds, saving even a bit from that, if possible. Then, if it is not called upon by some little emergency, either put it away or use it toward some definite purpose, such as subscribing to a good magazine, getting a good book or seeing a good play, all of which should be considered as mental investments.

Regular Eating.

Many a housekeeper does not eat at noon unless she has company. Too much cannot be said in favor of regular hours for meals. A luncheon served for only one or two should be just as dainty as the most formal dinner. A napkin or dolly spread on the bare table is sufficient if one is in a hurry. If left overs are to be the lunch they should be served in an appetizing and savory manner. A glass of milk and a piece of cake, taken standing in the kitchen, is a foolish luncheon. When one has eaten a hearty breakfast a light luncheon is all that is necessary, but if a very little breakfast has been partaken of a good, substantial meal at noon should be eaten.

Greasy Kitchen Floors.

Grease stains on a kitchen floor are difficult to remove by ordinary means, but they will generally come out with a hot solution of potash. If one application is not enough, use a second or even a third. Sometimes the solution, if the wood is very white, will leave a yellowish stain. To avoid this, mix some lime with the solution, until a thick paste is formed. Let the paste remain on the floor at least twelve hours. It is better to use a weak solution of salt soda and fuller's earth on very nice floors.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indigestion, and 'excesses' in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened my back, ached, had a pain in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens, Mich., but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. I had all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent many patients and will continue to do so."

One Stove Enough

If you are just starting housekeeping, just settling on a new farm, or are contentedly settled in a small home, one stove will be enough if it is a "Happy Thought." You can use it for cooking and for heating the house. In summer time the fire can be immediately checked after you are through with your cooking, thus keeping your rooms delightfully cool—while in winter it will heat several rooms or warm the whole of a small house. 130,000 people in Canada use the

and all say that "one stove's enough" for them. Every Happy Thought burns coal or wood.
