

STRICKEN IN THE STREET

Completely Restored to Health by "Fruit-a-Lives"
852 St. Valer's St., MONTREAL.
"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years, and my weight dropped from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Then several of my friends advised me to try "Fruit-a-Lives". I began to improve almost with the first dose, and by using them, I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble—and all pain and Constipation were cured. Now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise "Fruit-a-Lives" enough". H. WHITMAN.

Their Appeal

AS IT APPEARS TO US.
(Tune: Bonnie Dundee.)
To the Canadian voter the liquor men spoke,
"If you get Prohibition why we'll go dead broke!
Keep this prospect in mind when you vote by and-by
And think of our loss should this country go dry!"
Chorus.
Come fill up our pockets, oh, fill them up high,
See what we would lose should this great land go dry!
Don't think of Drink's victims—their woes don't discuss—
Remember the MONEY that's in it for us!
Oh these temperance cranks they are making a fuss
About crime that Drink fosters, but—what's that to us?
That folks drink and go bad we don't try to deny
But that's not the worry that's making us sigh!
Chorus.
Come fill up our pockets, oh fill them up high,
Just think of our loss should this Great North go dry!
Large returns for small work is our motto and goal,
And the people must pay for it body and soul!
Now you voters please listen, the issue don't shrink,
If you get Prohibition, why we'll have to work!
Work as hard for our living as you do, you see,
And you can't help but know how unpleasant 'twill be!
Chorus.
Then fill up our pockets, oh fill them up full,
While over your eyes we can still pull the wool!
Booze business is doomed should this country go dry,
So think of naught else when you vote by and-by!

Lamont, Alta.

With a payment of $66,000 outside of Court, the White Star Line stands absolved of all liability for the sinking of the steamship Titanic, with a loss of 1,600 lives, and the four years of litigation of claimants is brought to an end in a final decree handed down at New York, Friday, by Federal Judge Mayer. Claims totalling $18,000,000 had been received in the Federal Court by hundreds of claimants. The court held that the mishap to the Titanic was without knowledge of her owners.
"See here," exclaimed the fraternal guest, "one of your infernal waiters spilled a plate of soup down my back." "Don't let that worry you," assured the summer hotel proprietor, "I'll see that it isn't charged on your bill."
We all admire a man who does things, unless we happen to be numbered among the things he has done.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, says sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or casual treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic illness in later years.
"I am stronger than ever. Keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-purifying properties of Scott's Emulsion, which is the best tonic and medicine to keep your blood rich, eliminate impurities and build strength. At any drug store."

Does Prohibition Pay?

It is a question well worth considering, now that prohibition is in force in this province, whether it pays. What were the inducements to the young man to eliminate the use of intoxicating liquor on the last day of June and to take it up again now? Does the social glare help him in his business? Or are his opportunities for obtaining steady employment and of advancement better because of the absence of intoxicants?
There is such a thing as economic prohibition. This is not a law passed by any legislature. It is a rule adopted by the great corporations, the railways, the great industrial companies, and it means that the man who is addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors is heavily handicapped in the matter of obtaining employment, of retaining it when obtained, and of securing promotion or advancement. Here is a specimen case. Posted up all over the plant of the Illinois Steel company, at Joliet, Illinois, is this sign:

NOTICE

To the employees of the Joliet Works, Illinois Steel Co.
For the promotion of safety and welfare, it is hoped that all employees will avoid the use of intoxicating liquors.
Under the rules of the Joliet Works any employee who uses intoxicating liquors while on duty will be discharged.
In making promotions in any department of the plant, superintending officers of departments and foremen will select for promotion only those who do not use intoxicating liquors.
At night time flaming electric signs are placed over the entrance of the Illinois works asking the following questions:
Did booze ever do any good?
Did booze ever get a better job?
Did booze ever contribute anything to the happiness of your family?
These flaming signs indicate the meaning of economic prohibition for generations business and industry had not only tolerated alcohol, but had almost superstitiously regarded it as essential to business. But times have changed. Employees of labor have installed safety first appliances, including total abstinence. The most ardent temperance advocate is mild in his opposition to the use of intoxicants when compared with the hostility to it on the part of the capitalist corporations are conducting temperance campaigns. They are not relying on the politicians nor on the professional temperance men who spot one way and vote another, who put party before principle. They are relying on their own efforts and the fact that the cause is a good one, both for themselves and their employees. Among the corporations so engaged are the Illinois Steel company, the Carnegie Steel company, the American Steel and Wire company, the American Tin Plate company, the American Manganese Steel company, the American Car and Foundry company and the American Bridge company.
The safety council posters spread over the great plants are of absorbing interest. Here is one that has a very extensive circulation:

BOOZE

We want only clear thinking men in our employ.
You cannot think clearly and act safely if you are a boozier.
Booze poisons the brain. It stimulates for a short time only—the deadens the senses.
When men's minds are dull, accidents are bound to occur. It takes alertness—quick thinking and acting—to avoid danger.
If you booze then don't report for work. We don't want boozers on our premises. They are dangerous, not only to themselves, but to all others who come in contact with them.
Booze will never help you to get a job nor help you to hold one.
Booze will not help you pay your power.
Booze and work won't mix. Sooner or later one must be sacrificed for the other.
Side track booze before booze side tracks you.
And industrial prohibition is doing wonders for the artisan, Halifax is on the top wave of prosperity.

Eczema on Baby's Ear.

Mrs. F. Clark, Belmont, Mass., writes: "My baby had eczema on her ear. The sores were very bad and nothing seemed to do her much good. Hearing of the remarkable cure Dr. Chase's Ointment was making, we sent for some, and after the third application the sores began to heal. I am glad to say that it is quite well now and we give the credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment. We cannot recommend this preparation too highly."

In Eating.

Be happy.
Eat well.
Eat slowly.
Eat warm food.
Eat nutritious food.
But don't neglect variety.
And don't forget to have fruit.
Vegetables are also among necessities.
Don't overdo the bread side of your diet.
Break, lunch, cereal and prepared breakfast foods are practically the same.
One of these foods is quite enough for any meal—and bread is not the staff of life.
Furthermore, in eating one requires sound teeth, regularity, a cheerful mind, and one should not exercise violently within an hour.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL NEEDS NEW FORESTS

Timber Waste Limits Usefulness of Ancient Project—Aimsless Delays in Building

The Canadian Forestry Journal says: Over fourteen million dollars have been spent by the people of Canada on the Trent Canal, and yet the foundation of future revenues from local freight has been almost wholly demolished by the refusal of Dominion and Provincial Governments to place the remainder of unwanted timber under some system of protection. Into the Trent Canal project fresh millions are directed annually. Yet the only hope for justification of these heavy expenditures is an abundant and controllable flow of water. "This factor," remarked Dr. B. E. Fernow in his report on the Trent Watershed question, "is of paramount importance to the canal. Engineers have sometimes thought that dams alone may effect the satisfactory regulation of the overflows, but the ones have recognized that for the best service, dams need to be supplemented by a forest cover such as a watershed surplusage."

The report continues: "The Trent Canal project has been the subject of public criticism and often of ridicule ever since it was conceived in 1836. The criticism and ridicule are not, however, deserved by the original project but only by the irrational, slow manner in which it has been carried out. The canal project, in fact, has been subjected to precisely the same kind of management that has characterized through which it passes. The chief value of a canal lies in connecting markets and resources, and therefore, it depends mainly on its outlets. The first outlet of the canal, the one into Lake Ontario, is now, after nearly a century of disrepair, being nearly completed; the other, which affords access to Georgian Bay, still hangs fire. By long as the outlet to larger markets or for through traffic were lacking, only a very limited local traffic could develop."

"Since the principal resource of the region it serves is timber—a staple which needs more than local markets for a profitable and rational development—the value of the incomplete canal was limited from the start. The outlet was unavailable, the timber, owing to the expense of transportation to market, was cut in a more or less wasteful manner. As a result, the government derived scarcely any profit from the industry, and the returns to the lumbermen were also relatively small.
"If the cheap transportation which a canal furnishes had been in operation earlier, much more conservative logging operations could have been carried on; much closer utilization of material could have been made by mills situated along the route; much more profit could have been obtained from this resource by both operators and the people, and, moreover, the source could have been preserved perpetually, as a basis for manufacturing industries."

Timber Now Gone

"As it is, the principal local freight, that from the timber lands, is almost exhausted, and a large part of the usefulness of the canal has gone, at least so far as local development is concerned. Outside of the water-power which it supplies, through irrigation, which may follow upon the completion of the two outlets, can alone justify its existence for the present; unless by careful planning and management a revival of the industries depending on the forests can be managed."

BUTTER TRADE LAGS

Canada's Exports Much Bigger Years Ago—Women's Opportunity

In butter Canada is not doing as well as in cheese. There has been a significant decline in quantity for export. There are various reasons for this, the principal of which is the increase of indefatigable Denmark and other producing European countries. Butter being a more perishable article than cheese, and the use of ice and the refrigerator being far less common in Britain than with us, the closer proximity of the source of supply of course the better. There again there are rivals in the consumption of butter that there are not as regards its relative consumption parts. Consequently Canada's butter export trade has not kept pace in development with that of cheese, although it has of late years shown some improvement.
There is a good reason to fear that a long time will elapse before it will reach the high-water mark of production of 1907, when 34,138,944 pounds, at a value of $6,864,618, were exported. The products of the years 1908 and 1909 afford marks good enough at present to aim at in the production of butter, but the goal opening for cheese of the highest Canadian standard is so wide that it has virtually no limitation. And it is women, who by their labor can pre-eminently fill the conditions called for.

Too Rich Cream Not Wanted

There are no advantages in producing cream testing higher than 46 per cent. Too rich cream is undesirable because it tends to clog the separator; it increases the loss in handling due to sticking to the receptacles; it makes difficult accurate sampling, and thereby tends to yield incorrect tests. It is desirable to produce somewhat richer cream in summer than in winter to prevent excessive souring in summer and difficult handling in winter.

Nice Motoring Costs

Belleville, Ontario, is a beautiful town of old rose color. The cloth robes resembles the waterfalls, but in more durable. The coat is lined throughout with black satin and has a deep, ruffled, shawl collar, trimmed with black satin. Black satin cuffs, very deep, are used on the sleeves, while wide black satin bands trim the bottoms of the garment.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that, and was cured. After I was married I was troubled and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. Frank Knott, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Frankly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. C. LEMISTINA DUNAWAY, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

North Toronto Station

(1) New C.P.R. North Toronto Station. (2) Ticket Offices. (3) Train Platforms. (4) Ladies' Waiting Room

The opening of the North Toronto Station of the Canadian Pacific Railway a few days ago marked a red letter day in the history of the Queen City of the West. The banquet given by the Mayor and the citizens of Toronto to Mr. A. D. MacTier, general manager of the C.P.R., showed distinctly the amicable relations which exist between the Company and the city. The new station was turned over into the hands of the city and under skillful hands was elaborately decorated with a profuse supply of bunting, and the evening ceremony, at which Mr. MacTier formally declared the station open for business was attended by thousands of people who thronged every part of the station. Mayor Church paid a great tribute to the Canadian Pacific and rejoiced in the extremely happy relations which existed between them.
Mr. A. D. MacTier in replying concurred in the good feeling existing between the company and the city. The design of the new station is a fine adaptation of the Italian Renaissance to the requirements of the present day. It is a single story building, faced externally with Tyndal limestone from the Tyndal quarries, Manitoba; the choice of this Canadian stone has been justified by the excellent color effect of the masonry in the mass, an effect equal to any that could be obtained by the importation of the better kinds of building stones from the States. A large and spacious waiting room, 100 feet by 80 feet, occupies the South elevation of the building and is reached by a broad, covered walkway. It faces the South with the main entrance centrally placed on the front. To East and West of this central block are two subsidiary wings roofed at lower level and devoted to station facilities, that to the East and West to ticket offices. To the North and across the rear of the station are men's and women's rooms with their respective lavatories, and that to the West to the ladies' waiting room and beyond which are the parcel baggage and express rooms. Opening from the waiting room is the concourse, 20 feet wide and 150 feet long, passing underneath the tracks and from which access is had to the various overhead platforms. Finishing the building at its northwest corner is the
