Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, - - Proprietor
W. F. LLOYD, - - - Editor

SATURDAY, May 31, 1913.

Notes and Comments.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Bond has been invited to support His Excellency the Governor by his presence at the Levee on Tuesday next, the King's Birthday. Needless to say, that Sir Robert regards this as a "command" and will be present.

Last week in commenting on Empire Day, we attributed the introduction of the bill making Queen Victoria Day a statutory holiday to the Chief Justice, Sir William Horwood, at the time he was Minister of Justice. Sir William tells us that we were in error in attributing the introduction to him. He tells us that the bill was introduced by Sir Robert Bond in 1903. This was in the session after Sir William had been appointed Chief Justice. Sir Robert on the occasion is considered to have delivered one of the most eloquent speeches ever heard within the confines of the walls of the House of Assembly.

The Evening Herald was out last night in the task, congenial to its editor, of circulating untruthful rumors as to the relations which exist and have existed between Sir Robert Bond and Dr. Lloyd. According to Mr. McGrath, the relations between them are strained and unfriendly. The wish was no doubt father to the falsehood circulated with much gusto by the Herald. Mr. McGrath is in error. The relations between Sir Robert Bond and Dr. Lloyd are most amicable and they have never been otherwise. The Editor of the Evening Telegram is in constant touch with Sir Robert Bond, both by correspondence and personal conference. Instead of avoiding Dr. L., as Mr. McGrath maliciously asserts, Sir Robert Bond has honored him with invitations to meet him in confidential intercourse, both in the past and immediately before and after his last visit to England. He has never been on any other than the friendliest footing with Sir Robert Bond.

Special Services at the Kirk.

Rev. Dr. McPhie is supplying the pulpit at the Kirk during the Pastor's absence, and on Sunday gives two special addresses, taking as his subject in the morning, "The man who died twice," and in the evening "The man who never died." The Rev. gentleman is a clear, forcible and eloquent speaker and has wide experience in evangelical work, having for years acted as General Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance of greater Boston. At both services visitors will be warmly welcomed and accommodated with seats.

Men in Water.

In a cranky little dory 3 of the crew of the Helen Steward were rowing ashore to Bennett's wharf at 6.30 p.m. when two of them unwittingly went to the side of the boat and she turned bottom up. The men went below and there was much excitement on the nearby wharves as one of the men did not come to the surface for a little time. A boat picked them up shivering from their immersion, and they swore loud and long at their foolish mishap.

BIG CATCH.—The schr. Winnifred, of Belleoram, arrived at Lark Harbour last evening for salt with 1,400 quintals of fish taken near Parsons Pond, and reports fish plentiful in that vicinity.

Down and Out.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I, in common with most in the city, was greatly pleased to notice the letter in yesterday's Telegram signed "Western Shore." As a frequenter of the Assembly I was present the previous session when Morris bellowing like a bull, made his attack on Mr. Clapp, because he had asked the House to grant the people of St. Barbe the privilege of killing a few deer to afford themselves and families a little flesh meat, and I remember well how neatly Mr. Clapp flattened out the irascible Ned, and held him up to the ridicule of spectators and members alike. Morris then got such a fright that he is not over it yet. A coward is generally a bully and when Morris saw that Mr. Clapp did not fear him and gave him tit for tat, he quickly collapsed, though at his bidding, his juniors were given to preserve the deer for the Rt. Hon. E. P.'s "sportsmen" and let the St. Barbe men, their wives and little children die for the sake of the venison if they liked. But what I want to particularly refer to in this connection, is the impudence manifested by the News and Herald in suppressing a report of the fight between the Premier and Mr. Clapp on that date. This is not alone brazenly impudent but it is an outrage on the taxpayer who is paying amongst other things for an impartial report of the Assembly proceedings as taken by the official reporters. In your paper of that date, sir, several columns were given to that day's proceedings. I would be glad to see that published again, "lest we forget." It was suppressed in the Government organs, because it was a bitter pill at the time for Morris to swallow. The same applies to Cashin's "cullage fishermen." I was in the House when he uttered it and certainly it was an insult to his constituents which their manliness may not brook. The suppression of the publication of part of the debates in which the Government were notoriously worsted, has become a feature of Tory tactics. But the fishermen, farmer, clerk and mechanic know who the victors were last session and these despicable tactics of the Government will not save them in November. As friend Phil would say, "They're down and out without a doubt!"
Yours truly,
VIGILANCE.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited,
Yarmouth, N.S.
Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

Boys' Schedule
Submitted.

The schedule of work and wages for juvenile laborers who are employed on mercantile premises was submitted to the merchants to-day by President McGrath, of the Adult Branch of the L. S. P. U. The regulations in effect are that no boy under fourteen years of age shall be employed; no boy shall work more than ten hours per day; the wages ten cents per hour; on fish wharves nine cents per hour. President McGrath asked the co-operation and support of the merchants who have considered the boys' schedule favorably.

Passed Through Some Wreckage.

Capt. Hartley, of the Dunure, reports that on his recent voyage here the ship passed through a lot of wreckage when she was about 160 miles south of Cape Race. She was several hours going through detached pieces, many intervals, which consisted of hatches, parts of bulwarks, etc. It was taken to be some portions of the hull of a large Nova Scotian vessel and would seem to point to another marine disaster.
