BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Oct. 14. The Official Press Bureau to-night issued the following: British troops have been engaged with the enemy towards the left of the Allied line in France, with the result that the Germans have been pressing back slightly on their flank. The nature of the country in which fighting has been conducted, being a mining centre, makes rapid progress difficult.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Oct. 14. The official communication issued to-night by the War Office, says: Reports received to-night, which are very general in their terms, indicate that there is no important modification in the situation. The statement follows: 1st, on our left wing, as far as the Oise, operations are pursuing their normal course; 2nd, at the centre the progress of our armies in the region of Berry au Bac is confirmed; 3rd, on our left wing there is nothing new. In the Belgian theatre of war in the region of Ghent, some engagements took place, on the nights of October 12th and 13th. During the day of the 13th some Anglo-French troops occupied Ypres. In East Prussia the situation remains unchanged.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 14. The following official communication from the General Staff was issued to-night: On the left bank of the Vistula along the roads leading from Warsaw, the troops on October 13th successfully pressed back the German forces. One of our regiments captured two German companies. Fighting continues to the south of Przemysl. There are no important changes on the other fronts.

OSTEND NOT TAKEN.

LONDON, Oct. 14. A denial of the false reports that Ostend had been captured by German troops, has been made in an official statement issued here.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

Oct. 14.—(Official.) In the region of Ghent several engagements occurred during the night of the 12th to the 13th and during the day of the 13th Anglo-French troops occupied Ypres, Belgium. To our left wing right up to Oise operations are going on normally. In the centre the progress of our troops in the region of Berry au Bac is confirmed. To our right wing there is nothing to be noted. Although usually we are not in the habit of questioning the inexactitudes of the German press it is our duty here to denounce the false news published by certain German newspapers on the supposed destruction of two French cavalry divisions. This report is completely false. The truthful version is that French and German cavalry forces have been engaged for several days on the front at La Bassée, Estaires and Bailieu. The German cavalry managed to progress very slightly, between the canal of La Bassée and La Lys but was compelled to fall back north of La Lys. The German cavalry losses are certainly as many as ours. One of the German divisions especially suffered on account of being pursued during a whole day by our aviators who continually threw bombs on them. Also the Germans declare they are proceeding to the siege of Verdun. Here again we know the full truth of this assertion we go back to the situation as given out several times by French bulletins. The Germans have not up to the present time come in direct contact with the Verdun stronghold. They made two successful attempts to try to outflank at a large distance our troops operating around Verdun. The first of these attempts was marked by their trying progress in the Argonne woods between Denarville and Varennes. We would recall it failed with important losses, in which we didn't even announce that two German battalions were completely annihilated. The second German attempt with still greater numbers than the first was to try to cross the Meuse in the region of St. Mihiel. If the Germans did manage to reach this river all their efforts to get clear have failed. The Germans found themselves outflanked by our troops who advanced from the south northward in the southern part of the heights of Meuse and in Southern Woëvre.

King Albert has sent the following telegram to the President of the Republic: "I am deeply grateful for the hospitality so cordially offered by the French to the Belgian Government and by the measures taken by the Government of the Republic to insure our entire independence and our sovereignty. We are awaiting with an unbroken confidence the hour of the victory fighting side by side for a just cause. Our courage shall never fail. Please accept Mr. President my great affection. Signed ALBERT."

TURNING MOVEMENT SUCCEEDED. PARIS, Oct. 14. That the flanking movement of the Allies' left wing is making marked gains is indicated by the official statement issued here this afternoon. It states that the Belgian town of Ypres, which is 27 miles northwest of Lille and 33 miles south of Ostend, has been occupied by British and French troops. This announcement which is the first official statement that has mentioned British troops as operating in this section shows that the Allies' left wing has extended its range of work from France into Belgium. The official statement is as follows: First, on our left wing as far as the Oise, operations are pursuing their normal course. Second, at the centre, the progress of our armies in the region of Berry au Bac is confirmed. Third, on our right wing there is nothing new. In the Belgian theatre of war, in the region of Ghent some engagements took place on the night of October 12th and October 13th. During the day of October 13th some Anglo-French troops occupied Ypres.

Major Shea belongs to the Royal Army Medical Corps. He spent two years and seven months in South Africa, including the period of the Boer War.

How Guns Were Saved.

SHORT RUSHES UNDER HEAVY SHRAPNEL FIRE. Sergeant Meads (1st Royal Berks).—After the firing at Soissons had lasted two and a half hours the order to retire was given. This we did through a wood. Then General Davis came along and said, "Turn about, men; you must save the guns at all costs." Then there were only about fifty of us, and we made a series of short rushes under a heavy shrapnel fire until we were up to the guns. The Germans were not more than 800 yards away, but we were getting a very few hurt, while we could see the Germans going down in scores. Every shot of our tool, it being impossible to miss the enemy, who had formed from six to ten deep. We could see our artillery shells simply mowed the Germans down, but still they came on.

Presently the order rang out to us to abandon the guns. But gallant young Lieutenant Hibbert said, "No, boys, we will never let a German take a British gun." Then our chaps raised a cheer and resumed rapid firing. The guns had expended all their ammunition, but we kept on and presently were reinforced by the South Staffords. The guns' crews stuck to their task most heroically, and amid much cheering, rescued the whole of them.

Officers Headed Their Men

IN SACKING CITY OF LOUVAIN. London, Oct. 14.—The Belgian Commission, named to report on German atrocities, to-day issued its fifth report, referring principally to the sack- ing of Louvain.

The report features extracts from letters written by Germans captured in the field. One of these describes the German occupation of the Belgian city as "like a pack of hounds let loose, every one doing as he liked." "Our officers," the letter continues, "led the way, giving the men a good example."

END OF BRITISH RULE IN AMERICA, 1777. This day, by the surrender of the British Army at Saratoga, the curtain fell upon the last scene of England's attempt to tax her American Colonies. The English were forced by famine to surrender and lay down their arms, on conditions of receiving a free transport to England.

FRIEDRICH NIETZSCHE born 1844. German moralist, many of whose works have been translated into English.

VIRGIL born B.C. 70. The great Roman epic poet. He was born near Mantua, and cultivated a farm in the adjacent village of Andes. His most famous work, the Aeneid, comprised twelve books, dealing with the story of the wanderings of Aeneas after the destruction of Troy.

ROBERT HERRICK died 1633, aged 83. One of the sweetest of lyrical poets. Author of "Gather ye Rose Buds," "Cherry Ripe."

TENNYSON AS PROPHET.

A correspondent calls attention to the prophetic inspiration of stanzas in Tennyson's "Locksley Hall," now being fulfilled:—

For I dilt into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the Vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting,
and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling
in the central blue;

Far along the world-wide whisper
of the south wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples
plunging thro' the thunder-storm:

Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer,
and the battle-bands were fur'd
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world.

There the common sense of most
shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber,
lapt in universal law.

The 4 British Belles.

The four British Belles will give a great farewell show to-night, and their selection of songs and dances will delight all. Last night the crowd was bigger than ever and the Belles received many presents from delighted patrons. Those young ladies will long be remembered by St. John's people as among the most talented ever here. Mr. and Mrs. Rossley would like to book them for pantomime, but they have an offer of thirty weeks to join a new production in New York. On their way back to England they will certainly visit here again. To-night Miss Eva Keen has been asked to repeat. Why do the boys run after me, with the most eccentric dance ever seen. Miss Webster will be seen as the ragged boy. Dainty little Grace Keen and Miss Crank in all new specialties.
