Extension of the Order Outside Newfoundland -- Whitney Pier Gets Honor of Being First Establishment -- "Maple Leaf" Lodge Instituted With Wealth of Ceremonial.

In was the privilege, no less than the honor and pleasure of the writer, to be associated with the members of the Grand Lodge of the Order of United Fishermen, who comprised the deputation which went from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Sydney, via Port aux Basques, for the purpose of organizing and instituting the first Lodge of that Order outside Newfoundland; proper application having been received and accepted by the Supreme Grand Lodge through its Executive. All the formalities having been completed the deputation, made up of the Right Worthing Grand Master, Bro. J. S. Curnew; the Deputy Grand Master, Bro. C. T. James; the Grand Chief Officer, Bro. James Rendell; the Grand Secretary, Bro. A. E. Withycombe, and Past Master, Bro. J. L. Oke of "Buckland" Lodge No. 75, Harbor Grace, boarded the express on Sunday, October 2nd, thus beginning a trip which was to mark a new era in the annals of the Society of United Fishermen. At the station a number of Brethren of St. John's Lodge, No. 5, had assembled to give a send-off to the Grand Officers, and as the train pulled out, cheers for the success of the venture were heartily given and responded to; so great being the enthusiasm that most of the bystanders had no idea of what it was all about, and questioned others as to the cause of the demonstration.

ON THE TRAIN.

The run across country was uneventful, weather being beautifully fine and all the passengers on board fraternizing in true Newfoundland style. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the long railway journey, and the train run ended at Port aux Basques about 9 o'clock on Monday night, when after registering with the Purser and receiving immigration cards, all passengers have to the party embarked on the Kyle and immediately turned in, fearing that the crossing of Cabot Strait might disagree with them. Such fears, however, were groundless as there could not have been a more perfect passage, the waters of the Gulf being smooth as the proverbial millpond. Arrival at North Sydney was made on time, and whilst other passengers were obliged to get up, dress and pass the Customs and Immigration officials, the deputation was permitted to snooze it out until the stewards came in to clear the cabins. Reaching the deck of the Kyle, what was the astonishment of all to find a steady downpour of rain, and a thick atmosphere, in marked contrast to the beautiful weather they had left behind. But there was no help for it. Certain formalities had to be observed, but with their customary courtesy the officials soon passed us through, and admitted us to the freedom of the Dominion of Canada. And here might we just say a word as to the kindness of the officers of the Kyle who, entreated us as kindly and as hospitably as it was possible during the short run between Port aux Basques and North Sydney. The pleasant memories of their unfailing courtesy will be ever remembered.

ARRIVAL AT DESTINATION.

Leaving the Kyle the party taxied to that well known hospice the "Belmont," where after a refreshing wash-up, and a rearrangement of toilet, breakfast was partaken of; after which the ubiquitous press men were interviewed, and told as much as was consistent with secrecy to give way. Being of the calling himself, the writer was naturally the medium through which all the information filtered, as he, knowing the game, was appointed by the Right Worthing Grand Master as press agent. After the reporters had been satisfied (no easy matter, as they almost insisted upon being shown the rituals and given the signs) a courtesy call was made on the North Sydney Herald, the editor of which, Mr. Thomas, received us with every evidence of kindness, and made this scribe sit down at a reporters desk and write up some copy for that day's issue. But that was all in the day's work. A visit to the Eastern Club, to which all were given the entree, terminated the stay at North Sydney, as at 11 o'clock was approaching and the Cape Breton Electric Company's steamers, running the ferry service between the Sydneys, wait for no man when the scheduled time for sailing strikes. So we had to hustle to the ferry wharf, the rain all the while descending in torrents, where we boarded the "Electronic" for across the water, being accompanied on the voyage by two good brethren, who met us at North Sydney, Peers and Bartlett. The weather still continued to be of that quality known as "fishermen's" and the whole party had to oil down, not only for the run across, but during the drive from Sydney to Whitney Pier, our taxi man by the way not knowing exactly where we had to get off, driving us around aimlessly, until at length we discovered from a school boy that we were on the wrong course, which was speedily rectified.

by adjusting the compass, and at length anchor, dropped in exactly the right depth of water (literally) at St. Alban's Harbor objective. And so, like St. Paul, all due safe to land, discoverer's friends need in the person of Mr. J. Kees, Rector of the Parish, took us into his house because of the rain and cold, until the other ship turned up, which they did that night. Then indeed we were safe.

THE INSTITUTION OF "MAPLE LEAF" LODGE.

Punctually at 10 o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, October 4th, Grand Lodge officiated at St. Alban's Hall, base of St. Alban's Church, where the Brethren who were desirous of forming a Lodge were assembled, chosen the full regalia of their various degrees, and received the Grand Lodge deputation in manner befitting thealted positions. The Right Worthing Grand Master took the chair, having appointed acting officers guard the Lodge, opened the session according to the first degree rit, using a special form of prayer, than that laid down in the ritual following prayer Psalm CXXXIII, read by the R.W.G.M., after which the Lodge was declared open in form. The institutional oration was by the Deputy Grand Master, C. T. James, and was heard with rapt attention by the Brethren. Next in order came an ode, that line of which, "O Thou whose voice on the waves" will be familiar members of the S.U.F. At the conclusion of the R.W.G.M. Secretary, A. E. Withycombe, read the Charter to "Maple Leaf" Lodge, No. 77, the Grand Chief Officer, James Rendell, delivered the Reg of the officers elect to the R.W.G.M. At this juncture the Worthing Master and officers elect were introduced names to the Worthing Grand Secy, who asked if the brethren each and all of them. Being asked in the affirmative, they were presented to the R.W.G.M., following which all the minutes of readings of the Lodge to be instituted were read by the Grand Secretary, confirmed by the Grand Master, then in full with his signature, John S. Curnew. Psalm CVII was then read, reasonably concluding with the Gloria. Grand Honors were then followed by prayer by the Master with an antiphonal aria. The Brethren were next arranged in processional order and led by the Deputy Grand Master perambled around the Lodge Room, singing verses of the old hundredth, "Altogether that on earth do dwell." Grand Honors were again given, after which all the brethren of the new lodge, by the Worthing Master and Officers, passed in front of the R.W.G.M. and acknowledged their obedience to the Lodge authority by making the sign. On taking their seats, by command of the R.W.G.M. the Lodge was called up, when the institutional proclamation was made by the Deputy Grand Master, as follows:—

"BRETHREN—I am directed by the Right Worthing Brother, John S. Curnew, Grand Master of the Order of United Fishermen, to make proclamation and announcement to all here present, that by virtue of the power and authority of the Supreme Grand Lodge these Brethren are now constituted and created into an Ordinary Lodge of the Order of United Fishermen, by the title and designation of "Maple Leaf" No. 77, to be held at Whitney Pier, City of Sydney, in the province of Nova Scotia, and from henceforward they are fully empowered to exercise all the rights and privileges of a Lodge of United Fishermen, agreeably to the term and tenor of their Charter, the Constitution and Laws of the Supreme Grand Lodge, and all the usages of this fraternity, and may the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge on high ever be with them."

All then sang the Doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." The Scripture lesson, taken from XXVII chapter of the Acts of the Apostles was read by the Grand Master, following which the Lord's Prayer was repeated. The ceremony was concluded by the singing of the hymn beginning, "O praise our God to-day," and Grand Honors again being given, the Right Worthing Grand Master declared the institutional session of Grand Lodge closed in due form.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

"Maple Leaf" Lodge was then opened on the Red Degree by the Grand Master with the following subordinate officers: the Grand Secretary taking the minutes of proceedings; the Grand Chief Officer, Bro. Jas. Rendell, and the acting Grand Second Officer, Bro. J. L. Oke at their respective stations, the Deputy Grand Master acting as Marshal and Director of Ceremonies. Minor Officers to guard the Lodge were appointed from the Brethren present. After Lodge had been declared open the annexed address of welcome was read on behalf of the members of the new Lodge, and presented to the R.W.G.M. by the Director of Ceremonies:—

Lame Duck Arrives.

At 10 o'clock last night the Norwegian steamer Aslang Hsaland arrived in port with two blades of her propeller gone. The ship is eleven days out from Liverpool bound to New York in ballast. Heavy weather was encountered on the passage across, and being light in the water, the engines were continually racing causing the loss of the two blades.

Repairs will likely be effected here and it is thought this can be accomplished without docking. The ship has only recently been launched and is making her second trip. She is 1,443 tons gross, 2,323 net, and is built with all modern appliances for a cargo-boat. The Furness Withy Co. are the ship's agents whilst in port.
