

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to all destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy stomach, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food was digested and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass. N. B. Be sure to get only

THE WHEEL.

The English racing men are making deep inroads on the long-distance road records. Another record has been broken. G. D. Begbie, of the North Road Cycling Club, succeeded Wednesday, Aug. 26, in lowering the 50-mile record to 2 hours 25 minutes and 17 seconds, nearly 10 minutes faster than the record made by P. C. Wilson eleven months ago. Begbie was timed by F. T. Billake of the Road Record's Association, so that there is no question to the authenticity of the time.

It is expected that at the big cycling tournaments in the New England States this week some of the cracks may beat the mile record of two minutes and sixteen seconds, made by the English rider, F. J. Osmond. The Canadian champion, W. M. Carman, of Woodstock, is entered in several

TORONTO TOPICS.

Vital Statistics of the City—J. Ross Robertson's Great Gift.

TORONTO, Sept. 7.—The vital statistics for the week ending Saturday show 93 births, 53 deaths and 35 marriages.

The Lakeside Hospital for Sick Children was on Saturday formally handed over to the trustees by Mr. John Ross Robertson, the donor. Hon. J. M. Gibson, Provincial Secretary, presided. Outside of time and labor Mr. Robertson has given $25,000 to the trustees for the maintenance of the hospital.

In 1882 the original building was erected by Mr. Robertson and consisted of a center building and wing, two stories high, with large verandas. In 1886 another wing was added and accommodation afforded for 60 children and 10 nurses and domestics.

The good work done in restoring and building up the hospital has been a pleasure to Mr. Robertson to consider plans for still further enlargement, and the result is that to-day Toronto has probably the finest children's hospital in the world. The new building can be seen from the boats that daily cross the lake, and it is a constant reminder to excursionists of a charity that all may find pleasure in aiding.

There are about 60 children enjoying the benefits of the home, but next season about 100 more will be able to find accommodation.

"THE MISSING LINK."

Opening Address at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms.

The Season's Work Begun by Rev. W. J. Clark—Large Attendance and Excellent Music.

The announcement of the opening of the season's work at Victoria Hall yesterday afternoon attracted an intelligent assemblage of men, most of whom were young and middle-aged, and all greatly interested in the address delivered by a popular city clergyman.

Secretary Sayer occupied the chair and announced several hymns, which were heartily, led by Mr. Hiscott's delightful orchestra.

Rev. W. J. Clark complimented the association on having secured such superior musical talent at their meetings. It was a decided acquisition. He said in reference to "The Missing Link" that the Darwinian theory was that man had sprung from the monkey. He preferred to adopt another theory and to believe that man had a higher and nobler origin, and that he was made after God's own image. But there is a gap that separates man from the monkey. It is the "Missing Link." The Darwinian theory was that man had sprung from the monkey. He preferred to adopt another theory and to believe that man had a higher and nobler origin, and that he was made after God's own image. But there is a gap that separates man from the monkey. It is the "Missing Link."

It is good to be moral and to observe the commandments; but the man who is good after this fashion truly is never satisfied. Everything is vanity and vexation of spirit. The missing link is discovered. Morality, wealth, social position and intellectual attainments do not fill the void, and the gap between man and the monkey remains. The missing link is faith. The woman fell because she lacked faith in God, who always rewards those who diligently seek him. It is not to be understood that eternal life may be purchased. Men must always believe that God gives something better than all that may be given up for him. If God could be known as a musician understanding music, as a poet appreciating poetry, or as a hunter glories in the woods and valleys, he would be loved, and men would have the same faith in him as the musician, the poet and the hunter possess. The world cannot satisfy; faith in God is needed to complete man's happiness, and those who enjoy this faith will do the Master's will. Faith is a habit of the mind that touches man at every point; it is the vital principle; it is the missing link.

CAMP LYNNHURST.

Detachments from the Tented Field at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 7, 1891.
Lieut.-Col. Henry Smith, deputy adjutant general of Military District No. 1, commander of the Military School at London, and of the camp now here, from his spare building if not in uniform, might not be taken for a soldier, but when one sees him in uniform on the field, and carefully looking after all the details of the movements of the men, he is convinced that the colonel is not a man of mere parade, but a man of the most perfect military men in Canada. While slight he is tall, and his presence in the saddle is commanding. He is a courteous gentleman, and he has been connected with the Canadian volunteer force since 1856, and was at one time attached to the Fortieth Battalion. He has been connected with the Infantry since 1856, and was a member of "C" Company until 1887, when he organized "D" Company at London and was appointed commander of the militia in the Northwest rebellion.

Lieut.-Col. Hon. M. Aylmer, brigade major, is the son of Lord Aylmer, Richard Aylmer, who succeeded to the title of Viscount Aylmer, and who was a soldier, and a soldier's son. He is also a gentlemanly and affable, talking freely and enthusiastically of military matters. He belongs to a military family, his father being Lieut.-Colonel Aylmer, of the Fifty-fourth Battalion, and his brother, Hon. Henry Aylmer, commanding officer of the Richmond (Que.) Field Battery. The latter is a member of the House of Commons. Lieut.-Col. M. Aylmer joined the regular forces of the British army in 1852, passing his examination in Chelsea, England. He retired as a major in the Canadian militia in 1871, and has been connected with District No. 1 since 1881. During his twenty years' connection with the active militia of Canada he has been seventeen years brigade major.

PRESS GLEANINGS.

Dr. Hanavan was appointed principal medical officer by the authorities at Ottawa, to the St. Thomas Hospital, and the general order was amended, which says the senior surgeon shall hold the position. Dr. Hanavan did not seek the office but was chosen by the committee. He was tendered to him. He is in every way qualified for the position.

A great deal of dissatisfaction is heard in camp about the latrine and privy, which were erected when the men arrived in camp, says the St. Thomas Journal. Some of them were not completed till Thursday, and they are often open at the top, which will make the camp very disagreeable. The Journal says in regard to this that the members of the city council did not know the city would be required to erect them till Monday.

Complaint has been made that the citizens of St. Thomas engaged in business have been deliberately fleeing the camp officers, says the Stratford Beacon. They have taken the precaution to leave everything they buy, and receive scant courtesy from many dealers. One officer of the Twenty-Eighth says that a postage stamp has been the only thing he has yet bought at regular rates and that it had less than the usual supply of gum.

The number of horses in camp is brigade staff 24th, 25th, 26th and 28th, 5 each; 30th and 33rd, 4 each; London Field Battery, 27; total, 56.

Corporal Hagston, of Company "D," I. S. C., who has been on light duty, fell a fit and had to return to the hospital.

Major-General Herbert, accompanied by Captain Stratfield, A. D. C., arrived at the camp on Friday night, but was unable to inspect the troops on parade on Saturday owing to rain. The inspection will take place to-day. On Saturday an examination of the arms and accoutrements was made. Yesterday the soldiers visited the church of their choice, the major-general attending the Roman Catholic Church.

Nothing important or injurious contaminates the popular appetite to pain, and the "Thomson's Electric Oil" may be used without the slightest apprehension of and other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

PURITY, RATHER THAN PARTY.

Rev. Mr. Courtice, of the Dundas Street Center Methodist Church, Deals Trenchantly with the More Serious Forms of Dishonesty.

The lesson was read from I. Samuel, viii, and xii, 1-5, showing that the godly man is the nation's safest counselor. The texts were Exodus, xx, 15, "Thou shalt not steal," and Ephesians iv, 28, "Let him that stole steal no more, but rather let him labor, working with his hands."

Three fundamental propositions, the preacher said, may help in this discussion. That every man should work with God in "producing." 2. That he should thus come to "own" something. 3. That he should then "administer" carefully and liberally. Which of these three laws is most strictly and violated? Evidently the first. Men are glad to own and administer, but not so glad to work and produce.

Ignorance, indifference and indolence are non-producers, and as far as men are under the sway of these so far do they violate the first law of God. As far back as history goes it proves a steady and consistent attempt to shirk the responsibility of producing and at the same time enjoy the privileges of ownership and the pleasures of expenditure. The idea of increased production of the laborer's wage, increasing the hand was the badge of slavery. The members of noble families did not pretend to work. There were three respectable ways of acquiring property besides inheriting it: (1) by war, (2) by high robbery, and (3) by piracy.

Paul had a wholesome message for such a society, viz., the gospel of God, steal no more, but rather let him work, laboring with his hands."

Coarse and clumsy methods of stealing are going out of date while refined and aristocratic, and even gigantic methods are coming instead. Among the minor ways of stealing the following may be noticed: Withholding the laborer's wage, incurring debts without a fair prospect of paying, giving short weight or measure or supplying an article of inferior quality, doing defective work and providing poor material especially in connection with important public works, smuggling, and using postage stamps a second time.

There are grander ways than these, however. Betting, lotteries, stock-gambling, corners on the market, monopolies, combines and rings; all these open more extensive possibilities in the way of defrauding and dishonesty.

But the evil impurity of corrupt human nature has proved itself capable of even more insidious, intricate and gigantic methods of robbery. Gentlemen farming for donations or funds, voting money for public works and then diverting it into the hands of politicians for election purposes, buying goods for the public service and then making a definite percentage of the cost to the public to expenses or funds, selling public offices. What shall I say of these?

I say that they are the most aggravated and serious forms of dishonesty, deserving more than mere protests. Mere dismissal from the public service is an inadequate punishment where the sacred trust of administering public funds has been violated.

LABOR MOVEMENTS.

Opening of the Trades Union Congress at Newcastle.

NEWCASTLE, Sept. 7.—The Trades Union Congress opened here this morning. There are over 500 delegates present, and they represent about 1,500,000 British workmen, skilled and unskilled. Thomas Burt, member of Parliament for Morpeth, Northumberland, a member of the Labor Commission, was elected president. Mr. Burt is the son of a coal miner, and formerly worked in the coal pits. Since 1855 he has been secretary of the Northumberland Miners' Mutual Association, a trades union having a membership of 12,000. Prominent among the matters to be discussed will be the question as to whether eight hours should or should not constitute a day's work, and the question of State insurance for workmen and their employers liability in cases of accident.

There are indications that the great strike of London omnibus employees, which was settled some time ago, will be renewed owing to the alleged bad faith of the companies.

A general strike of colored cotton pickers is expected throughout the Southern States.

In communication just made public Mr. Gladstone writes in favor of increased representation of labor in Parliament, but deprecates the formation of a labor party. His objection to such a party, in his own words, is on the ground that "if every class of the community exercised the right to form a party we should have a queer Parliament."

A Buffalo telegram says Labor Day is being duly celebrated throughout the country. Banks, and nearly all public offices are closed and business is generally suspended. At Montreal fully 10,000 marched in the labor procession.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

Fifty-seven out of the 87 miles required to bring the iron horse to the coal fields of the South country are graded, and the remainder will be completed at the rate of a mile per day. Track laying will continue in ten days, and the work will be rushed to completion.

It is reported from Winnipeg that the Northern Pacific Railway Company is building a line to Selkirk to accommodate the fish and lumber trade of Lake Winnipeg.

The Southern Pacific Railroad is about to build a road from Portland to the State boundary line between Oregon and California, and also from Portland south to the southern boundary of Oregon.

General Manager Shaugnessy of the C. P. R. has written to Mayor Clarke, of Toronto, stating that he has already held one conference with General Manager Seargent of the Grand Trunk respecting the new Union Station to be provided under the Esplanade agreement. He expects shortly to be in a position to complete the transfer of property and sign the agreement.

For the first time in the history of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways the high officials of each company sat down together to lunch at the Forest and Stream Club, Dorval, on Friday. It is considered as very significant, and goes to show that the relationship existing between the companies is cordial. The affair partook of a social nature and had been gotten up principally on account of Sir Henry Tyler's visit. Besides the latter there were present Mr. Shaugnessy, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific; Mr. Seargent, general manager of the Grand Trunk; Mr. Dunlop McIntyre, director of the Grand Trunk; Mr. Drinkwater, secretary Canadian Pacific; Mr. Hunsford, engineer, Grand Trunk; Mr. R. B. Angus, Mr. L. J. Fergus and many other officials of the two companies. Business was not discussed.

Referring to the feat of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company getting the mails through from Japan to England, the St. James Gazette declares that Canada is the most valuable highway to the East, and England must keep her within the Empire at any cost.

THE YEAS HAVE IT.
And the World's Fair Will Not Be Opened by the Ladies on Sundays.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—By special invitation Prof. A. B. Deguerre delivered an illustrated lecture at Century Music Hall Saturday night before the World's Fair board of lady managers and the members of the national commission, drawing a contrast between the Paris exposition and the coming fair in Chicago, leading up to the conclusion that Chicago
