You saw, as you looked at him, that he was not strong; that sickness, or privation of the healthfulfree air which now he seemed to breathe in with so much pleasure, had unstrang and weakened the hardy frame of this old man; but his haft was scarcily gray, and his eye glanced from under his broad, brown, surplicated from under his broad horder his broad horder his broad horder his him. She Sues for $10,000 for Breach of Promise.

New York, Sept. 15.—Miss Jennie Granitzer, a pretty Jewess of 18 Suffolk street, asks the Supreme Court for $10,000 in breach of promise damages, which she says she has sustained through a clothier.

Henry Eticalsky, According to be lawyer. New Vestibule Train Between New York and Chicago, via Erio Railway and G. T. R.

This is without exception the finest train that ever passed through Canada for New York. Not a single change between London and New York. Magnificent dining cars attached to all trains for meals. This train is called the Eric Flyer, and leaves London daily at 1140 p.m., which will give you a daylight ride over this picturesque route.

36 tf street, asks the Supreme Court for $10,000 in breach of promise damages, which she says she has sustained through a clothier. Henry Etkofsky. According to her lawyer, Frank Alter, of 150 Nassau street, the couple were publicly engaged on July 15, and at the betrothal party in the Granitzer house Etkofsky gave his fiance a pair of diamond earrings a diamond ring and a gold watch and chain. Etkofsky was ardent in his wooing, calling at her house every night until a week ago. Mr. Granitzer had strong objections to the time chosen for these calls, as it was between midnight and 3 o'clock in the morning. Etkofsky grew indignant, and said his business was responsible for the unusual hour. His threat to break the engagement stopped the fond father's objections, and the wedding day was set for Oct. 15.

Sunday a week ago the couple went to the marriage of two friends.

"You'll have to pay for your own hat check," Etkofsky said, as they entered the hall. And a little later he laughed at her when she asked for a glass of soda water.

"You'll have to buy it," he declared, shoving a roll of bills in her face. "I wouldn't spend a cent of this."

Jennie's mother had already bought the marriage outfit and furniture for their home, and the father had given Etkofsky as fine silk thalas.
