McFadden's Flats. "McFadden's Flats," a vaudeville ene tertainment that has been on the road since Neah started sailing, was the attraction at the Grand last night, drawing big house. All appeared pleased with he offering. It is one of those rough and tumble musical plays, with plenty of oise and some near music. It never ails to get a laugh from those whose ense of humor must be clubbed, and last night there were many who appreclated erry D. Sullivan and Tommy Weiner. two diminutive comedians, who have been here on many occasions. There were many specialties, Dixle Norton and Celeste Ritchie being paricularly good.
