Less Drunkenness Is Due To Educational Methods

Interesting Papers on Prohibition and Premier Ferguson Given Before Nicholas Wilson Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Two very interesting papers marked yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Nicholas Wilson Chapter, I. O. D. E., held at the home of Mrs. A. A. Campbell, Mrs. C. J. Northwood, in her paper, discussed the prohibition question, while Mrs. J. R. Le Tussell spoke on "Premier Howard Ferguson."

Mrs. Northwood's paper on "Prohibition" was exceedingly fair, for while she contrasted the state of affairs before the introduction of the O. T. A. with present conditions. Speaking strongly in favor of such an act, she pointed out that everything was not by any means perfect today and that there were a great many things yet to be done to make conditions better.

Mrs. Northwood attributed much of the decrease of drunkenness in the province to educational measures and improvement in public sentiment, and pointed out that the women must use still greater influence along this line in the future.

The paper on Premier Ferguson received more particularly to his family life and his success in his business career, than to his accomplishments in the field of politics. That could be better judged ten years hence, she said. His wife was an ideal helpmeet, and had been of great assistance to him throughout his strenuous campaign. Mrs. Le Tussell pointed out the fact that Judge Emily Murphy of literary fame, was a cousin of the premier.

The program also included very fine vocal numbers by Mrs. C. S. Burns, and brilliant piano selections and readings by Miss Helen Clarke.

Following the meeting tea was served from a table attractively decorated with daffodils, over which Mrs. George Macdonald, the regent of the chapter, and Mrs. Frank Butler, regent of the Seventh Regiment Chapter, presided.

The chapter is arranging a tea and musicale to be held at the home of Mrs. George Leithbridge, Princess avenue, on March 18. The program has been left in the hands of Mr. Leithbridge, while Mrs. Leithbridge, and Mrs. Robertson are joint conveners of the affair.

LONDON LIFE CLUB TO SEW FOR CHILD WELFARE BABIES

Mr. W. E. Saunders gave an interesting talk on bird life last evening at the regular meeting of the London Life Women's Club, held at Dufferin Hall. The lecture, which was greatly enjoyed by the girls, was illustrated by stuffed birds and pictures.

A letter was read from Galt, Ontario, expressing the thanks of the Child Welfare Association for the donation of $603.20, the proceeds of "All Aboard," received from the club. The members decided to make baby clothes for the association, and are also taking care of another needy family.

Plans for a euchre to be held at Dufferin Hall within the next two weeks were made. The affair is to be in charge of the entertainment committee. An interesting visitor was Miss Elizabeth McArthur of Appin, daughter of Peter McArthur.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

THERE is no reason why you should suffer from constipation. Headaches, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation
Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication
Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine
Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

MRS. RUSSELL'S PLAY PRESENTED TOMORROW

London Writer Creates Satirical Drama For Presentation at Players' Craft.

The presentation at Players' Craft tomorrow night of Mrs. Margaret Clarke Russell's clever little satire "The Ladies' Literary League" will mark another interesting step in the creative dramatic work which is being carried on in the city by Miss Topley-Thomas. Miss Topley-Thomas is aiming at encouraging home talent. Some time ago she presented a masque by Miss Beatrice Taylor. And now comes the second production from the pen of a London writer, this time Mrs. Margaret Clarke Russell.

"The Ladies' Literary League" is a witty satire on feminine foibles and is filled with many possibilities for clever comedy. The little play is centered about a certain Lady Drye-Smythe, who undertakes to read a paper on William Shakespeare before the members of the league. Needless to say her paper on Shakespeare is screamingly funny conglomeration of misapplied facts ending up with a Shakespearean sonnet which runs something in this wise: "Half a league, half a league, half a league onward."

The lead role is to be taken by Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson as Lady Drye-Smythe, with the following also members of the cast: Miss Edna Iverson, Miss Ruth Tanner, Miss Leona Kirkwood, Miss Hilda McLean, Miss Ina Thirk and Miss Margaret Griffiths.

The program will also include the singing in costume of an old Dublin street ballad by Miss Rose King and original character studies from students of the dramatic class.

Peter Rabbit Gets Into Mischief in Farmer Brown's Orchard

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter Rabbit was finding this winter quite as hard as any of his neighbors. He was living almost wholly on bark. How he did long for something else.

"I'll grow into a tree," grumbled Peter. "Yes, sir, I'll grow into a tree or a bush if I don't get a change of food pretty soon."

"Stop your grumbling, Peter," commanded little Mrs. Peter. "Shame on you! You ought to be thankful that you can get good bark. You don't have to starve, anyway. You are better off than some of our neighbors." But Peter continued to grumble. There was very little variety in the bark to be found in the dear Old Briar Patch. He felt that if he couldn't get anything but bark he couldn't at least like a change in that. So Peter, in spite of all that Mrs. Peter could say, spent much of his time away from the dear Old Briar Patch. He knew that he was taking greater chances when he was there, but he didn't care. He was willing to take chances for the sake of his stomach.

One night he remembered something he hadn't thought of for a long time. It was Farmer Brown's young orchard. It was a long, long time since Peter had been up in that orchard. This was because the last time he had visited it he had found each young tree protected by wire. He hadn't been able to get so much as a taste of the bark. As there was nothing else to interest him there, he hadn't been back for more than a year.

"I believe I'll run over there," said he. "Yes, sir, I believe I'll run over there. Perhaps that wire has been taken off of those trees. Perhaps there are some new trees without any wire around them. Anyway, it won't cost me anything but a little trouble to have a look."

So Peter went. No sooner did he reach the first tree than he made a great dash for it. The snow was so deep that it came almost to the top of the wire that protected the trunk of that tree. By sitting up he could reach the bark above the top of the wire. He sampled it. It was good. He gnawed that bark just as high as he could reach all the way around that tree. He was doing so well as he could. He didn't know that he was killing that tree, but that is just what he was doing. Yes, sir, Peter Rabbit was in mischief. But he didn't know it.

NIGHTINGALE CLUB.
Miss Margaret Graham, Cartwright street, was the hostess last evening of the regular social meeting of the Nightingale Club. Bridge was played and the prize for the highest score was won by Mrs. E. ## BROUGHDALE CONCERT AT RYERSON SCHOOL

Bradley; readings by Miss Ruth Tanner, and Miss Dorothy Watson; a violin solo by Gordon Guymer and a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey.

HAUSCH VIOLIN RECITAL PROMISED FOR THURSDAY

An outstanding musical event of the month will be the violin recital to be given in St. Andrew's Hall tomorrow night by Gurli Ernestine Hausch of this city, assisted by Madame Gwladys Jones-Morgan, a Welsh soprano of enviable reputation. The playing of Gurli Hausch is well known to London music lovers who have often listened to her with pleasure. Of Madame Jones-Morgan the New York Courier says: "Voice unaffected, sweet and pure. Her clearness of diction was unusually good. A very charming manner." During Lloyd George's recent visit in Toronto, Madame Jones-Morgan was chosen from many artists to sing for him.

Sometimes it seems to me that the world is getting more sensible than it used to be in "my day." People seem to understand some things better.

For instance most any woman knows now that she pays the cost when she has groceries delivered to her door—or other peoples' delivery costs if her store delivers their orders. Of course that's very simple, when you stop to think of it, but a lot of people never used to doubt that the store was kind enough to pay its own delivery costs, instead of adding it to the price of the things they sell.

Not a one of the 300 red fronted delivery charges to the cost of anything you buy there. They never deliver to anybody at all, and you save the money. That's one of the reasons why you notice steady savings when you deal regularly at a Dominion Store.

So mothers go themselves for their groceries nowadays, or send their children. They pay for groceries only at their neighborhood Dominion Store—instead of groceries plus delivery charges.

Even more important is the fact that all the foods on Dominion Store shelves were bought by Dominion experts, in vast quantities, at the lower prices such buying makes possible. These savings are passed on to you, whether you are a housewife thoroughly experienced in marketing or the littlest of children—just big enough to stand on tiptoe and give the friendly man the food list mother sent.
