The Chinese Question.

t is difficult to believe that Sir Joh Macdonald can have any reason, as chief of a political party in Canada, for wishing to continue the uffux of Chinese into British Columbia." Nor can st be that the rail- { to jail as vagrants, and there have them way contractors want more Chinese, for they have already more than they can employ. But somewhere or other there is a strong influence in favor of the Chinese but in England.

It is no secret that English manufactur ers are very anxious to get a market for their goods in China. Also, that the to. Canada has no room for idle paupers. opium trade is worth millions every year to the Indian government. We can see therefore, what very powerful influences there are against any decided action by Canada in the matter.

The dominion government would be well advised to bring all its influence to bear on the home government to have the plague stayed. One main point should be Leader for bringing them on a wild goose nsisted upon-that the railway needs no more Chinese than we have already. To a column long it announced was in town argue that we must keep bringing in more Chinese until the railway is completed will not hold, because all that can be employed on it are there already, with a considerable number in excess of what the contractors want.

Another argument, to be addressed to the home government, should be this: Neither England nor any of her colonie send laborers to China to take work from the natives. Our people, and the Americans as well, send to China merchants and their clerks, who give work to poor Chinamen instead of taking it from them. To pretend that the two cases are parallel is utter nonsense. If a thousand English, Canadian or American laborers were to land in China and take work from the na

ings. Evidently the tiger was there, and he came very near to alipping his chain. It may be that over the border honest, sectable men will actually be scared into the proper performance of their duties When the best men absent themselves from jury duty, and perhaps even use a little corruption to escape being called upon, what wonder that rogues come to the front and assume the duty which honest men have most unwisely, we might at most say criminally, declined ? The American people are getting a lesson. It is that even democracy will not save a country from the assaults of nihilism and the red republic. To the men who run these movements mere political liberty counts for nothing. What they want is plunder and robbery, universal and everywhere.

There are indications, after all, that our neighbors are getting awakened to the danger. The Cincinnati lesson-a very costly one it was-will not be lost. The great republic will not fall-probably not. But if it did, this lesson would be left for future ages: that a large number of its best men had proved themselves its worst citizens.

If immigrants won't work we believe it is the practice of the agents to send them adrift, causing them probably to become burden on the community. The best plan would be to send the worthless vagabonds put to hard labor. Such a procedure would have a most salutary effect, and we strongly recommend it to the agent at Winnipeg, who says he has fifty men in invasion. This influence is not in Canada, his keeping at the local sheds who positively refuse employment at $25 to $30 a month and their board. If such people can work and won't they must simply be made

> April fool jokes are mostly harmless and invariably senseless. One, however, can generally forgive them in spite of a momentary irritation if the inconvenience caused is not too great. It is doubtful if the Ohio democrats will entertain any very friendly relation towards the Cleveland chase to see Mr. Tilden, who in an article Tuesday last and ready to receive his friends. One man traveled a hundred miles to see the sage of Gramercy park and had the journey for his pains.

When the Pacific scandal was the topic of the day the tory press thought to break the force of the revelations by calling it the Pacific slander. In like manner they are now terming the bribery case the grit conspiracy. The mere change of headlines may contain unction in the eyes of Messrs. Bunting, Meek & Co., but it will avail them little either in public or legal judgment.

Over his own signature in another column Mr. F. H. Torrington makes a sugation. He proposes that in erecting the proposed new city buildings provision shall be made for a large hall suitable for high-class concert purposes. Such a hall would be a real boon to the city. At present there is not a single building in Toronto worthy of the entertainment of the world's first-class singers or musicians or in any way adapted for the rendering of oratorios.

The result to be looked for, in permitting art to fall into the hands of this well art to fall into the hands of this well-known member of the "casual advantages" ring, has duly shown itself, the worthy in question having promoted himself to the position of "superintendent of the school of art," and into the enjoyment of the perquisites of his self-claimed office. Into has produced an upnearal in the school, the council of artists naturally re-belling at the management of the institu-tion being taken out of competent hands and assumed by a functionary of the de-partment whose reputation in connection with the now famous book depository is not of the saintliest. The president of the Royal Canadian academy, who is a member of the school of art council, has tendered his resignation, in consequence, it is stated, of the efficiency of the teaching being im-paired, and the interest of the school im-perilled by the injudicious act of the re-presentative of the government on the board. The rest of the faculty, with a single exception, we learn, have joined that gentleman in his protect to the government. We can well understand that the interests of the education office functionary, of

of the education office functionary, of whom the public have heard so much, are not coincident with those of two whom the public nave heard so much, are not coincident with those of true art; and we trust that the autocracy which he is strangely allowed still to exercise in the department may not be long permitted to threaten the usefulness or detract from the success of the Ontario school of art. tives there would be rebellion at once In order to do exact and even-hande justice in the matter this should be agreed upon between China and Great Britain That citizens of either country be allowed to enter the other in the capacity of travelers, scholars, merchants and their assistants, and such like, but that all per sons seeking work and wages be rigidly excluded. We send none of our people to China to take work and bread from pool people in China ; why should China be allowed to send its surplus labor here? The case for Canada and the Australian colonie as overwhelming, but very possibly both Manchester and Calcutta are working against us.

It is something, however, that ou Australian kindred are with us in this large enough to allow the matter. Their influence, along with our own, will tell for a good deal. And it would be welcome news in Canada that our high commissioner in London was working with Australian representatives towards the same end. In the meantime let the representatives of the Pacific province be assured that they have all Ontario at their back, a few cranks only excepted.

The Factory Bill.

The factory bill is dropped for this ses sion, but perhaps the measure is not such a pressing one after all. When factories are running short time the temptation to employ child labor is but small. In Germany where labor is abundant and wages low, laws against the employment of children are deemed unnecessary; the public do not call for them. If ever Canadian factories begin running overtime, then a factory bil will be wanted immediately. Just at present all the work there is is none to much.

The Cincinnati Riot.

There are indications that the recen riot at Cincinnati is likely to mark a turn ing point in American politics. In several cities over the border the existence of the "dangerous classes" in large numbers has been revealed. Already there are, in New York, Boston, Chicago and other places, organized societies meeting regularly every week, and having for their object the over turning of law and the abolition of property. The greater liberty enjoyed this side the Atlantic enables them to do in articles. New York and Chicago what they dare not attempt in Paris or Berlin. In Europe sympathetic juries don't count for much to save murderers from punishment; and the is quietly ignored.

If these papers publish the speeches of their political opponents it is merely in a stinted form, colored as party inclination may wish, and the pub-lic have no means of knowing the arguments pro and con on any particular case as given originally. This in a measure compels eople to read both papers in a vain at-mpt to find the golden mean. It is the same with public meetings for any purpose; if the meeting is adverse to the views held by the daily it is invariably described as being poorly attended, and so on, and vice versa as the case may be. This is not as it should be. Speeches should be truth-fully reported, as well as meetings de-scribed, leaving the public to judge for themselves, and as taught in the leading The same course appears to be pursued on the social questions of the day Let a paper once espouse a cause, and everything favoring that cause appears, while public opinion on the opposite side is quietly ignored.
