CHICAGO, June 22.—A moderate business in whent was transacted. Throughout most of the day the market ruled weak. No new features were presented, and operators are inclined to trade on a small scale for the present. Many sensational rumors were circulated diring the day, but all proved to be without foundation and only affected prices momentarily. The receipts of wheat are falling off rapidly, and only sixty cars are estimated for to-moreow's arrivals.

Corn ruled quiet during the greater part of the session and trading was of a limited character. The market continues easy and is influenced by wheat to a considerable extent.

Moderate speculative demand existed in the market, but there were many sellers. The market however was strengthened by very
