The current rate on call is as high, if not higher than a month ago. The Bank of England having gained a lot more of gold during last week ventured upon a further reduction in the minimum rate of 4 per cent. People naturally jump at once to the conclusion that we are to have easier money here just because it kept along on an even keel while the bank rate abroad was at 6. Neither the banks nor brokers seem to think so, however. They are not offering money at less than 64 to 7 per cent. The general opinion among moneyed institutions is that money will be high for some time to come. The buillion gain of the Bank of England during the fiscal week was £171,000 and the reserve increased £537,000. CHAINE and the reserve increased £557,400.
